NOT TROUBLING DEWEY

A Denial of Hostile Action of Germans, at Manila.

TWO PENNSYLVANIANS WOUNDED.

With the Little Petrel Rebels Were Ordered to Surrender Island of Cebu or Take the Consequences—They Retired, Demonstration of Natives Near Calocan.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—(11:40 a. m.)—Admiral Dewey when asked by the correspondent of the Associated Press to give his reasons for requesting Washington to send the battleship Oregon to Manila, firmly declined to discuss the matter. All was quiet here last night and along the line, except for some desultory firing by the rebels near Calocan and San Pedro Macati.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—No such emergency existed here as was represented by reports circulated in the United States—and cabled back to Manila—to the effect that Admiral Dewey had had a collision of a forcible character with the German naval commander.

According to the advices brought Sunday morning by the steamer Neustra Senora del Carmen, whose arrival brought the news that the American flag had been raised over the island of Cebu, the United States gunboat Petrel, Commander C. Cornwell, visited Cebu on Feb. 22. Commander Cornwell sent an ultimatum ashore, declaring the intention of the Americans to take possession—peaceably if possible, by force if necessary. The rebels immediately vacated, taking their guns to the hills. A party of marines and bluejackets was landed and the American flag was raised by them over the government building, which they still occupied when the Neustra Senora del Carmen left.

A battalion of the Twenty-third regulars left for Cebu Sunday by the United States transport Pennsylvania. The same steamer brought dispatches from Brigadier General Miller at Iloilo to Brigadier General Otis, reporting that all was quiet there, that there had been no further fighting, that confidence had been restored and business was being generally resumed. General Miller thinks it probable the natives will soon be convinced of the error of opposing the inevitable and that the example set by the inhabitant negroes is having its effect among the other islands which, though not entirely convinced, are, in General Miller's opinion, open to reason.

All was quiet Sunday afternoon inside and outside of Manila, except near Calocan, where the enemy's sharpshooters continued to annoy our troops at a comparatively short range. One man of the Twentieth Kansas volunteers was killed in Ariquina village, which was burned Saturday night, and four were wounded in the skirmish, one of the Idaho, one of the Minnesota and two of the Pennsylvania volunteer regiments.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—Saturday night the rebels concentrated in such numbers near the Chinese cemetery that General MacArthur anticipated an attack and asked for reinforcements. Two companies of the Twenty-third regulars were sent to Calocan and a battalion of the Twentieth regulars to the cemetery at about midnight.

But the expected attack was not made, the rebels, after making a great noise with bugle calls and yells of "Viva Independencia," and "Mucho Malo Americanos," and firing volleys, disappearing in the woods.

It was believed their leaders were getting desperate and were attempting to force the United States troops to make an attack, in the hope of breaking through the American lines, but the rebels were evidently unwilling to be sacrificed when facing the Americans. It was just possible, however, that they might be goaded into such a move before reinforcements arrive.

"All was quiet in the city Saturday night. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Major General Otis reported to the war department the following additional casualties to troops under his command:

"MANILA, Feb. 26. "Additional wounded Feb. 24 and 25, in trenches near Calocan:

"Second Oregon, Company G, Corporal William Ponath, chest, severe. Third artillery, Battery H, Privates John W. Corder, thigh, slight; Battery K, Michael J. Crowley, leg, slight. First Idaho, Company F, Private Charles S. Lamb, thigh, severe. Twentieth Kansas, Company D, Privates Larry Jones, head, serious; Campbell Scott, arm, severe. First Montana, Company A, Privates Francis J. Anspach, arm, severe; Albert S. Hicks, lung, severe. Private John Anderson, Company F, First Idaho, injured fractured ankle."

MADRID, Feb. 27.—An official dispatch from Manila says:

"The situation here is very serious. The foreign warships are disembarking troops. General Rios will leave Manila and go to Zamboanga, island of Mindanao."

"The government received a long dispatch from General Rios at Manila, but refused to impart its contents. El Imparcial, which asserted that it was in a position to know the truth of the situation at Manila, said:

"There is constant fighting between the Americans and the Tagalos. The courage and audacity of the latter have caused great anxiety to the Americans, who do not conceal their belief that the war will be a long and desperate one. There is the greatest alarm among foreigners in Manila, and the commanders of the foreign warships have decided to land forces to protect their subjects."

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Telegraph who said he was "authorized to deny that Germany has any intention to interfere in the Philippines," adds:

"Neither has any other power, and the Oregon cannot therefore have been ordered to Manila on this account."

TRIAL OF THE QUAYS.

The Case Expected to Come Up in Philadelphia Today—It's Great Importance.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—There was every indication that United States Senator Quay and his son, Richard R. Quay, would be placed upon trial in the criminal court today to answer the charges of conspiracy and the unlawful use of state moneys. Both sides it was said were anxious to have the trial proceed without further delay. Senator Quay and his son had been in the city and had held consultations with their lawyers, A. S. L. Shields and Rufus E. Shapley. So far as known, former District Attorney Graham, who was active in the early stages of the prosecution, will take part in the trial, which will be conducted for the commonwealth by District Attorney Rothermel, who was elected to that office last November, and his assistants, Finletter and Clement.

The trial will undoubtedly be of unparalleled importance, not only because it presents the unusual spectacle of a United States senator as the chief defendant, but also because on its results largely hinges its political future. It is regarded as extremely unlikely that the long existing deadlock at Harrisburg will be broken in the meantime, and it is conceded that the outcome of the trial will directly influence the question of the senatorial succession.

CEBU LIKELY SURRENDERED.

One of the Most Important Places in the Philippines Probably Secured.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Admiral Dewey cabled the navy department that he had sent the gunboat Petrel from Manila to Cebu. It is the purpose of the admiral to establish the sovereignty of the United States at the capital of the island, which is a populous town of 35,000 inhabitants.

The war department reports say the island of Cebu is the most important province of the Visayas group, its area being 2,000 square miles and its population more than 500,000. Under the Spanish regime the capital was a city of considerable commercial and political importance.

In explanation of Admiral Dewey's report of the sailing of the Petrel General Otis' announcement of the surrender of Cebu to the naval forces which had taken "quiet possession" it appears certain that the Petrel had received the surrender of Cebu.

SOLDIERS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Sternberg Says There Is Little Illness in Our Colonial Forces.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Speaking of reports as to the health of troops in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, Surgeon General Sternberg said they were very favorable. The appearance of smallpox in Cuba had been only slight, all cases had been isolated promptly and no spread of the disease had followed.

All troops had been vaccinated and the army surgeons were vaccinating the natives generally as a precaution. This was the case in both Cuba and Porto Rico, and in the latter island the medical department had established its own vaccine farm with satisfactory results.

While some cases of typhoid fever had been reported the number at no time had given any cause for alarm and nothing suggestive of an epidemic appeared. The chief troubles were due to malarial fever and diarrhoea disorders.

A NATIONAL UNION REFORM PARTY.

Delegates to Meet in Cincinnati This Week to Organize One.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 27.—A national organization of the Union Reform party will be made at a national conference of the amalgamated elements here on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Secretary M. A. Neff of the Ohio committee, says there will be over 1,000 delegates present from the different states, representing Silver Republicans, Populists, Social Labor party, Liberty party and others, especially those favoring direct legislation.

Any person committed to the referendum principle of direct legislation will be admitted to the national conference. There will be a meeting tonight of the national executive committee to select a temporary chairman and make other arrangements for the conference.

Census Bill About Ready.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The conferees on the census bill agreed and will make their report early in the week. Certain features of both senate and house bills will be retained. The census will be nominally under the direction of the secretary of the interior, but all appointments in the census bureau will be made by the director of the census.

CONGRESS' END NEAR.

Covered an Eventful Period in Nation's History.

DECLARED WAR, RATIFIED PEACE.

Annexation of Hawaii, Enactment of a National Bankruptcy Act and Other Notable Legislation Passed—Appropriations Approximate $1,600,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—An eventful period in the country's history is covered by the work of the Fifty-fifth congress, which is drawing to a close.

This congress has declared war against a foreign foe, and the treaty-making branch has participated in ratifying the treaty by which that war was terminated. It has provided a great volunteer army, has enlarged the regular army and has expanded the navy to meet war emergencies and new conditions. The tariff has been revised, first by the Dingley law and then by the war revenue act; a bond issue, known as the war loan, has been provided.

But far-reaching as these war measures are, the congress has had time also to enact other legislation which, under ordinary circumstances, would make its session memorable. This includes the annexation of Hawaii, the rejection by the senate of the general treaty of arbitration with Great Britain, the enactment of a national bankruptcy law, provision for taking the twelfth census, reorganization of the personnel of the navy. To this list may yet be added other important subjects still pending.

including the Nicaragua canal, the increase of the regular army, the anti-scalping measure, the Hawaiian bill and the proposed encouragement of American shipping. Some of the most important general measures are in the final legislative stages, and it will not be until the last hours arrive that the success or failure of those measures will be determined definitely.

The general legislation of the session, which has advanced to its final stages and has become law, includes the following: An act to extend the laws relating to American seamen, for the protection of such seamen and to promote commerce; an act concerning sail vessels of over 700 tons; providing for a national exposition of American products and manufactures at Philadelphia for the encouragement of the export trade; granting extra pay to officers and enlisted men of United States volunteers; providing additional circuit judges in the Fifth and Sixth judicial circuits; amending the act governing the immediate transportation of dutiable goods without appraisement; adjusting the clothing account for deceased soldiers in certain cases; allowing voting machines in elections for representatives in congress; removing the remains of General John A. Rawlins to Arlington National cemetery; admitting to West Point and Annapolis certain persons designated by the governments of Venezuela, Costa Rica and Colombia; also the bill establishing a national military park to commemorate the campaign, siege and defense of Vicksburg.

The total appropriations of the present session will approximate $700,000,000, of which about $250,000,000 will be for the military and naval uses or for subjects connected with the war. This is a general estimate, however, based upon totals which may undergo some change, as very few of the large appropriation bills have become law, and some of them have not even been considered. If the Nicaragua canal amendment is added to the river and harbor bill, it being so reported to the senate, this will make a material increase. Included in the naval bill are provisions for three seagoing battleships, three armored cruisers and six small cruisers, for which $10,000,000 is to be appropriated for the first year's work.

Based on estimates, the total appropriations for the congress (not including the four appropriation bills left over by the former congress) would be approximately $1,600,000,000, of which amount approximately $600,000,000 is for war expenses or incident to the army and navy.

JUDGSHIP FOR DAY.

President Sends Ex-Secretary's Nomination to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The president sent these nominations to the senate: William B. Day of Ohio, to be United States circuit judge for the Sixth judicial circuit; Jeremiah J. McCarthy, surveyor of customs, Boston and Charlestown district, Massachusetts; S. Stillman Blanchard, appraiser of merchandise in the district of Boston and Charlestown, Massachusetts.

Also a number of promotions in the army of the United States.

Jesse James, Jr., in Tight Place.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27.—The most positive identification of Jesse James, Jr., as one of the Leeds train robbers was made in the courtroom by William J. Smith of Stokesberry, Mo., who was a passenger on the Missouri Pacific train the night it was held up. He pointed out Jesse James as the man who placed a gun against his breast and ordered him back into a car.

FRAN K PEARS' MURDER.

Minister Hunter to Take Personal Charge of the Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—United States Minister to Honduras Godfrey Hunter will start on his return to his post next week, and it is understood that he will take personal charge of the investigation of the killing of Frank Pears of Pittsburg in that country on Feb. 1. Before he left that country Minister Hunter had a gunboat sent there to assist in the investigation. From information received by Minister Hunter and the state department it seems that the killing of Mr. Pears was one of those unfortunate affairs that so often happen in Central and South American countries.

Martial law had been proclaimed in that section of Honduras where Mr. Pears was, and on the day in question he was challenged in Spanish by a sentry and not understanding the language did not give proper answer and was shot down. It is probable that the commander who gave these orders will be removed from his office and that the country will be compelled to pay a round sum of money as damages for the killing.

ABOUT 2,000,000 NEED FOOD.

Americans Made an Appeal For Destitute Chinese.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The American residents of Chee Foo, China, sent an appeal to the San Francisco chamber of commerce, requesting that a shipload of corn be sent for the relief of 2,000,000 Chinese in Shang Tung province.

The unprecedented floods of the Yellow river destroyed crops and the immense population along the great river were on the verge of starvation.

The appeal, which was signed by John Fowler, Hunter Corbett, W. O. Elterich, George Cornwall and C. B. Downing, said the people of Shang Tung subsist upon corn, and continues: "We believe that if your grain men will ship to the United States consul in Chee Foo direct from the Pacific slope a steamer loaded with corn it will be the means, not only of saving thousands of lives, but also of opening up a market of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 consumers later on."

The chamber will act at its next meeting.

CONTEMPT WAS CHARGED.

Attorney General Monnett Brought Suit Against Squire.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—Attorney General Monnett brought contempt proceedings against F. B. Squire of Cleveland, secretary of the Standard Oil company. The petition asked that Secretary Squire be declared in contempt of the supreme court because of his refusal to produce the books of the Standard Oil company.

The order under which the attorney general sought to obtain the books was issued by the supreme court Dec. 6.

Under the advice of the company's attorneys, Secretary Squire refused to produce before Master Commissioner Brinsmade, at the hearing in Cleveland Feb. 17, the books which are said to set forth the Standard's business relations with the constituent companies.

Rev. Charles H. Lincoln Died.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 27.—Rev. Charles H. Lincoln died at his residence, 333 Sixth avenue, at 6:15 p. m. yesterday. He had suffered nine weeks from nervous prostration, following an attack of grip. In January, 1894, he inaugurated a meeting in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Wylie avenue and Congress street, and was called to the pastorate, which he assumed, and labored there with marked success for more than a year. Difficulties arose in the church during which much injustice, it is believed, was done the pastor, resulting in his again entering the business world.

Major General Reynolds Dead.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Major General Joseph A. Reynolds, United States army, retired, is dead, aged 77 years. About a month ago General Reynolds had an attack of paralysis, which culminated in a cerebral hemorrhage, causing death. The remains will be interred at Arlington Tuesday or Wednesday.

KIPLING NEAR DEATH.

Doctors Admitted His Condition Was Critical.

NOVELIST UNCONSCIOUS AND LOW.

Physicians Were Using Oxygen, a Necessity When the Disease Was at a Critical Stage—Howells Was Admitted to the Sick Room.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—There was a general impression about the Hotel Grenoble at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon that Mr. Kipling's condition was worse than at any time since he became ill. Dr. Janeway arrived sooner than was expected and it looked as if there had been a sudden change for the worse and that the physician had been called. He remained in the hotel for awhile and then left, returning in about half an hour. Almost at the same time an oxygen tank was brought to the hotel and taken up to the Kipling apartments on the first floor. That the oxygen was to be administered was practically admitted by Dr. Janeway. This is heroic treatment and is resorted to only in extreme cases. Both Dr. Janeway and Dr. Dunham were with Mr. Kipling alternately through Saturday night and both were in attendance on him early in the morning.

Dr. Janeway, Jr., son of Dr. E. G. Janeway, was also called in consultation concerning the critical condition of Mr. Kipling.

Dr. Dunham came from the sick chamber soon after 11 o'clock. His wife is a sister of Mrs. Kipling.

"Is Mr. Kipling suffering from pneumonia?" Dr. Dunham was asked.

"We will call it inflammation of the lungs," he replied.

"If he gets through today will he be safer?"

"If he gets through today he will be much nearer to safety," said Dr. Dunham.

It was learned from other sources that Kipling was extremely weak. At times he recognized those around him. Those at the bedside were Dr. Dunham, Mrs. Kipling, her mother, Mrs. Balestier, Mr. Doubleday, the children and two nurses.

Some of the callers were admitted Sunday morning to the sick chamber. Among those favored few were W. D. Howells, Nikola Tesla, S. S. McClure and Charles Battell Loomis.

The following bulletin was issued at 7 o'clock last night:

"Mr. Kipling's condition has been very serious during this, the sixth day of the disease, giving rise to the gravest apprehension for the outcome.

"E. G. JANEWAY,
"THEO. DUNHAM."

At that hour the physicians were making almost constant use of oxygen. Their demeanor indicated a most critical stage of the disease. Mr. Kipling was delirious as the above bulletin was issued.

Neither Dr. Janeway nor Dr. Dunham would say a word. In fact, neither ventured from the patient's side for more than a short time.

At 10:20 o'clock last night, the following bulletin was issued:

"Mr. Kipling's condition remains the same as at last report.
(Signed) "G. JANEWAY,
"THEODORE DUNHAM."

It was said at that hour that Mr. Kipling was very low and unconscious. At 3 o'clock this morning Kipling was said to be dying.

MAY SUSPEND WORK MAY 1.

Ohio Miners and Operators Adjourned Without Reaching an Agreement.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—The conference of the Ohio miners and operators adjourned without an agreement being reached, and the prospects are that there will be a suspension of work in the Ohio mines on April 1.

The Ohio miners are bound by the Pittsburg agreement to accept no price under that fixed by the Chicago agreement, which makes the run-of-mine rate in Ohio 47 1-7 cents per ton, the rate insisted upon by the operators being 42 2-3 cents per ton.

When the operators' proposition was rejected, they proposed to submit the matter to arbitration, but this also was declined by the miners, and further negotiations were abandoned.

BURKE ALSO FOUND GUILTY.

Cleveland Circuit Court Decides Charges Against Ohio State Senator Were True.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—State Senator Vernon H. Burke was found guilty in the circuit court of the first specification in the charges brought against him.

Judge Caldwell read the findings of the court. "As the evidence now stands before this court," he said, "we find that Judge Dellenbaugh and Vernon H. Burke were jointly the attorneys of Nettie A. Manning during the acts complained of in the first specification. We previously found that Judge Dellenbaugh did receive $1,100, one-third of the fees paid in the Manning case, and that the weight of the evidence showed that Dellenbaugh participated in the management of the Manning case up to the time of the division of the fees."

Based on estimates, the total appropriations for the congress (not including the four appropriation bills left over by the former congress) would be approximately $1,600,000,000, of which amount approximately $600,000,000 is for war expenses or incident to the army and navy.

JUDGSHIP FOR DAY.

President Sends Ex-Secretary's Nomination to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The president sent these nominations to the senate: William B. Day of Ohio, to be United States circuit judge for the Sixth judicial circuit; Jeremiah J. McCarthy, surveyor of customs, Boston and Charlestown district, Massachusetts; S. Stillman Blanchard, appraiser of merchandise in the district of Boston and Charlestown, Massachusetts.

Also a number of promotions in the army of the United States.

Jesse James, Jr., in Tight Place.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27.—The most positive identification of Jesse James, Jr., as one of the Leeds train robbers was made in the courtroom by William J. Smith of Stokesberry, Mo., who was a passenger on the Missouri Pacific train the night it was held up. He pointed out Jesse James as the man who placed a gun against his breast and ordered him back into a car.

FRAN K PEARS' MURDER.

Minister Hunter to Take Personal Charge of the Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—United States Minister to Honduras Godfrey Hunter will start on his return to his post next week, and it is understood that he will take personal charge of the investigation of the killing of Frank Pears of Pittsburgh in that country on Feb. 1. Before he left that country Minister Hunter had a gunboat sent there to assist in the investigation. From information received by Minister Hunter and the state department it seems that the killing of Mr. Pears was one of those unfortunate affairs that so often happen in Central and South American countries.

Martial law had been proclaimed in that section of Honduras where Mr. Pears was, and on the day in question he was challenged in Spanish by a sentry and not understanding the language did not give proper answer and was shot down. It is probable that the commander who gave these orders will be removed from his office and that the country will be compelled to pay a round sum of money as damages for the killing.

ABOUT 2,000,000 NEED FOOD.

Americans Made an Appeal For Destitute Chinese.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The American residents of Chee Foo, China, sent an appeal to the San Francisco chamber of commerce, requesting that a shipload of corn be sent for the relief of 2,000,000 Chinese in Shang Tung province.

The unprecedented floods of the Yellow river destroyed crops and the immense population along the great river were on the verge of starvation.

The appeal, which was signed by John Fowler, Hunter Corbett, W. O. Elterich, George Cornwall and C. B. Downing, said the people of Shang Tung subsist upon corn, and continues:

"We believe that if your grain men will ship to the United States consul in Chee Foo direct from the Pacific slope a steamer loaded with corn it will be the means, not only of saving thousands of lives, but also of opening up a market of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 consumers later on."

The chamber will act at its next meeting.

CONTEMPT WAS CHARGED.

Attorney General Monnett Brought Suit Against Squire.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—Attorney General Monnett brought contempt proceedings against F. B. Squire of Cleveland, secretary of the Standard Oil company.

The petition asked that Secretary Squire be declared in contempt of the supreme court because of his refusal to produce the books of the Standard Oil company.

The order under which the attorney general sought to obtain the books was issued by the supreme court Dec. 6.

Under the advice of the company's attorneys, Secretary Squire refused to produce before Master Commissioner Brinsmade, at the hearing in Cleveland Feb. 17, the books which are said to set forth the Standard's business relations with the constituent companies.

Rev. Charles H. Lincoln Died.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 27.—Rev. Charles H. Lincoln died at his residence, 333 Sixth avenue, at 6:15 p. m. yesterday. He had suffered nine weeks from nervous prostration, following an attack of grip. In January, 1894, he inaugurated a meeting in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Wylie avenue and Congress street, and was called to the pastorate, which he assumed, and labored there with marked success for more than a year. Difficulties arose in the church during which much injustice, it is believed, was done the pastor, resulting in his again entering the business world.

Major General Reynolds Dead.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Major General Joseph A. Reynolds, United States army, retired, is dead, aged 77 years. About a month ago General Reynolds had an attack of paralysis, which culminated in a cerebral hemorrhage, causing death. The remains will be interred at Arlington Tuesday or Wednesday.

KIPLING NEAR DEATH.

Doctors Admitted His Condition Was Critical.

NOVELIST UNCONSCIOUS AND LOW.

Physicians Were Using Oxygen, a Necessity When the Disease Was at a Critical Stage—Howells Was Admitted to the Sick Room.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—There was a general impression about the Hotel Grenoble at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon that Mr. Kipling's condition was worse than at any time since he became ill. Dr. Janeway arrived sooner than was expected and it looked as if there had been a sudden change for the worse and that the physician had been called. He remained in the hotel for awhile and then left, returning in about half an hour. Almost at the same time an oxygen tank was brought to the hotel and taken up to the Kipling apartments on the first floor. That the oxygen was to be administered was practically admitted by Dr. Janeway. This is heroic treatment and is resorted to only in extreme cases. Both Dr. Janeway and Dr. Dunham were with Mr. Kipling alternately through Saturday night and both were in attendance on him early in the morning.

Dr. Janeway, Jr., son of Dr. E. G. Janeway, was also called in consultation concerning the critical condition of Mr. Kipling.

Dr. Dunham came from the sick chamber soon after 11 o'clock. His wife is a sister of Mrs. Kipling.

"Is Mr. Kipling suffering from pneumonia?" Dr. Dunham was asked.

"We will call it inflammation of the lungs," he replied.

"If he gets through today will he be safe?"

"If he gets through today he will be much nearer to safety," said Dr. Dunham.

It was learned from other sources that Kipling was extremely weak. At times he recognized those around him. Those at the bedside were Dr. Dunham, Mrs. Kipling, her mother, Mrs. Balestier, Mr. Doubleday, the children and two nurses.

Some of the callers were admitted Sunday morning to the sick chamber. Among these favored few were W. D. Howells, Nikola Tesla, S. S. McClure and Charles Bartlett Loomis.

The following bulletin was issued at 7 o'clock last night:

"Mr. Kipling's condition has been very serious during this, the sixth day of the disease, giving rise to the gravest apprehension for the outcome."

"E. G. JANEWAY,"

"THEODORE DUNHAM."

At that hour the physicians were making almost constant use of oxygen. Their demeanor indicated a most critical stage of the disease. Mr. Kipling was delicious as the above bulletin was issued.

Neither Dr. Janeway nor Dr. Dunham would say a word. In fact, neither ventured from the patient's side for more than a short time.

At 10:30 o'clock last night, the following bulletin was issued:

(Signed) "G. JANEWAY,"

"THEODORE DUNHAM."

It was said at that hour that Mr. Kipling was very low and unconscious.

At 3 o'clock this morning Kipling was said to be dying.

Ohio Miners and Operators Adjourned Without Reaching an Agreement.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—The conference of the Ohio miners and operators adjourned without an agreement being reached, and the prospects are that there will be a suspension of work in the Ohio mines on April 1.

The Ohio miners are bound by the Pittsburg agreement to accept no price under that fixed by the Chicago agreement, which makes the run-of-mine rate in Ohio 47 1-7 cents per ton, the rate insisted upon by the operators being 42 2-3 cents per ton.

When the operators' proposition was rejected, they proposed to submit the matter to arbitration, but this also was declined by the miners, and further negotiations were abandoned.

BURKE ALSO FOUND GUILTY.

Cleveland Circuit Court Decides Charges Against Ohio State Senator Were True.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—State Senator Vernon H. Burke was found guilty in the circuit court of the first specification in the charges brought against him.

Judge Caldwell read the findings of the court. "As the evidence now stands before this court," he said, "we find that Judge Dellenbaugh and Vernon H. Burke were jointly the attorneys of Nettie A. Manning during the acts complained of in the first specification. We previously found that Judge Dellenbaugh did receive $1,100, one-third of the fees paid in the Manning case, and that the weight of the evidence showed that Dellenbaugh participated in the management of the Manning case up to the time of the division of the fees."

THE EAST END.

NO MORE IN THE BOARD

Will the Voice of Henry Chambers Be Raised,

FOR HE IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Street Railway Company Paid For a Dead Horse—Money Collected For Church. Cinders Being Placed on Walks and Improvement Needed.

Henry Chambers, who has served as a member of the board of health from this part of the city for a number of years, will not be a candidate again. This action will be a surprise to many friends of Mr. Chambers, who were firm in the belief that he would serve another term. Mr. Chambers was seen by a reporter and said:

"I have served on the board long enough and I think some one else should be given a chance to try to benefit the health of the city. My relations with the board have been very pleasant, and while meetings have not been held as regularly as they might have been, many have been productive of good results."

Scattering Cinders.

A large amount of cinders are now being scattered about the streets of this part of the city, and in many instances the result has been beneficial.

At the corner of St. George and Chestnut streets cinders have been placed at each side of the roadway making it almost impossible for pedestrians to cross. Residents of that section have protested vigorously against the action, and it is thought the crossing will be finished within a short time.

Dedicatory Sermon.

Rev. J. R. Greene Saturday received word from Rev. H. C. Swearingen, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, stating he would be in the city on March 9, and would deliver the dedicatory sermon in the Second United Presbyterian church. It was expected Rev. Dr. Meliken, of Sewickley, would preach on March 8, but he found it to be impossible. Rev. R. L. Hoy, of New Brighton, will speak on the evening of March 17.

Waiting on Weather.

Work upon the upper road leading into Pennsylvania avenue at the school house will be commenced when the weather permits.

Mr. Welch, who has charge of the work, stated to a reporter last evening that not less than five weeks' time would be required to complete the road after the work was thoroughly started. The road will be 60 feet wide and there is sufficient money now in the old appropriation to pay for it.

Distributed Groceries.

What might have been a serious accident occurred in Helana Saturday afternoon. A horse attached to a wagon owned by W. A. Finley and driven by John Finley, became frightened and ran off. The wagon contained a lot of groceries and during the flight of the horse the contents were scattered about the road. The wagon was slightly damaged, but the horse was uninjured.

Failed to Materialize.

The motormen held their regular monthly meeting in their hall Saturday night. It was largely attended, but nothing but routine business was transacted. It was said Saturday afternoon that it was probable an important question would be presented for discussion, but it failed to materialize. The next meeting will be held March 24.

Good Results.

The services at the Episcopal mission yesterday afternoon was well attended. It is said the mission will be a permanent feature of the church in the city, and as long as it is attended by a sufficient number of people it will receive the support of St. Stephen's church. So far the venture has been all that could be asked.

Mrs. Bell Recovering.

Mrs. John Bell, who fell while hanging a curtain in her home last Wednesday, is improving rapidly. Her injuries were not serious.

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Goodballet, of Helana, is seriously ill, suffering with pneumonia.

Settled the Claim.

The street railway company Saturday settled the claim of George Anderson. It will be remembered that a car of the company struck and killed a horse owned by Mr. Anderson two weeks ago last Saturday and seriously injured the rider, William Lewellen.

Have Some Money.

The building fund of the Second U. P. church has reached the $5,500 mark. The church cost $6,500. It is said that a portion of the amount will be collected before the church is dedicated, and possibly all of it.

RIVER FALLING

Sunday Boats Had Unusually Big Cargoes.

The marks at the wharf this morning registered 12 feet and falling.

The Keystone State, Kanawha and Ben Hur passed up yesterday, and all had as much freight on board as it was possible to carry. The Keystone had a large cargo of nails.

The Ben Hur and Keystone State will be down tonight and the Kanawha will be down tomorrow night. The Queen City will be up tomorrow afternoon.

Business at the wharf is increasing, and much freight is now being handled.

SCREEN ORDINANCE

Will Come Up For Its Second Reading Tomorrow.

The ordinance prohibiting the saloonkeepers from putting screens at their windows at any time on Sunday will be up on its second reading at the meeting of council tomorrow evening.

It is probable no attempt will be made to pass it under a suspension of rules, but when it reaches its third reading the ordinance will probably pass without much opposition.

MRS. HUTCHISON'S FUNERAL.

Services Were Held at the Methodist Protestant Church.

The funeral of Mrs. W. E. Hutchison, nee Miss Fanchon E. Bennett, took place yesterday afternoon from the Methodist Protestant church, and was very largely attended. The funeral address was made by Rev. R. B. Whitehead, and Rev. C. F. Swift delivered a few remarks. The music was very beautiful. The remains were interred in Riverview cemetery.

MASHED HIS HAND.

John Short Suffered an Accident at the McNicol Pottery.

John Short, who is employed as packer at the D. E. McNicol pottery, met with a painful accident. He had his right hand caught between a cask and a post, mashing it very severely. The injury was dressed by a physician, but it will be several days before Mr. Short is again able to be at work.

The Daniel R. Ryan company will present "Thou Shalt Not" for the first time in East Liverpool at the Grand Opera House tonight. The play belongs to a romantic melo-dramatic school and is certainly one of the very best of its class. The character of Jack Diamond is said to be Mr. Ryan's happiest characterization, and Miss Fuller will be seen to advantage as Annie Dennison. The Ryan company have never given an unsatisfactory performance and they deserve the success they are achieving.

THE CRUSHING OF COPRA

The Philippines May Furnish a New Industrial Opening.

EXTRACTING OIL FROM COCOANUTS

Possible Transfer to the United States of an Industry Now Carried on Almost Exclusively in France. Raw Product Comes From Philippine Islands.

Robert P. Skinner, the United States consul at Marseilles, France, makes the following report:

"The occupation of the Philippine Islands by the United States suggests the possibility of a transfer to the United States of an industry which is now almost exclusively confined to the city of Marseilles. The crushing of oleaginous seeds and cocoanuts for the extraction of the oil they contain has for many years given employment to hundreds of women, and the skillful use of blended oils in the manufacture of soap gave to this city its worldwide reputation for the latter. In more recent times the American cottonseed oil has to a large extent replaced the copra or cocoanut oil, at the same time severely crippling the seed crushing business. A soap manufacturer advises me that the cotton oil cannot, however, entirely supplant the cocoanut oil, as the former, if used alone, produces a soap too soft to be acceptable to commerce, and the latter, if unmixed with cotton or peanut oil, makes a soap as much too hard. I am informed that a mixture of about half and half produces the best results, and that the failure of Marseilles manufacturers to maintain these proportions has been followed by a distinct falling off in the quality of some famous brands of Marseilles soaps.

"The copra or cocoanuts crushed in Marseilles come almost exclusively from the Philippine Islands. In the year 1897 the imports amounted to 686,120 metric quintals, (1 quintal equals 220.46 pounds), in addition to which 31,910 metric quintals were imported from the French colonies. The highest price paid at Marseilles during 1897 was $6.94 and the lowest $5.31. The nuts fall from the trees and lie on the ground until the hard shell separates from the kernel and decays. The kernel appears to lose none of its useful qualities, though permitted to remain on the ground for a year or more. When a favorable opportunity occurs, the copra is gathered, dumped into some small coasting boat and eventually reaches Marseilles. At the present time the price is uncertain and almost double the average figure because of a complete suspension of arrivals from Manila. On Jan. 11 the total stock of copra in the docks and warehouses was only 1,530 quintals, and the fear now prevails that the troubles among the natives will prevent the shipment of any considerable quantity for some time to come.

TAGALS AND VISAYAS.

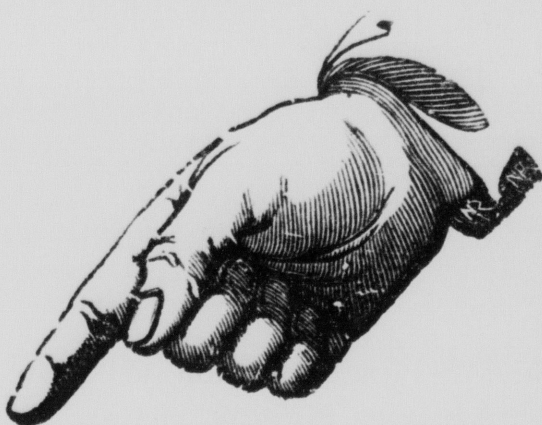

Two Important Tribes of the Inhabitants of the Philippines.

Only a small part of the 8,000,000 inhabitants of the Philippines rebelled against the rule of Spain, and a still smaller part is now opposing our army. The portions of the archipelago inhabited by the Tagals and the Visayas are by far the most important of the ten groups into which the islands are divided. Aguinaldo and his coterie have large influence over a great many of the Tagals, but whether his party is able to control the whole of their people has not yet appeared. At any rate we have no reason as yet to suppose that our army is opposed by any of the Philippine peoples except the Tagals.

The Tagals number about 1,500,000 people. Their domain comprises all the central parts of Luzon, on which Manila stands, and they have been slowly encroaching upon the other populations of the island. They have also gained the upper hand in the neighboring islands of Mindoro and Marinduque. They are met everywhere along the seaboard of these islands. Most of the native population of Manila is Tagal, and the most civilized factor among the islanders is the Tagal people.

The Visayas, however, are still more numerous, comprising about 2,500,000 people, and they occupy a larger area of the islands. They have given their name to the central group of islands, and Iloilo and Zebu, the two largest ports after Manila, are in their territory. They have also occupied the northeastern part of the great southern island of Mindanao. The missionary work of the Spanish clergy has been chiefly among these two peoples, and as they have come into relations with the foreign traders and the enterprising Chinese, who are a large factor in the business, particularly of Luzon, they have made greater advance in civilization than the other half of the natives.

REGIMENT TO BE MUSTERED OUT

Now the Boys Are Spending Their Last Days as Volunteers in Camp McKenzie, Ga.—Minnesota Soldiers Wanted Revenge For the Death of a Comrade.

CAMP MCKENZIE, AUGUSTA, GA., Feb. 24.—After a season of the coldest weather the people of this part of the country probably ever knew, the sun has come again, and there is much joy in consequence. The cold was intense while it lasted, although, like many other disagreeable things, the average soldier began to take it as a matter of course. The good news has come at last. Orders were received during the week for the muster out of the Eighth and Thirteenth Pennsylvania and the First Maryland. March 4 was the date set for the important ceremony for the Thirteenth, but the books and accounts of some companies were not in proper condition, and the time was changed to March 11. The troops will all be discharged from service here, and provided with transportation money to place of enlistment. They can go home as they please.

Drills have been abolished, and nothing but a little monotonous guard duty occupies our time. A division review early in the week gave the boys one more good taste of the glories of military life and brought a great crowd of people from Augusta to see the soldiers parade.

In spite of the air of gladness which seems to make its presence felt everywhere we have had our share of excitement recently. It all came about by the shooting of a member of the Fifteenth Minnesota. He was instantly killed by a citizen. The act enraged his comrades, among whom he was popular, and many soldiers of the regiment decided to take the matter in their own hands. Breaking into the commissary they secured ammunition and took up the march to the city, seeking revenge. They were not far from the town when they were halted by the cavalry and provost marshal's guard, and an end speedily put to the trouble. The leaders were promptly put under arrest, and General Sumner announced that their punishment would be severe. The remainder were returned to camp, and for several days no soldier was permitted outside the guard line except on detail. It was an exciting episode, and gave a topic for general discussion.

Sickness in camp continues an annoyance, but there is not much of it now. The principal thing which seems to trouble the boys is the fact that they cannot be mustered out sooner.

FOR COUNCIL.

A Number of Well Known Men Were Announced This Morning.

A number of candidates for council are announced today, among them being some names that will surprise the public.

F. M. Albright, of the French China company, is the first for the First ward, while Willard Morris, who was a candidate for the same position two years ago, is also announced.

Thomas S. Collins is a candidate from the Third ward.

In the Fourth ward the name of William Cuthbert is given as a positive candidate, and the friends of John Stamm, of the Union pottery, are endeavoring to have him make the race.

FOUR HUNDRED

Will Be Added to the City's Population by Extension.

The extension of the corporate limits which was decided upon Saturday by the county commissioners will add almost 400 people to the population of the city.

The councilmen are well satisfied with the decision of the commissioners as they will now have a chance when the roads are improved to assess a portion of the cost against the property owners.

Corner Loading.

The nice weather Saturday caused a great many people to be on the streets and the Diamond was thronged at all times. Corner loading was most conspicuous and at several places it was almost impossible to get through the crowd.

MARRIED IN DENVER

Miss Belle Azdell Is Now Mrs. F. E. Marshall.

Friends in this city have received the announcement that Miss Belle Azdell was on Feb. 21 married to F. E. Marshall at Denver, Colorado. They will be at home after March 15 at 3054 West Twenty-Ninth avenue.

Miss Azdell is well known in this city where she resided a number of years, and Mr. Marshall is a prosperous coal dealer of Denver.

WALL TORN DOWN.

Frost Caused Trouble at the Salem Pottery.

The Salem Herald of Saturday says: "This morning the brick wall on the south side of the new pottery was found to be out of plumb and it was necessary to tear it down. The cold weather had some effect on it undoubtedly. The work was only finished to the first story and it will not take much time to rebuild the part torn down. The wall on the east side of the building is in good shape."

Gunners' Patron Saint.

Why was St. Barbara chosen to be the patron saintess of all gunners? It is one of those things which are to be known and which one ought to know, but does not. Meanwhile there is the fact that she does intercede for all gunners by land or sea. In the old French navy the Ste. Barbe was the gun-room, and the name may be found with that meaning attached to it in all dictionaries. Moreover, in France she is the saint not only of gunners, but of all fire brigades. The sapeurs pompiers, who, for some mysterious reason, are a regular chopping block for jokes, hold their holiday on the day of her feast.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Horticulture Versus Theology.

Small Johnny had on his best clothes, and his mamma told him not to play in the dirt with them on.

"Don't they have any dirt in heaven to play in?" he asked.

"No, of course not," replied his mother.

"Then what do little boys do up there?" queried Johnny.

"Oh, they play harps and sing and sit under beautiful trees," was the reply.

"Well," said the little fellow, "I don't see how they can have trees if there ain't no dirt."—Houston Post.

We have too many children's shoes and want you to help us to get rid of them. Will make it pay you.

BENDHEIM'S.

For State Representative.

H. D. Cope, of Rogers, was in the city Saturday calling on a number of friends. Mr. Cope is a candidate for representative at the Republican primaries, and being well known throughout the county will doubtless poll a large vote. Mr. Cope is well known in this city.

New Process For Oxidizing Vegetable Oils Said to Be Successful.

A new industry which has just been established upon an apparently firm basis in England uses for its raw material linseed oil or any of the other vegetable oils of similar properties. It promises to become of wide importance because its products partake of many of the qualities of india rubber and gutta percha, the supplies of which show a constant tendency to fall below the growing demands. That oils of this sort have in them qualities of high usefulness was discovered ages ago, when they were first used for paints, and the new industry takes advantage of the same quality of hardening by oxidation.

Linseed oil has been used for paints and varnishes for generations. It is well known that when the oil is spread out in a thin layer exposed to the air it absorbs oxygen and becomes very hard. When the oil is left in bulk exposed to the air, it gradually becomes "fatty," as it is called technically, or of a gummy consistency. Exposures of different periods will give any grade of hardness between these two. Other vegetable oils act in the same way, and many attempts have been made to take commercial advantage of these qualities. Some, like the manufacture of oilcloths and linoleum, have been very successful. The difficulty experienced heretofore in attempting to use the oxidized oils for other purposes has been the fact that it was mechanically impossible to accomplish the perfect and graded combination of the oxygen with the oil, as might be needed for the different purposes.

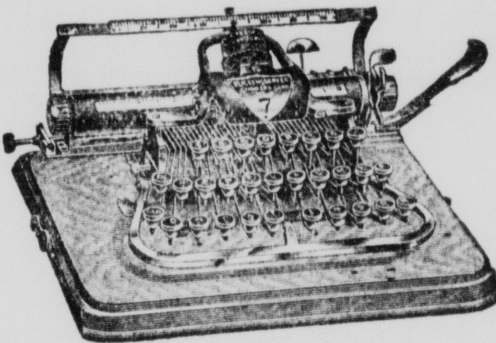

The general method adopted was to allow the oil to drip from the top to the bottom of a wide, suspended sheet of scrim, an open meshed textile fabric, while a current of air was driven upon it. By this method the surface of the oil was solidified, but the action did not extend all through it, and there was therefore a portion of unaffected oil held within, which was fatal to many of the uses which it was known might be made of a more perfect product.

Mr. Charles Grist of England has perfected a system by which it is asserted that this trouble is entirely overcome, and a large factory has been built where many articles are manufactured from the oils solidified by his process.

BATTLE BETWEEN ANTS.

One Army Invades a School to Attack Another Living in the Walls.

A missionary who is in charge of the Catholic school at Mpala, on Lake Tanganyika, Africa, tells of an extraordinary battle between ants in his schoolroom, which the pupils and their teacher were compelled to abandon in haste when the invading foe appeared on the scene. The deserted room became the theater of a hotly contested battle between ants that had homes in the cracks of the stone walls and another species which advanced to the fight from the fields. quantity of letting human beings alone, little attention is paid to them. The invading ants were not more than a third as large as the other species. They are called siafou and are nomads and thieves by nature. When they discovered the home of the peaceful black insects they felt certain that a rich booty of larvae awaited them and lost no time in advancing to the attack.

Their squadrons moved forward in close files. They clambered up the door steps and into the room, moving very rapidly and began the fiercest sort of an attack upon the enemy, whom they surprised at home engaged in their peaceful occupations. Though the masumbolo are so much larger than their fierce little enemies, they could not stand against these formidable aggressors, who are most effectively armed with the sharpest and hottest of pinchers. So the attacked insects made scarcely any resistance, but gathered up as much of their larvae as they could carry and fled at the top of their speed. They fairly carpeted the floor as they moved toward the doors, while their conquerors lost no time in further attack upon the unresisting fugitives, but began to pillage the city that had been so suddenly abandoned.

A few minutes later, however, the siafou paid very dearly for the raid they had made. Dozens of the school children applied wisps of burning straw to the cracks which the conquering ants had entered and burned them at the very place of their victory.

Anglo-American Dowries.

According to an estimate that has been made of the Anglo-American marriages during the past few years no fewer than 152 American women have married European noblemen. High Prices in the Klondike.
According to a letter sent to a close friend by Manuel Freney, who left his home in Philadelphia last fall for the Klondike, says The Press, they know how to charge for things in that way below zero land. A prospector is charged $10 for a miner's license, which entitles him to cut timber in his immediate vicinity, and then he receives a bill of $20 from the timber agent when he exercises the prerogative of his license. The government, furthermore, compels each miner to pay a tribute of 10 per cent on all gold taken out in a season amounting to more than $500. Fifteen dollars must be paid to a recorder of claims. Each letter sent the Klondiker costs him $2. Cigars, of doubtful quality, range in price from 25 to 50 cents each, 10 cigarettes cost 50 cents, and smoking tobacco brings $4 a pound. A like amount of chewing tobacco in only 50 cents less, while a small window net its seller $20, and a Seattle newspaper, no matter what the date, can't be purchased for less than $2 per copy.

NOT TROUBLING DEWEY

A Denial of Hostile Action of Germans, at Manila.

TWO PENNSYLVANIANS WOUNDED.

With the Little Petrel Rebels Were Ordered to Surrender Island of Cebu or Take the Consequences—They Retired. Demonstration of Natives Near Caloocan.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—(11:40 a. m.)—Admiral Dewey when asked by the correspondent of the Associated Press to give his reasons for requesting Washington to send the battleship Oregon to Manila, firmly declined to discuss the matter. All was quiet here last night and along the line, except for some desultory firing by the rebels near Caloocan and San Pedro Macati.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—No such emergency existed here as was represented by reports circulated in the United States—and cabled back to Manila—to the effect that Admiral Dewey had had a collision of a forcible character with the German naval commander.

According to the advices brought Sunday morning by the steamer Neustra Senora del Carmen, whose arrival brought the news that the American flag had been raised over the island of Cebu, the United States gunboat Petrel, Commander C. Cornwell, visited Cebu on Feb. 22. Commander Cornwell sent an ultimatum ashore, declaring the intention of the Americans to take possession—peaceably if possible, by force if necessary. The rebels immediately vacated, taking their guns to the hills. A party of marines and bluejackets was landed and the American flag was raised by them over the government building, which they still occupied when the Neustra Senora del Carmen left.

A battalion of the Twenty-third regulars left for Cebu Sunday by the United States transport Pennsylvania. The same steamer brought dispatches from Brigadier General Miller at Iloilo to Brigadier General Otis, reporting that all was quiet there, that there had been no further fighting, that confidence had been restored and business was being generally resumed. General Miller thinks it probable the natives will soon be convinced of the error of opposing the inevitable and that the example set by the inhabitant negroes is having its effect among the other islands which, though not entirely convinced, are, in General Miller's opinion, open to reason.

All was quiet Sunday afternoon inside and outside of Manila, except near Caloocan, where the enemy's sharpshooters continued to annoy our troops at a comparatively short range. One man of the Twentieth Kansas volunteers was killed in Ariquina village, which was burned Saturday night, and four were wounded in the skirmish, one of the Idaho, one of the Minnesota and two of the Pennsylvania volunteer regiments.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—Saturday night the rebels concentrated in such numbers near the Chinese cemetery that General MacArthur anticipated an attack and asked for reinforcements. Two companies of the Twenty-third regulars were sent to Caloocan and a battalion of the Twentieth regulars to the cemetery at about midnight.

But the expected attack was not made, the rebels, after making a great noise with bugle calls and yells of "Viva Independencia," and "Mucho Malo Americanos," and firing volleys, disappearing in the woods.

It was believed their leaders were getting desperate and were attempting to force the United States troops to make an attack, in the hope of breaking through the American lines, but the rebels were evidently unwilling to be sacrificed when facing the Americans. It was just possible, however, that they might be goaded into such a move before reinforcements arrive.

All was quiet in the city Saturday night.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Major General Ous reported to the war department the following additional casualties to troops under his command:

"MANILA, Feb. 26. "Additional wounded Feb. 24 and 25, in trenches near Caloocan:

"Second Oregon, Company G, Corporal William Ponath, chest, severe. Third artillery, Battery H, Privates John W. Corder, thigh, slight; Battery K, Michael J. Crowley, leg, slight. First Idaho, Company F, Private Charles S. Lamb, thigh, severe. Twentieth Kansas, Company D, Privates Larry Jones, head, serious; Campbell Scott, arm, severe. First Montana, Company A, Privates Francis J. Anspach, arm, severe; Albert S. Hicks, lung, severe. Private John Anderson, Company F, First Idaho, injured fractured ankle."

MADRID, Feb. 27.—An official dispatch from Manila says: "The situation here is very serious. The foreign warships are disembarking troops. General Rios will leave Manila and go to Zamboanga, island of Mindanao."

The government received a long dispatch from General Rios at Manila, but refused to impart its contents.

El Imparcial, which asserted that it was in a position to know the truth of the situation at Manila, said:

"There is constant fighting between the Americans and the Tagalos. The contiguity and subordination of the latter have caused great anxiety to the Americans, who do not conceal their belief that the war will be a long and desperate one. There is the greatest alarm among foreigners in Manila, and the commanders of the foreign warships have decided to land forces to protect their subjects."

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Telegraph who said he was "authorized to deny that Germany has any intention to interfere in the Philippines," adds:

"Neither has any other power, and the Oregon cannot therefore have been ordered to Manila on this account."

TRIAL OF THE QUAYS.

The Case Expected to Come Up in Philadelphia Today—It's Great Importance.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—There was every indication that United States Senator Quay and his son, Richard R. Quay, would be placed upon trial in the criminal court today to answer the charges of conspiracy and the unlawful use of state moneys. Both sides it was said were anxious to have the trial proceed without further delay. Senator Quay and his son had been in the city and had a long consultation with their lawyers, A. S. L. Shields and Rufus E. Shapley. So far as known, former District Attorney Graham, who was active in the early stages of the prosecution, will take part in the trial, which will be conducted for the commonwealth by District Attorney Rothermel, who was elected to that office last November, and his assistants, Finletter and Clement.

The trial will undoubtedly be of unparalleled importance, not only because it presents the unusual spectacle of a United States senator as the chief defendant, but also because on its results largely hinges its political future. It is regarded as extremely unlikely that the long existing deadlock at Harrisburg will be broken in the meantime, and it is conceded that the outcome of the trial will directly influence the question of the senatorial succession.

CEBU LIKELY SURRENDERED.

One of the Most Important Places in the Philippines Probably Secured.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Admiral Dewey cabled the navy department that he had sent the gunboat Petrel from Manila to Cebu. It is the purpose of the admiral to establish the sovereignty of the United States at the capital of the island, which is a populous town of 35,000 inhabitants.

The war department reports say the island of Cebu is the most important province of the Visayas group, its area being 2,000 square miles and its population more than 500,000. Under the Spanish regime the capital was a city of considerable commercial and political importance.

In explanation of Admiral Dewey's report of the sailing of the Petrel General Otis' announcement of the surrender of Cebu to the naval forces which had taken "quiet possession" it appears certain that the Petrel had received the surrender of Cebu.

SOLDIERS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Sternberg Says There Is Little Illness in Our Colonial Forces.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Speaking of reports as to the health of troops in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, Surgeon General Sternberg said they were very favorable. The appearance of smallpox in Cuba had been only slight, all cases had been isolated promptly and no spread of the disease had followed.

All troops had been vaccinated and the army surgeons were vaccinating the natives generally as a precaution. This was the case in both Cuba and Porto Rico, and in the latter island the medical department had established its own vaccine farm with satisfactory results.

While some cases of typhoid fever had been reported the number at no time had given any cause for alarm and nothing suggestive of an epidemic appeared. The chief troubles were due to malarial fever and diarrhoea disorders.

A NATIONAL UNION REFORM PARTY.

Delegates to Meet in Cincinnati This Week to Organize One.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 27.—A national organization of the Union Reform party will be made at a national conference of the amalgamated elements here on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Secretary M. A. Neff of the Ohio committee, says there will be over 1,000 delegates present from the different states, representing Silver Republicans, Populists, Social Labor party, Liberty party and others, especially those favoring direct legislation.

Any person committed to the referendum principle of direct legislation will be admitted to the national conference. There will be a meeting tonight of the national executive committee to select a temporary chairman and make other arrangements for the conference.

Census Bill About Ready.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The conferees on the census bill agreed and will make their report early in the week. Certain features of both senate and house bills will be retained. The census will be nominally under the direction of the secretary of the interior, but all appointments in the census bureau will be made by the director of the census.

CONGRESS' END NEAR.

Covered an Eventful Period in Nation's History.

DECLARED WAR, RATIFIED PEACE.

Annexation of Hawaii, Enactment of a National Bankruptcy Act and Other Notable Legislation Passed—Appropriations Approximate $1,600,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—An eventful period in the country's history is covered by the work of the Fifty-fifth congress, which is drawing to a close.

This congress has declared war against a foreign foe, and the treaty-making branch has participated in ratifying the treaty by which that war was terminated. It has provided a great volunteer army, has enlarged the regular army and has expanded the navy to meet war emergencies and new conditions. The tariff has been revised, first by the Dingley law and then by the war revenue act; a bond issue, known as the war loan, has been provided.

But far-reaching as these war measures are, the congress has had time also to enact other legislation which, under ordinary circumstances, would make its session memorable. This includes the annexation of Hawaii, the rejection by the senate of the general treaty of arbitration with Great Britain, the enactment of a national bankruptcy law, provision for taking the twelfth census, reorganization of the personnel of the navy. To this list may yet be added other important subjects still pending.

including the Nicaragua canal, the increase of the regular army, the anti-scalping measure, the Hawaiian bill and the proposed encouragement of American shipping. Some of the most important general measures are in the final legislative stages, and it will not be until the last hours arrive that the success or failure of those measures will be determined definitely.

The general legislation of the session, which has advanced to its final stages and has become law, includes the following: An act to extend the laws relating to American seamen, for the protection of such seamen and to promote commerce; an act concerning sail vessels of over 700 tons; providing for a national exposition of American products and manufactures at Philadelphia for the encouragement of the export trade; granting extra pay to officers and enlisted men of United States volunteers; providing additional circuit judges in the Fifth and Sixth judicial circuits; amending the act governing the immediate transportation of dutiable goods without appraisement; adjusting the clothing account for deceased soldiers in certain cases; allowing voting machines in elections for representatives in congress; removing the remains of General John A. Rawlins to Arlington National cemetery; admitting to West Point and Annapolis certain persons designated by the governments of Venezuela, Costa Rica and Colombia; also the bill establishing a national military park to commemorate the campaign, siege and defense of Vicksburg.

The total appropriations of the present session will approximate $700,000,000, of which about $250,000,000 will be for the military and naval uses or for subjects connected with the war. This is a general estimate, however, based upon totals which may undergo some change, as very few of the large appropriation bills have become law, and some of them have not even been considered. If the Nicaragua canal amendment is added to the river and harbor bill, it being so reported to the senate, this will make a material increase. Included in the naval bill are provisions for three seagoing battleships, three armored cruisers and six small cruisers, for which $10,000,000 is to be appropriated for the first year's work.

Based on estimates, the total appropriations for the congress (not including the four appropriation bills left over by the former congress) would be approximately $1,600,000,000, of which amount approximately $600,000,000 is for war expenses or incident to the army and navy.

JUDGSHIP FOR DAY.

President Sends Ex-Secretary's Nomination to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The president sent these nominations to the senate: William B. Day of Ohio, to be United States circuit judge for the Sixth judicial circuit; Jeremiah J. McCarthy, surveyor of customs, Boston and Charles-town district, Massachusetts; S. Stillman Blanchard, appraiser of merchandise in the district of Boston and Charles-town, Massachusetts.

Also a number of promotions in the army of the United States.

Jesse James, Jr., in Tight Place.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27.—The most positive identification of Jesse James, Jr., as one of the Leeds train robbers was made in the courtroom by William J. Smith of Stokesberry, Mo., who was a passenger on the Missouri Pacific train the night it was held up. He pointed out Jesse James as the man who placed a gun against his breast and ordered him back into a car.

FRAN K PEARS' MURDER.

Minister Hunter to Take Personal Charge of the Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—United States Minister to Honduras Godfrey Hunter will start on his return to his post next week, and it is understood that he will take personal charge of the investigation of the killing of Frank Pears of Pittsburg in that country on Feb. 1. Before he left that country Minister Hunter had a gunboat sent there to assist in the investigation. From information received by Minister Hunter and the state department it seems that the killing of Mr. Pears was one of those unfortunate affairs that so often happen in Central and South American countries.

Martial law had been proclaimed in that section of Honduras where Mr. Pears was, and on the day in question he was challenged in Spanish by a sentry and not understanding the language did not give proper answer and was shot down. It is probable that the commander who gave these orders will be removed from his office and that the country will be compelled to pay a round sum of money as damages for the killing.

ABOUT 2,000,000 NEED FOOD.

Americans Made an Appeal For Destitute Chinese.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The American residents of Chee Foo, China, sent an appeal to the San Francisco chamber of commerce, requesting that a shipload of corn be sent for the relief of 2,000,000 Chinese in Shang Tung province.

The unprecedented floods of the Yellow river destroyed crops and the immense population along the great river were on the verge of starvation.

The appeal, which was signed by John Fowler, Hunter Corbett, W. O. Elterich, George Cornwall and C. B. Downing, said the people of Shang Tung subsist upon corn, and continues:

"We believe that if your grain men will ship to the United States consul in Chee Foo direct from the Pacific slope a steamer loaded with corn it will be the means, not only of saving thousands of lives, but also of opening up a market of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 consumers later on."

The chamber will act at its next meeting.

CONTEMPT WAS CHARGED.

Attorney General Monnett Brought Suit Against Squire.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—Attorney General Monnett brought contempt proceedings against F. B. Squire of Cleveland, secretary of the Standard Oil company.

The petition asked that Secretary Squire be declared in contempt of the supreme court because of his refusal to produce the books of the Standard Oil company.

The order under which the attorney general sought to obtain the books was issued by the supreme court Dec. 6.

Under the advice of the company's attorneys, Secretary Squire refused to produce before Master Commissioner Brinsmade, at the hearing in Cleveland Feb. 17, the books which are said to set forth the Standard's business relations with the constituent companies.

Rev. Charles H. Lincoln Died.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 27.—Rev. Charles H. Lincoln died at his residence, 333 Sixth avenue, at 6:15 p. m. yesterday. He had suffered nine weeks from nervous prostration, following an attack of grip. In January, 1894, he inaugurated a meeting in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Wylie avenue and Congress street, and was called to the pastorate, which he assumed, and labored there with marked success for more than a year. Difficulties arose in the church during which much injustice, it is believed, was done the pastor, resulting in his again entering the business world.

Major General Reynolds Dead.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Major General Joseph A. Reynolds, United States army, retired, is dead, aged 77 years. About a month ago General Reynolds had an attack of paralysis, which culminated in a cerebral hemorrhage, causing death. The remains will be interred at Arlington Tuesday or Wednesday.

KIPLING NEAR DEATH.

Doctors Admitted His Condition Was Critical.

NOVELIST UNCONSCIOUS AND LOW.

Physicians Were Using Oxygen, a Necessity When the Disease Was at a Critical Stage—Howells Was Admitted to the Sick Room.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—There was a general impression about the Hotel Grenoble at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon that Mr. Kipling's condition was worse than at any time since he became ill. Dr. Janeway arrived sooner than was expected and it looked as if there had been a sudden change for the worse and that the physician had been called. He remained in the hotel for awhile and then left, returning in about half an hour. Almost at the same time an oxygen tank was brought to the hotel and taken up to the Kipling apartments on the first floor. That the oxygen was to be administered was practically admitted by Dr. Janeway. This is heroic treatment and is resorted to only in extreme cases. Both Dr. Janeway and Dr. Dunham were with Mr. Kipling alternately through Saturday night and both were in attendance on him early in the morning.

Dr. Janeway, Jr., son of Dr. E. G. Janeway, was also called in consultation concerning the critical condition of Mr. Kipling.

Dr. Dunham came from the sick chamber soon after 11 o'clock. His wife is a sister of Mrs. Kipling.

"Is Mr. Kipling suffering from pneumonia?" Dr. Dunham was asked.

"We will call it inflammation of the lungs," he replied.

"If he gets through today will he be safer?"

"If he gets through today he will be much nearer to safety," said Dr. Dunham.

It was learned from other sources that Kipling was extremely weak. At times he recognized those around him. Those at the bedside were Dr. Dunham, Mrs. Kipling, her mother, Mrs. Balestier, Mr. Doubleday, the children and two nurses.

Some of the callers were admitted Sunday morning to the sick chamber. Among those favored few were W. D. Howells, Nikola Tesla, S. S. McClure and Charles Battell Loomis.

The following bulletin was issued at 7 o'clock last night:

"Mr. Kipling's condition has been very serious during this, the sixth day of the disease, giving rise to the gravest apprehension for the outcome.

"E. G. JANEWAY, "THEODORE DUNHAM."

At that hour the physicians were making almost constant use of oxygen. Their demeanor indicated a most critical stage of the disease. Mr. Kipling was delirious as the above bulletin was issued.

Neither Dr. Janeway nor Dr. Dunham would say a word. In fact, neither ventured from the patient's side for more than a short time.

At 10:20 o'clock last night, the following bulletin was issued:

"Mr. Kipling's condition remains the same as at last report.

(Signed) "G. JANEWAY, "THEODORE DUNHAM."

It was said at that hour that Mr. Kipling was very low and unconscious. At 3 o'clock this morning Kipling was said to be dying.

MAY SUSPEND WORK MAY 1.

Ohio Miners and Operators Adjourned Without Reaching an Agreement.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—The conference of the Ohio miners and operators adjourned without an agreement being reached, and the prospects are that there will be a suspension of work in the Ohio mines on April 1.

The Ohio miners are bound by the Pittsburg agreement to accept no price under that fixed by the Chicago agreement, which makes the run-of-mine rate in Ohio 47 1-7 cents per ton, the rate insisted upon by the operators being 42 2-3 cents per ton.

When the operators' proposition was rejected, they proposed to submit the matter to arbitration, but this also was declined by the miners, and further negotiations were abandoned.

BURKE ALSO FOUND GUILTY.

Cleveland Circuit Court Decides Charges Against Ohio State Senator True.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—State Senator Vernon H. Burke was found guilty in the circuit court of the first specification in the charges brought against him.

Judge Caldwell read the findings of the court. "As the evidence now stands before this court," he said, "we find that Judge Dellenbaugh and Vernon H. Burke were jointly the attorneys of Nettie A. Manning during the acts complained of in the first specification. We previously found that Judge Dellenbaugh did receive $1,100, one-third of the fees paid in the Manning case, and that the weight of the evidence showed that Dellenbaugh participated in the management of the Manning case up to the time of the division of the fees."

MR. HANNA'S VICTORY.

If Hon. Mark Hanna is the man to recognize a triumph, he is without question in a happy frame of mind today. It has been announced in Washington that the committee on privileges and elections of the senate have acquitted him of the charge of bribery in securing his election, while in Cleveland Hon. V. H. Burke, one of his accusers, has been disbarred from the practice of his profession because of irregularities. The public can draw its conclusion from the facts given.

CONGRESSMAN JOHNSON.

The Hon. Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, is better known today than when a misguided but enthusiastic constituency elevated him to a seat in the house of representatives, but it must not be understood that Mr. Johnson has won fame. Instead he has simply become notorious. Had he given to the world something by which humanity would have been uplifted, performed some deed of valor, or even accomplished some feat that would not live longer than his life, he might have some claim on distinction. But Mr. Johnson has done none of these. He has only abused and maligned the President of the United States. He has sought to build for himself a place in the annals of his country by adopting as his foundation the most contemptible course known to public men. He has not made history. He has, with all his studied metaphors of malignity, accomplished nothing more than the creation of public astonishment. If Mr. Johnson has in preparation another vicious attack on the President or if he has a score of them, the result will doubtless be the same. Long after he is gathered home to his fathers and the cause which he pretends to champion, but which he possibly uses as a cloak while he works out some fancied injury, has ceased to be a memory, the name of William McKinley will be remembered as that of a true American. Men like Mr. Johnson build nothing but tottering, temporary structures.

Another Story of a Sewer Pipe Trust Is Afloat.

OHIO VALLEY PLANTS ARE IN

While the Akron District is Well Represented—Fifteen or Twenty Companies Are Credited With Being Back of the Movement—Ninety Per Cent Controlled.

The question of a sewer pipe trust has come to the surface again, this time from a source where they do not issue trust charters or make the material in question. It is a dispatch from Washington which says:

"Reliable information comes tonight from a gentleman interested in the project that a combination of sewer pipe manufacturers is about to be accomplished. The promoters of the plan have been working for its consummation in New York City for more than a week, and their efforts are about to prove successful. Options by all the concerns to be included in the combination have just been submitted to the organization committee, and now all that remains to be done is to equalize the distribution of capital stock among the interested parties.

"Between 15 and 20 sewer pipe companies will make up the combination when it is completed, and many of these will be Ohio concerns. Among them can be mentioned the following: The National Sewer Pipe company, Barberton; the Akron Sewer Pipe company, Robinson Bros. & Co., Whitmore, Robinson & Co., the Summit Sewer Pipe company and the Buckeye Sewer Pipe company, all of Akron. There are nearly a dozen other manufacturers of pipe who are located in the Ohio valley who are also on the list, and one concern in Huntingdon, Pa. The new company will have an aggregate capitalization of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, and will control 90 per cent of the sewer pipe output of the United States."

ANOTHER STORY.

An Akron Man Has a Few Words on the Combination.

E. H. Gibbs, secretary of the Summit Sewer Pipe company, of Akron is quoted as saying that the prospectus of the new combination would be issued today or Tuesday. "The new company will be known as the American Sewer Pipe company," he said, "and will have headquarters either in Pittsburg or Cleveland. It will be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and will have a capital stock of $25,000,000. Half of this will be cumulative preferred stock and half common stock. Of this capital $20,000,000 will be used in purchasing the 51 plants, on which the new company has options. Thirty-one of them are located in the Ohio district, three are at Uhrichsville, three in Michigan, three in Indiana, three in New York and eight in the Akron district. All of these plants have been satisfactorily appraised. The combine will have a working capital of $5,000,000."

SPAIN VICTORIOUS

Would Have Been the Result Had She Been Right Said Rev. Mr. Whitehead.

Services at the First Presbyterian church last evening were largely attended and Doctor Lee delivered an eloquent sermon upon "Some sensible excuses for not being a Christian and what they do for us." The choir rendered very pleasing selections while the male quartet sang two numbers. A short after meeting was held after the close of the regular services.

Prof. O. S. Reed yesterday occupied the pulpit of the Christian church, and was greeted by large audiences, in the evening the house being so crowded that many people were unable to obtain seats. The subject of his discourse was "What Would Jesus Do?" and the sermon was a very eloquent one, receiving the marked attention of the entire audience.

Rev. C. F. Swift yesterday morning at the Methodist Protestant church preached the annual sermon to the Ladies' Missionary society of that church. The service was well attended. Last night Reverend Whitehead, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, Southside, Pittsburg, preached to a large congregation. During his discourse the speaker said: "God is always on the right side. If Spain had been right, even though a weak nation, and the United States wrong, and a strong nation, the result of the various battles would have been different from what they were."

Doctor Weir, president of Scio college, yesterday occupied the pulpit of the First M. E. church and delivered two very eloquent addresses. Doctor Crawford, pastor of the church, was able to be present at the evening service for the first time in many weeks and made a few remarks.

The revival services now being conducted by the Free Methodists in the chapel are productive of good results. The meetings held yesterday resulted in six conversions.

NINE WERE IN JAIL.

City Prison Well Filled With Offenders.

Nine persons spent yesterday in jail, the largest number who have been kept in custody over Sunday for several weeks. Mayor Bough did not appear at city hall during the morning, and no hearings were held until late this afternoon.

Saturday Thompson Hineman, Chester, and Edward Hunselman and Charles Nelson were put in jail, with charges of suspicion against them. Orders were given by Chief Johnson to let no one see the men, and at noon today the charge had not been changed. Chief Johnson would not say any thing about the men, but it was learned that charges of burglary would be made. The officers have been calling upon the persons who have been robbed recently, but with what result is not made known. The men will be heard this evening.

The charge of intoxication against James Mullen will probably be changed. When he was being put in jail he said to the officer that he "supposed it was about the goods." The remark led to investigation and the authorities now have in their possession some dry goods, for which they would like to find an owner.

A man named Davidson, who claimed to be a Wellsville Democrat, was locked up Saturday night on a charge of intoxication. He was given a ride in the patrol in charge of Officer Mahony.

William Rigby was drunk in Seventh street Saturday night and was enjoying himself when Officers McCullough and O'Donnell gathered him in and took him to jail in the wagon. He is charged with being drunk.

Charles Carraher, who was fined $9 60 Friday, and Ben Scott who was assessed a similar amount Thursday, are still in custody. What disposition will be made of them cannot be learned.

CONGRESSMAN JOHNSON.

The Hon. Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, is better known today than when a misguided but enthusiastic constituency elevated him to a seat in the house of representatives, but it must not be understood that Mr. Johnson has won fame. Instead he has simply become notorious. Had he given to the world something by which humanity would have been uplifted, performed some deed of valor, or even accomplished some feat that would not live longer than his life, he might have some claim on distinction. But Mr. Johnson has done none of these. He has only abused and maligned the President of the United States. He has sought to build for himself a place in the annals of his country by adopting as his foundation
the most contemptible course known to public men. He has not made history.
He has, with all his studied metaphors of malignity, accomplished nothing more than the creation of public astonishment. If Mr. Johnson has in preparation another vicious attack on the President or if he has a score of them,
the result will doubtless be the same.
Long after he is gathered home to his fathers and the cause which he pretends to champion, but which he possibly uses as a cloak while he works out some fancied injury, has ceased to be a memory, the name of William McKinley will be remembered as that of a true American. Men like Mr. Johnson build nothing but tottering, temporary structures.

Another Story of a Sewer Pipe
Trust Is Afloat.

OHIO VALLEY PLANTS ARE IN

While the Akron District Is Well Represented—Fifteen or Twenty Companies
Are Credited With Being Back of the Movement—Ninety Per Cent Controlled.

The question of a sewer pipe trust has come to the surface again, this time from a source where they do not issue trust charters or make the material in question. It is a dispatch from Washington which says:

"Reliable information comes tonight from a gentleman interested in the project that a combination of sewer pipe manufacturers is about to be accomplished. The promoters of the plan have been working for its consummation in New York City for more than a week, and their efforts are about to prove successful. Options by all the concerns to be included in the combination have just been submitted to the organization committee, and now all that remains to be done is to equalize the distribution of capital stock among the interested parties.

"Between 15 and 20 sewer pipe companies will make up the combination when it is completed, and many of these will be Ohio concerns. Among them can be mentioned the following: The National Sewer Pipe company, Barberton; the Akron Sewer Pipe company,
Robinson Bros. & Co., Whitmore,
Robinson & Co., the Summit Sewer
Pipe company and the Buckeye Sewer Pipe company, all of Akron. There are nearly a dozen other manufacturers of pipe who are located in the Ohio valley who are also on the list, and one concern in Huntingdon, Pa. The new company will have an aggregate capitalization of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, and will control 90 per cent of the sewer pipe output of the United States."

ANOTHER STORY.

An Akron Man Has a Few Words on the Combination.

E. H. Gibbs, secretary of the Summit Sewer Pipe company, of Akron is quoted as saying that the prospectus of the new combination would be issued today or Tuesday. "The new company will be known as the American Sewer Pipe company," he said, "and will have headquarters either in Pittsburg or Cleveland. It will be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and will have a capital stock of $25,000,000. Half of this will be cumulative preferred stock and half common stock. Of this capital $20,000,000 will be used in purchasing the 51 plants, on which the new company has options. Thirty-one of them are located in the Ohio district, three are at Uhrichsville, three in Michigan, three in Indiana, three in New York and eight in the Akron district.
All of these plants have been satisfactorily appraised. The combine will have a working capital of $5,000,000."

SPAIN VICTORIOUS

Would Have Been the Result
Had She Been Right Said
Rev. Mr. Whitehead.

Services at the First Presbyterian church last evening were largely attended and Doctor Lee delivered an eloquent sermon upon "Some sensible excuses for not being a Christian and what they do for us." The choir rendered very pleasing selections while the male quartet sang two numbers. A short after meeting was held after the close of the regular services.

Prof. O. S. Reed yesterday occupied the pulpit of the Christian church, and was greeted by large audiences, in the evening the house being so crowded that many people were unable to obtain seats. The subject of his discourse was
"What Would Jesus Do?" and the sermon was a very eloquent one, receiving the marked attention of the entire audience.

Rev. C. F. Swift yesterday morning at the Methodist Protestant church preached the annual sermon to the Ladies' Missionary society of that church. The service was well attended.
Last night Reverend Whitehead, pastor
of the First Methodist Protestant church, Southside, Pittsburg, preached to a large congregation. During his discourse the speaker said: "God is always on the right side. If Spain had been right, even though a weak nation, and the United States wrong, and a strong nation, the result of the various battles would have been different from what they were."

Doctor Weir, president of Scio college, yesterday occupied the pulpit of the First M. E. church and delivered two very eloquent addresses. Doctor Crawford, pastor of the church, was able to be present at the evening service for the first time in many weeks and made a few remarks.

The revival services now being conducted by the Free Methodists in the chapel are productive of good results.
The meetings held yesterday resulted in six conversions.

NINE WERE IN JAIL.

City Prison Well Filled With Offenders.

Nine persons spent yesterday in jail,
the largest number who have been kept in custody over Sunday for several weeks. Mayor Bough did not appear at city hall during the morning, and no hearings were held until late this afternoon.

Saturday Thompson Hineman, Chester, and Edward Hunselman and Charles Nelson were put in jail, with charges of suspicion against them. Orders were given by Chief Johnson to let no one see the men, and at noon today the charge had not been changed. Chief Johnson would not say any thing about the men, but it was learned that charges of burglary would be made. The officers have been calling upon the persons who have been robbed recently, but with what result is not made known. The men will be heard this evening.

The charge of intoxication against James Mullen will probably be changed
When he was being put in jail he said to the officer that he "supposed it was about the goods." The remark led to investigation and the authorities now have in their possession some dry goods, for which they would like to find an owner.

A man named Davidson, who claimed to be a Wellsville Democrat, was locked up Saturday night on a charge of intoxication. He was given a ride in the patrol in charge of Officer Mahony.

William Rigby was drunk in Seventh street Saturday night and was enjoying himself when Officers McCullough and O'Donnell gathered him in and took him to jail in the wagon. He is charged with being drunk.

Charles Carragher, who was fined $9 60
Friday, and Ben Scott who was assessed a similar amount Thursday, are still in custody. What disposition will be made of them cannot be learned.

NO MORE IN THE BOARD

Will the Voice of Henry Chambers Be Raised,

Street Railway Company Paid For a Dead Horse—Money Collected For Church. Cinders Being Placed on Walks and Improvement Needed.

Henry Chambers, who has served as a member of the board of health from this part of the city for a number of years, will not be a candidate again. This action will be a surprise to many friends of Mr. Chambers, who were firm in the belief that he would serve another term. Mr. Chambers was seen by a reporter and said:

"I have served on the board long enough and I think some one else should be given a chance to try to benefit the health of the city. My relations with the board have been very pleasant, and while meetings have not been held as regularly as they might have been, many have been productive of good results."

Scattering Cinders.

A large amount of cinders are now being scattered about the streets of this part of the city, and in many instances the result has been beneficial.

At the corner of St. George and Chestnut streets cinders have been placed at each side of the roadway making it almost impossible for pedestrians to cross. Residents of that section have protested vigorously against the action, and it is thought the crossing will be finished within a short time.

Dedicatory Sermon.

Rev. J. R. Greene Saturday received word from Rev. H. C. Swearingen, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, stating he would be in the city on March 9, and would deliver the dedicatory sermon in the Second United Presbyterian church. It was expected Rev. Dr. Meliken, of Sewickley, would preach on March 8, but he found it to be impossible. Rev. R. L. Hoy, of New Brighton, will speak on the evening of March 17.

Waiting on Weather.

Work upon the upper road leading into Pennsylvania avenue at the school house will be commenced when the weather permits.

Mr. Welch, who has charge of the work, stated to a reporter last evening that not less than five weeks' time would be required to complete the road after the work was thoroughly started. The road will be 60 feet wide and there is sufficient money now in the old appropriation to pay for it.

Distributed Groceries.

What might have been a serious accident occurred in Helana Saturday afternoon. A horse attached to a wagon owned by W. A. Finley and driven by John Finley, became frightened and ran off. The wagon contained a lot of groceries and during the flight of the horse the contents were scattered about the road. The wagon was slightly damaged, but the horse was uninjured.

Failed to Materialize.

The motormen held their regular monthly meeting in their hall Saturday night. It was largely attended, but nothing but routine business was transacted. It was said Saturday afternoon that it was probable an important question would be presented for discussion, but it failed to materialize. The next meeting will be held March 24.

Good Results.

The services at the Episcopal mission yesterday afternoon was well attended. It is said the mission will be a permanent feature of the church in the city, and as long as it is attended by a sufficient number of people it will receive the support of St. Stephen's church. So far the venture has been all that could be asked.

Mrs. Bell Recovering.

Mrs. John Bell, who fell while hanging a curtain in her home last Wednesday, is improving rapidly. Her injuries were not serious.

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Goodballet, of Helana, is seriously ill, suffering with pneumonia.

Settled the Claim.

The street railway company Saturday settled the claim of George Anderson. It will be remembered that a car of the company struck and killed a horse owned by Mr. Anderson two weeks ago last Saturday and seriously injured the rider, William Lewellen.

Have Some Money.

The building fund of the Second U. P. church has reached the $5,500 mark. The church cost $6,500. It is said that a portion of the amount will be collected before the church is dedicated, and possibly all of it.

RIVER FALLING

Sunday Boats Had Unusually Big Cargoes.

The marks at the wharf this morning registered 12 feet and falling.

The Keystone State, Kanawha and Ben Hur passed up yesterday, and all had as much freight on board as it was possible to carry. The Keystone had a large cargo of nails.

The Ben Hur and Keystone State will be down tonight and the Kanawha will be down tomorrow night. The Queen City will be up tomorrow afternoon.

Business at the wharf is increasing, and much freight is now being handled.

Will Come Up For Its Second Reading Tomorrow.

The ordinance prohibiting the saloon-keepers from putting screens at their windows at any time on Sunday will be up on its second reading at the meeting of council tomorrow evening.

It is probable no attempt will be made to pass it under a suspension of rules, but when it reaches its third reading the ordinance will probably pass without much opposition.

MRS. HUTCHISON'S FUNERAL.

Services Were Held at the Methodist Protestant Church.

The funeral of Mrs. W. E. Hutchison, nee Miss Fanchon E. Bennett, took place yesterday afternoon from the Methodist Protestant church, and was very largely attended. The funeral address was made by Rev. R. B. Whitehead, and Rev. C. F. Swift delivered a few remarks. The music was very beautiful. The remains were interred in Riverview cemetery.

MASHED HIS HAND.

John Short Suffered an Accident at the McNicol Pottery.

John Short, who is employed as packer at the D. E. McNicol pottery, met with a painful accident. He had his right hand caught between a cask and a post, mashing it very severely. The injury was dressed by a physician, but it will be several days before Mr. Short is again able to be at work.

THE CRUSHING OF COPRA

The Philippines May Furnish a New Industrial Opening.

EXTRACTING OIL FROM COCOANUTS

Possible Transfer to the United States of an Industry Now Carried on Almost Exclusively in France. Raw Product Comes From Philippine Islands.

Robert P. Skinner, the United States consul at Marseilles, France, makes the following report:

"The occupation of the Philippine Islands by the United States suggests the possibility of a transfer to the United States of an industry which is now almost exclusively confined to the city of Marseilles. The crushing of oleaginous seeds and cocoanuts for the extraction of the oil they contain has for many years given employment to hundreds of women, and the skillful use of blended oils in the manufacture of soap gave to this city its worldwide reputation for the latter. In more recent times the American cottonseed oil has to a large extent replaced the copra or coconut oil, at the same time severely crippling the seed crushing business. A soap manufacturer advises me that the cotton oil cannot, however, entirely supplant the coconut oil, as the former, if used alone, produces a soap too soft to be acceptable to commerce, and the latter, if unmixed with cotton or peanut oil, makes a soap as much too hard. I am informed that a mixture of about half and half produces the best results, and that the failure of Marseilles manufacturers to maintain these proportions has been followed by a distinct falling off in the quality of some famous brands of Marseilles soaps.

"The copra or cocoanuts crushed in Marseilles come almost exclusively from the Philippine Islands. In the year 1897 the imports amounted to 686,120 metric quintals. (1 quintal equals 220.46 pounds), in addition to which 31,910 metric quintals were imported from the French colonies. The highest price paid at Marseilles during 1897 was $6.94 and the lowest $5.31. The nuts fall from the trees and lie on the ground until the hard shell separates from the kernel and decays. The kernel appears to lose none of its useful qualities, though permitted to remain on the ground for a year or more. When a favorable opportunity occurs, the copra is gathered, dumped into some small coasting boat and eventually reaches Marseilles. At the present time the price is uncertain and almost double the average figure because of a complete suspension of arrivals from Manila. On Jan. 11 the total stock of copra in the docks and warehouses was only 1,530 quintals, and the fear now prevails that the troubles among the natives will prevent the shipment of any considerable quantity for some time to come.

TAGALS AND VISAYAS.

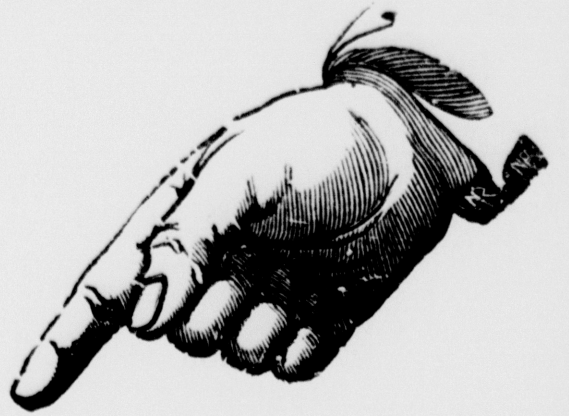

Two Important Tribes of the Inhabitants of the Philippines.

Only a small part of the 8,000,000 inhabitants of the Philippines rebelled against the rule of Spain, and a still smaller part is now opposing our army. The portions of the archipelago inhabited by the Tagals and the Visayas are by far the most important of the ten groups into which the islands are divided. Aguinaldo and his coterie have large influence over a great many of the Tagals, but whether his party is able to control the whole of their people has not yet appeared. At any rate we have no reason as yet to suppose that our army is opposed by any of the Philippine peoples except the Tagals.

The Tagals number about 1,500,000 people. Their domain comprises all the central parts of Luzon, on which Manila stands, and they have been slowly encroaching upon the other populations of the island. They have also gained the upper hand in the neighboring islands of Mindoro and Marinduque. They are met everywhere along the seaboard of these islands. Most of the native population of Manila is Tagal, and the most civilized factor among the islanders is the Tagal people.

The Visayas, however, are still more numerous, comprising about 2,500,000 people, and they occupy a larger area of the islands. They have given their name to the central group of islands, and Iloilo and Zebu, the two largest ports after Manila, are in their territory. They have also occupied the northeastern part of the great southern island of Mindanao. The missionary work of the Spanish clergy has been chiefly among these two peoples, and as they have come into relations with the foreign traders and the enterprising Chinese, who are a large factor in the business, particularly of Luzon, they have made greater advance in civilization than the other half of the natives.

DOS PASSOS IS PAYING

For Clerical Work Done In This Place.

MONEY CAME IN YESTERDAY

It Is Sent by Haskins & Sells, But the Receipt Is Made Out For the Big Man of the American Potteries Company--Mention of the "Potteries Committee."

Now that the work in connection with the appraisement of local potteries for the American Potteries company is completed, the men who toiled day and night at the Thompson House are receiving their pay.

It will be remembered that the force of accountants sent from New York were assisted by a large number of local men acquainted with the clerical part of the business. Their accounts were recently sent to the firm of Haskins & Sells, and yesterday they received express money orders for the amounts given. At the bottom of each letter was a blank receipt made out to John R. Dos Passos, showing that he is paying for the work. The receipts say the work was done in connection with the "Potteries Committee."

NO DEFINITE TIME

As to When the Trust Will Begin Operations, Says John R. Dos Passos.

The last news concerning the American Potteries company was being discussed today, and since it comes from John R. Dos Passos is interesting.

It seems that a well known manufacturer wired Mr. Dos Passos Saturday and asked him when the trust would take charge. He received an answer which said for him to proceed with his business as usual, but no definite time could be given when the company would take charge of the business.

M'NICOL COMPANY ROBBED

Matter Reported to the Police, But No Arrests Yet Made.

The decorating department of the D. E. McNicol Pottery company was entered by thieves early Saturday morning, and material to the amount of about $25 was taken.

The matter was reported to the police, but as yet no arrests have been made in the case, and Chief Johnson refuses absolutely to talk of the matter. At the office of the company it was stated that no money was taken as was reported, and nothing but material has been missing up to the present time.

Old Sewer Pipe Trust Interested.

LISBON, Feb. 27.—[Special]—The old Phoenix National bank, of Medina, has filed action against Alvin M. Winsper and the Central Sewer Pipe company.

The bank claims that Winsper is indebted to it in the sum of $1731.72 on two notes and secured by mortgage on lot 1226 in Leetonia. It also asks to be reimbursed to the extent of $89.70 for taxes it has paid. The Central Sewer Pipe company has claims to the property which it is asked to set up. The plaintiff asks for foreclosure.

Entered Suit For Tickets.

George F. Knowles & Co., this morning in the court of Squire Manley entered suit against William R. McCord, to recover $1.50, the cost of two seats to a performance given for the benefit of the hospital fund. The case is set for hearing March 6, at 4 o'clock.

Geo. F. Knowles this morning settled the bill of a local paper by paying 80 cents and the costs.

Public Meetings.

Several meetings will be held this week owing to the fact that February goes out on Tuesday. Council will meet tomorrow evening and Trades council will hold a session Wednesday evening, while the board of health and water works trustees will meet Friday night.

TWO FROZEN FEET MENTIONED

They Belong to the Young Man Who Took the Animal From His Father's Stable and Brought It to This Place Where It Was Found.

Several days ago a horse was left at the stable of Jack Allison, and as he did not know its owner the animal was turned over to Constable Miller who had about made up his mind to sell it when an owner appeared.

Saturday night a man named Landers, who resides in the northern part of the county, appeared and stated that the horse belonged to him, having been taken from his stable by his son, James Landers, who rode it to this city and sold it to F. D. Mosher, giving him a note stating that he had sold the horse to him. Mosher in turn traded the animal to John McLaughlin for $1.45, a watch and several other articles, but how the horse got to the stable of Allison is not known.

Landers had no trouble in proving that he owned the horse, but Allison refused to give it up unless he was paid $4 for feed. An effort was made to raise the money, and finally one of the parties went security for the amount and Landers started for his home with the horse.

While the boy was making his way to this city he had his feet frozen, and after selling the horse returned home where he is now suffering severely, and an effort was made to raise money to send him to the hospital, but it was not successful.

John McLaughlin received what he paid to Mosher for the horse, and the only persons who seemed to have lost by the transaction are Mosher and Landers.

The Spindles of New England.

Of the 19,419,554 cotton spindles in the country, Massachusetts has 7,907, 388 Rhode Island follows with 2,132, 359 while New England as a whole has 13,431,951. Of cotton looms the state has 182,183 wool cards, 1,898 sets, worsted combs, 412, wooden looms 20,518 and silk looms 843. It will be seen that Massachusetts has over 40 per cent of the entire cotton spindleage of the country. It has 22 per cent of all the wool cards and shows an increase of 61 sets within two years. Of the 1,373 worsted combs in the country Massachusetts has 412, or about 33 per cent while New England has nearly 60 per cent of the total. The number of silk looms in Massachusetts has increased about 200 within the last two years but the increase in the number of looms which are working on cotton and silk or wool and silk must be much larger. A PETITION IN ERROR

Will Be Filed In the W. E. Morrow Case.

LEAVE GRANTED BY JUDGE SMITH

Saturday Afternoon at Wellsville--The Matter Will Be Argued In the Near Future--It Reopens the Matter For Further Consideration.

The attorneys for W. E. Morrow were Saturday granted leave to file a petition in error in the case in which he was found guilty by Mayor Bough for permitting gambling on his premises.

The motion was argued one day last week before Judge Smith, and on Saturday afternoon Solicitor McGarry and Attorney Cook appeared before the judge at his office in Wellsville and he stated that he had decided to grant the request to file a petition in error. The motion will be heard on its merits sometime next week.

This does not necessarily mean that the court will reverse the decision of Mayor Bough in finding Mr. Morrow guilty, but it does mean that there is some doubt in regard to the decision and the case may be remanded back for a new trial or the city may be ordered to refund the fine of $50.

Should Judge Smith decide that the decision of the mayor was sustained by the evidence then the attorneys for Morrow can take the case to circuit court, and on to supreme court if they see fit to do so.

The question of whether Mayor Bough should have granted a change of venue in the case will in all probability not be taken into consideration in the decision rendered by Judge Smith, as he stated Saturday that he had been unable to find any statute covering the matter.

DOS PASSOS IS PAYING

For Clerical Work Done In This Place.

It Is Sent by Haskins & Sells, But the Receipt Is Made Out For the Big Man of the American Potteries Company--Mention of the "Potteries Committee."

Now that the work in connection with the appraisal of local potteries for the American Potteries company is completed, the men who toiled day and night at the Thompson House are receiving their pay.

It will be remembered that the force of accountants sent from New York were assisted by a large number of local men acquainted with the clerical part of the business. Their accounts were recently sent to the firm of Haskins & Sells, and yesterday they received express money orders for the amounts given. At the bottom of each letter was a blank receipt made out to John R. Dos Passos, showing that he is paying for the work. The receipts say the work was done in connection with the "Potteries Committee."

NO DEFINITE TIME

As to When the Trust Will Begin Operations, Says John R. Dos Passos.

The last news concerning the American Potteries company was being discussed today, and since it comes from John R. Dos Passos is interesting.

It seems that a well known manufacturer wired Mr. Dos Passos Saturday and asked him when the trust would take charge. He received an answer which said for him to proceed with his business as usual, but no definite time could be given when the company would take charge of the business.

M'NICOL COMPANY ROBBED

Matter Reported to the Police, But No Arrests Yet Made.

The decorating department of the D. R. McNicol Pottery company was entered by thieves early Saturday morning, and material to the amount of about $25 was taken.

The matter was reported to the police, but as yet no arrests have been made in the case, and Chief Johnson refuses absolutely to talk of the matter. At the office of the company it was stated that no money was taken as was reported, and nothing but material has been missing up to the present time.

Old Sewer Pipe Trust Interested.

LISBON, Feb. 27.—[Special]—The old Phoenix National bank, of Medina, has filed action against Alvin M. Winsper and the Central Sewer Pipe company.

The bank claims that Winsper is indebted to it in the sum of $1731.72 on two notes and secured by mortgage on lot 1226 in Leestonia. It also asks to be reimbursed to the extent of $89.70 for taxes it has paid. The Central Sewer Pipe company has claims to the property which it is asked to set up. The plaintiff asks for foreclosure.

Entered Suit For Tickets.

George F. Knowles & Co., this morning in the court of Squire Manley entered suit against William R. McCord, to recover $1.50, the cost of two seats to a performance given for the benefit of the hospital fund. The case is set for hearing March 6, at 4 o'clock.

Geo. F. Knowles this morning settled the bill of a local paper by paying 80 cents and the costs.

TWO FROZEN FEET MENTIONED

They Belong to the Young Man Who Took the Animal From His Father's Stable and Brought It to This Place Where It Was Found.

Several days ago a horse was left at the stable of Jack Allison, and as he did not know its owner the animal was turned over to Constable Miller who had about made up his mind to sell it when an owner appeared.

Saturday night a man named Landers, who resides in the northern part of the county, appeared and stated that the horse belonged to him, having been taken from his stable by his son, James Landers, who rode it to this city and sold it to F. D. Mosher, giving him a note stating that he had sold the horse to him. Mosher in turn traded the animal to John McLaughlin for $1.45, a watch and several other articles, but how the horse got to the stable of Allison is not known.

Landers had no trouble in proving that he owned the horse, but Allison refused to give it up unless he was paid $4 for feed. An effort was made to raise the money, and finally one of the parties went security for the amount and Landers started for his home with the horse.

While the boy was making his way to this city he had his feet frozen, and after selling the horse returned home where he is now suffering severely, and an effort was made to raise money to send him to the hospital, but it was not successful.

John McLaughlin received what he paid to Mosher for the horse, and the only persons who seemed to have lost by the transaction are Mosher and Landers.

REGIMENT TO BE MUSTERED OUT

CAMP MCKENZIE, AUGUSTA, GA., Feb. 24.

After a season of the coldest weather the people of this part of the country probably ever knew, the sun has come again, and there is much joy in consequence. The cold was intense while it lasted, although, like many other disagreeable things, the average soldier began to take it as a matter of course.

The good news has come at last. Orders were received during the week for the muster out of the Eighth and Thirtieth Pennsylvania and the First Maryland. March 4 was the date set for the important ceremony for the Thirtieth, but the books and accounts of some companies were not in proper condition, and the time was changed to March 11. The troops will all be discharged from service here, and provided with transportation money to place of enlistment. They can go home as they please.

Drills have been abolished, and nothing but a little monotonous guard duty occupies our time. A division review early in the week gave the boys one more good taste of the glories of military life and brought a great crowd of people from Augusta to see the soldiers parade.

In spite of the air of gladness which seems to make its presence felt everywhere we have had our share of excitement recently. It all came about by the shooting of a member of the Fifteenth Minnesota. He was instantly killed by a citizen. The act enraged his comrades, among whom he was popular, and many soldiers of the regiment decided to take the matter in their own hands. Breaking into the commissary they secured ammunition and took up the march to the city, seeking revenge. They were not far from the town when they were halted by the cavalry and provost marshal's guard, and an end speedily put to the trouble. The leaders were promptly put under arrest, and General Sumner announced that their punishment would be severe. The remainder were returned to camp, and for several days no soldier was permitted outside the guard line except on detail. It was an exciting episode, and gave a topic for general discussion.

Sickness in camp continues an annoyance, but there is not much of it now. The principal thing which seems to trouble the boys is the fact that they cannot be mustered out sooner.

AUSTIN VAN FOSSEN, Company E, Thirtieth Pennsylvania Infantry.

FOR COUNCIL.

A Number of Well Known Men Were Announced This Morning.

A number of candidates for council are announced today, among them being some names that will surprise the public.

F. M. Albright, of the French China company, is the first for the First ward, while Willard Morris, who was a candidate for the same position two years ago, is also announced.

Thomas S. Collins is a candidate from the Third ward.

In the Fourth ward the name of William Cuthbert is given as a positive candidate, and the friends of John Stamm, of the Union pottery, are endeavoring to have him make the race.

FOUR HUNDRED

Will Be Added to the City's Population by Extension.

The extension of the corporate limits which was decided upon Saturday by the county commissioners will add almost 400 people to the population of the city.

The councilmen are well satisfied with the decision of the commissioners as they will now have a chance when the roads are improved to assess a portion of the cost against the property owners.

Corner Loafing.

The nice weather Saturday caused a great many people to be on the streets and the Diamond was thronged at all times. Corner loafing was most conspicuous and at several places it was almost impossible to get through the crowd.

Miss Belle Azdell Is Now Mrs. F. E. Marshall.

Friends in this city have received the announcement that Miss Belle Azdell was on Feb. 21 married to F. E. Marshall at Denver, Colorado. They will be at home after March 15 at 3054 West Twenty-Ninth avenue.

Miss Azdell is well known in this city where she resided a number of years, and Mr. Marshall is a prosperous coal dealer of Denver.

WALL TORN DOWN.

Frost Caused Trouble at the Salem Pottery.

The Salem Herald of Saturday says: "This morning the brick wall on the south side of the new pottery was found to be out of plumb and it was necessary to tear it down. The cold weather had some effect on it undoubtedly. The work was only finished to the first story and it will not take much time to rebuild the part torn down. The wall on the east side of the building is in good shape."

Gunners' Patron Saint.

Why was St. Barbara chosen to be the patron saintess of all gunners? It is one of those things which are to be known and which one ought to know, but does not. Meanwhile there is the fact that she does intercede for all gunners by land or sea. In the old French navy the Ste. Barbe was the gun-room, and the name may be found with that meaning attached to it in all dictionaries. Moreover, in France she is the saint not only of gunners, but of all fire brigades. The sapeurs pompiers, who, for some mysterious reason, are a regular chopping block for jokes, hold their holiday on the day of her feast.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Horticulture Versus Theology.

Small Johnny had on his best clothes, and his mamma told him not to play in the dirt with them on.

"Don't they have any dirt in heaven to play in?" he asked.

"No, of course not," replied his mother.

"Then what do little boys do up there?" queried Johnny.

"Oh, they play harps and sing and sit under beautiful trees," was the reply.

"Well," said the little fellow, "I don't see how they can have trees if there ain't no dirt."—Houston Post.

For State Representative.

H. D. Cope, of Rogers, was in the city Saturday calling on a number of friends. Mr. Cope is a candidate for representative at the Republican primaries, and being well known throughout the county will doubtless poll a large vote. Mr. Cope is well known in this city.

SUBSTITUTE FOR RUBBER.

New Process For Oxidizing Vegetable Oils Said to Be Successful.

A new industry which has just been established upon an apparently firm basis in England uses for its raw material linseed oil or any of the other vegetable oils of similar properties. It promises to become of wide importance because its products partake of many of the qualities of india rubber and gutta percha, the supplies of which show a constant tendency to fall below the growing demands. That oils of this sort have in them qualities of high usefulness was discovered ages ago, when they were first used for paints, and the new industry takes advantage of the same quality of hardening by oxidation.

Linseed oil has been used for paints and varnishes for generations. It is well known that when the oil is spread out in a thin layer exposed to the air it absorbs oxygen and becomes very hard. When the oil is left in bulk exposed to the air, it gradually becomes "fatty," as it is called technically, or of a gummy consistency. Exposures of different periods will give any grade of hardness between these two. Other vegetable oils act in the same way, and many attempts have been made to take commercial advantage of these qualities. Some, like the manufacture of oilcloths and linoleum, have been very successful. The difficulty experienced heretofore in attempting to use the oxidized oils for other purposes has been the fact that it was mechanically impossible to accomplish the perfect and graded combination of the oxygen with the oil, as might be needed for the different purposes.

The general method adopted was to allow the oil to drip from the top to the bottom of a wide, suspended sheet of scrim, an open meshed textile fabric, while a current of air was driven upon it. By this method the surface of the oil was solidified, but the action did not extend all through it, and there was therefore a portion of unaffected oil held within, which was fatal to many of the uses which it was known might be made of a more perfect product.

Mr. Charles Grist of England has perfected a system by which it is asserted that this trouble is entirely overcome, and a large factory has been built where many articles are manufactured from the oils solidified by his process.

BATTLE BETWEEN ANTS.

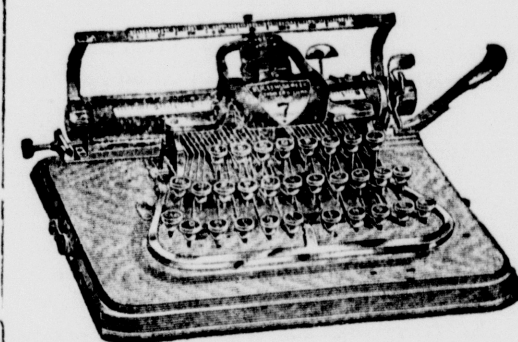

One Army Invades a School to Attack Another Living in the Walls.

A missionary who is in charge of the Catholic school at Mpala, on Lake Tanganyika, Africa, tells of an extraordinary battle between ants in his schoolroom, which the pupils and their teacher were compelled to abandon in haste when the invading foe appeared on the scene. The deserted room became the theater of a hotly contested battle between ants that had homes in the cracks of the stone walls and another species which advanced to the fight from the fields. The thousands of ants living in the walls are known to the natives as masumbolo. They are very large and black, and as it is almost impossible to get rid of them, and they have the excellent quantity of letting human beings alone, little attention is paid to them. The invading ants were not more than a third as large as the other species. They are called siafou and are nomads and thieves by nature. When they discovered the home of the peaceful black insects they felt certain that a rich booty of larvae awaited them and lost no time in advancing to the attack.

Their squadrons moved forward in close files. They clambered up the door steps and into the room, moving very rapidly and began the fiercest sort of an attack upon the enemy, whom they surprised at home engaged in their peaceful occupations. Though the masumbolo are so much larger than their fierce little enemies, they could not stand against these formidable aggressors, who are most effectively armed with the sharpest and hottest of pinchers. So the attacked insects made scarcely any resistance, but gathered up as much of their larvae as they could carry and fled at the top of their speed. They fairly carpeted the floor as they moved toward the doors, while their conquerors lost no time in further attack upon the unresisting fugitives, but began to pillage the city that had been so suddenly abandoned.

A few minutes later, however, the siafou paid very dearly for the raid they had made. Dozens of the school children applied wisps of burning straw to the cracks which the conquering ants had entered and burned them at the very place of their victory.

Anglo-American Dowries.

According to an estimate that has been made of the Anglo-American marriages during the past few years no fewer than 152 American women have married European noblemen. The dowries they have brought amount in the aggregate to rather more than £3,330,000, which would give an average fortune of some £20,000 to each of them.—London Chronicle.

High Prices in the Klondike.

According to a letter sent to a close friend by Manuel Freney, who left his home in Philadelphia last fall for the Klondike, says The Press, they know how to charge for things in that way below zero land. A prospector is charged $10 for a miner's license, which entitles him to cut timber in his immediate vicinity, and then he receives a bill of $20 from the timber agent when he exercises the prerogative of his license. The government, furthermore, compels each miner to pay a tribute of 10 per cent on all gold taken out in a season amounting to more than $500. Fifteen dollars must be paid to a recorder of claims. Each letter sent the Klondiker costs him $3. Cigars, of doubtful quality, range in price from 25 to 50 cents each, 10 cigarettes cost 50 cents, and smoking tobacco brings $4 a pound. A like amount of chewing tobacco in only 50 cents less, while a small window net its seller $20, and a Seattle newspaper, no matter what the date, can't be purchased for less than $2 per copy.

Memorial to Yeoman Henry Ellis.

Senator Chandler of New Hampshire wants to commemorate the memory of Henry Ellis, a yeoman on the cruiser Brooklyn, who was the only man in the north Atlantic fleet who lost his life during the naval battle off Santiago, when Cervera's fleet was destroyed. He introduced a resolution recently authorizing the secretary of the navy to erect a monument to the sailor's memory at some suitable place. Five thousand dollars is appropriated to defray the expenses of this project.—Chicago Tribune.

THE RUSSIANS WITH US

Ex-Embassador Hitchcock on Our Muscovite Relations.

THE CZAR'S SINCERE FRIENDSHIP

On the Day We Need Aid in the Far East Russia Will Be Found Ready to Assist Us—The Great Siberian Railway.

Ethan Allen Hitchcock, recently United States ambassador to the court of the czar of the Russias, has returned to this country to assume the duties of his new post as secretary of the interior. He appeared to regard with complacency the change from the palace on the Newski Prospect to the dingy little whitewashed room in the patent office at Washington.

"What was the sentiment in Russia regarding our war with Spain?" was asked by a reporter of the New York World upon his arrival on the Tonic. "In official circles the victory of the United States was regarded as a foregone conclusion. The great masses of the Russian people knew little about the conflict. Newspapers are not read in Russia to any great extent. Information travels slowly. The feeling of steadfast friendship for the American people that is found everywhere is inexpressible, but it could not be shaken by any diplomatic influence that any European power could exert. 'Tonjours fidele' is the phrase that every citizen of our country ought to write or utter whenever the name of Russia is seen or heard."

"Is she averse to our encroachments in the east?"

"Not in the slightest. She has her own plans regarding China, but they are commercial rather than imperial. She will not express joy or annoyance regarding the annexation of the Philippines, but she will stand ready to endorse our course at the time moral support is needed. The people of the United States never should forget for a single instant that, expressed or unexpressed, the friendship of the Russian czar has been and is with them. To doubt the undemonstrative fidelity of the czar and the imperial cabinet is unjust and thoughtless. Russia will be with us on that great day in which we shall need her help in the far east."

"Tell me about the czar's peace programme?" was the first suggestion.

"It is sincere and is so accepted by diplomatists who represent nations unfriendly to Russia," said Mr. Hitchcock. "I had my last audience with the czar three weeks ago at Moscow, and he expressed informally the utmost hopefulness regarding the outcome of the commission. Even though it should fail a vast amount of information will have been gathered as to the temper of the various powers, the views of their rulers and cabinets. That peace conference will be an epoch making assemblage. If the United States is to become the world power that is now clearly indicated, the work of that conference will be of vital interest to every citizen of this land."

"Tell us about the Siberian railway's progress?" was suggested.

"It is one of the greatest commercial enterprises of the century. The minister who is building it told me a month ago that trains would be running from Irkutsk to Vladivostok in 1902. He told me the earth then could be circumnavigated in 40 days. This is four years earlier than was originally expected, but the importance of the road has become so manifest that the utmost urgency has been enforced. It is wholly surveyed, and the rails are going down as fast as they can be got to their places. It is quite possible to travel by rail now from Nijni-Novgorod on the Volga to Irkutsk—made familiar to the civilized world by Jules Verne in 'Michael Strogoff'."

"What will be the final terminus on the Pacific?"

"It hasn't been officially promulgated, but you can say that it will be Tientsin, a fine harbor in Manchuria, little known, which will be made absolutely Russian. Port Arthur wouldn't suit though a branch line of railway will be run to that place."

"What is the traffic?"

"Passengers rather than freight. Where they originally intended to run one train a day each way they are now running six. The towns among the Siberian steppes are quite populous. The rates of fare in Russia are much lower than in any other part of the world. It is the intention of the Russian government to make a through rate from the Neva to the Pacific of about $60. The distance will be nearly 5,000 miles. Here the rate from New York to Chicago, 900 miles, seems quite cheap."

"Was it very cold at St. Petersburg when you left?"

"Not as we understand cold. Of course the Neva was frozen solid and teams were crossing it. Evergreens are set out in the ice to mark the continuation of streets across the water and present a very pretty picture. The opera theaters and the cafes are aglow with life in the coldest weather."

NOVEL SAVINGS INSTITUTE.

How Germany Encourages Thrift Among the Laboring Classes.

Walter Schumann, our consul at Mainz, Germany, describes in his report to the state department a novel savings institution. He says:

A few years ago the City Savings bank inaugurated a novel method for inducing people, especially the laboring class and small shopkeepers, to save their money. Instead of obliging the people to bring their savings to the bank, the bank undertook to collect from its depositors certain fixed sums weekly. The following is the method pursued: The application of the new depositor is made either in person or by letter, and must state the address at which the weekly deposit is to be collected and the amount. This amount may be either 50 pfennigs or 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 or 10 marks (1 mark equals 23.8 cents). The amount to be collected may be changed at any time.

On payment of the first deposit the depositor is furnished with a passbook, in which the amount of the first deposit and the date are entered. The following weekly deposits are not entered when collected, but only on presentation of the pass book at the bank when a withdrawal of money is made or at the end of the year to balance the account. The weekly amount is collected by employees of the institution, and as a receipt the depositor is given a printed coupon showing the amount collected, the date and the number of the pass book.

In order to insure prompt payment a coupon is presented by the collector. If a coupon which has been returned to the bank by the collector as unpaid is not paid within eight days, the institution reserves the right to close the depositor's account. All deposits made during one year draw interest from the 1st of January of the following year. The rate of interest is the same as paid by the savings bank on its ordinary accounts—at present 3½ per cent. Deposits may be withdrawn at any time on presentation of the passbook and the coupon for the last payment.

Following are the statistics of the savings banks at Mainz for the years 1896 and 1897: Collections for the year 1896 amounted to $165,392; in 1897 they were $176,170; number of depositors for these years was 5,263 and 5,485 respectively; the amounts withdrawn, $141,656 and $154,622; the balance due, $121,663 and $137,030. In 1898 the most popular sum for deposits was 2 marks (47.6 cents); number of depositors in this class was 1,730, the 50 pfennig class numbered 244 and the 10 mark class 357.

The Mainz branch has not been started by the savings bank as an institution of profit, but merely as an incentive for the poorer classes to save their earnings, and so far has met with great success.

BUFF EGGS THE FASHION.

A Farmers' Club Claims the Four Hundred Won't Eat White Ones.

If you want to be in the fashion in New York, you must eat eggs with buff colored shells. That fact leaked out at the monthly meeting of the Farmers' club the other afternoon in New York, where there was an egg exhibit.

The information about buff colored eggs being the most fashionable came from the Hampton farm, Poughkeepsie, which sent three platefuls of eggs to prove its case. The darkest colored, which are those eaten by the Four Hundred, are laid by Barred Plymouth Rocks. The product of other birds is barred by aristocrats who know the ropes.

"In England," said the farmer who brought the eggs down from Poughkeepsie, "it is the pure white eggs that are most in vogue, like that plateful laid by a white Leghorn. In the United States we don't eat the shells, and even if a white shell looks prettier we don't prefer it. The brown eggs have the best flavor. For once a society fad is justified by the facts."

In England it is customary for the egg eater to delve directly into the egg with a spoon and transfer the contents to the interior of the face. He can tell exactly the color of the shell he is getting, for it sits there in the egg cup. In the United States, where many citizens hire a waiter to pour the egg out into a glass before he brings it to the table, they are not protected against eggs of unfashionable color unless they insist on the shells being escorted into the room with the egg meat. Even in that case a treacherous waiter might get a couple of bug colored shells and serve them with every egg order indefinitely. The practice of dyeing white eggs into a fashionable tint is condemned unanimously by the Farmers' club.—New York Journal.

DEATH OF COLONEL CONGER.

Former Ohio National Committeeman Expired Suddenly at Des Moines.

DES MOINES, Feb. 27.—Colonel A. L. Conger died from a stroke of paralysis. He came here about a year ago from Akron, O., and established a college of osteopathy. He was for eight years a member of the Republican national committee from Ohio.

Mr. Conger was born at Boston, Summit county, O., on Feb. 19, 1838. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in the One Hundred and Fifteenth Ohio volunteer infantry. His legal acumen and fearless discharge of perilous duties soon gained for him promotion. At the close of the war he returned to Ohio and taught school at Peninsula. The Republicans of Summit county elected him treasurer in 1866 and re-elected him in 1868. In 1871 he removed to Akron and became a salesman for the Whitman & Mills Manufacturing company.

He became a stockholder, then a director and finally secured a consolidation with the George Barnes works of Syracuse, becoming the corporation's president and general manager. He gradually became interested in a large number of commercial enterprises in Akron and other cities. In 1883 President Arthur appointed him director of the Union Pacific railroad. He was also vice president of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company.

In 1864 he married Emily Volney, and to them there were born four sons.

AGAINST SEATING POLYGAMISTS.

The D. A. R. Congress Passed a Resolution at the Meeting in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Mrs. McLean, at a session of the D. A. R. here, offered the following resolution:

"Whereas, This house has abiding confidence in the honor of the congress of the United States.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled in congress of 1899, that the nation's law makers should, by the passage of suitable laws, make impossible the election of a polygamist to public office."

After having read the resolution, Mrs. McLean walked to the platform.

"Ladies," she said, "this resolution speaks for itself. It needs no comment."

Mrs. Peak of Iowa moved that the resolution be tabled. Several speakers who favored Mrs. McLean's resolution followed in rapid succession.

The resolution offered by Mrs. McLain was carried by a viva voce vote which seemed almost unanimous, one lady alone announcing a vociferous "no."

MONNETT AFTER RAILROADS.

Filed Suits Against Panhandle and C. & D., Alleging They Are in a Trust.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—On the ground that it was a trust, Attorney General Monnett attacked the Central Passenger association. He filed two suits in the supreme court to test the question, one against the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the other against the Panhandle.

He selected these two from the list of 33 roads composing the Central Passenger Association, the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton to represent the Ohio corporations belonging to the association, the Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis to represent the foreign corporations among its members.

A large number of commercial travelers requested the attorney general to institute these proceedings, but the Commercial Travelers' association is not officially concerned in the suits, nor is it backing the attack against the Central Passenger association. One chief point of attack, however, in the petitions filed is the interchangeable mileage ticket, with its $10 deposit feature.

BODIES PLACED ON A SHIP.

Dead Soldiers From Porto Rico to Be Brought Home.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The funeral ship Roumania, which is engaged in the sacred mission of bringing home the remains of the brave soldiers who lost their lives in Porto Rico and in Cuba completed its work so far as Porto Rico is concerned. The number of American dead on the island was comparatively small and their disinterment and removal to the transport occupied only about a week's time.

A telegram received by Colonel Moore of the quartermaster general's office says that the Roumania left Ponce Saturday for Santiago, where the principal work of the expedition will be done.

Funeral of Hon. B. J. Haywood.

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 27.—The funeral of Hon. B. J. Haywood Saturday afternoon was largely attended by state officials and prominent men. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, among them being designs from Richard Quay, J. S. Fruit and Henry F. Walton of Philadelphia. The remains were conveyed to the Presbyterian church. Hundreds of people were unable to gain admittance. The body was in a handsome massive casket. The name plate bore the simple inscription, "B. J. Haywood, 1849-1899," and while lying in state at the Carver house was viewed by hundreds of people.

Salisbury Rides a Wheel.

A London cablegram says that Lord Salisbury has become a cyclist. He learned the art of wheeling in the privacy of a riding school attached to his historic residence in Hatfield and now ventures on the paths through his park. He rides a bicycle specially constructed for him, his weight being 240 pounds.

Arthur Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, still cycles, but wheeling is no longer a fashionable craze in England.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others? The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

THE RUSSIANS WITH US

Ex-Embassador Hitchcock on Our Muscovite Relations.

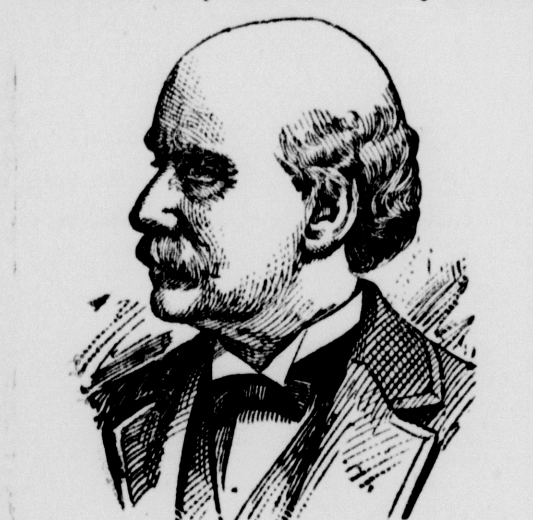

THE OZAR'S SINCERE FRIENDSHIP

On the Day We Need Aid in the Far East Russia Will Be Found Ready to Assist Us—The Great Siberian Railway.

Ethan Allen Hitchcock, recently United States ambassador to the court of the czar of the Russians, has returned to this country to assume the duties of his new post as secretary of the interior. He appeared to regard with complacency the change from the palace on the Newski Prospect to the dingy little whitewashed room in the patent office at Washington.

"What was the sentiment in Russia regarding our war with Spain?" was asked by a reporter of the New York World upon his arrival on the Tonic.

"In official circles the victory of the United States was regarded as a foregone conclusion. The great masses of the Russian people knew little about the conflict. Newspapers are not read in Russia to any great extent. Information travels slowly. The feeling of steadfast friendship for the American people that is found everywhere is inapplicable, but it could not be shaken by any diplomatic influence that any European power could exert. 'Toujours fidele' is the phrase that every citizen of our country ought to write or utter whenever the name of Russia is seen or heard."

"Is she averse to our encroachments in the east?"

"Not in the slightest. She has her own plans regarding China, but they are commercial rather than imperial. She will not express joy or annoyance regarding the annexation of the Philippines, but she will stand ready to endorse our course at the time moral support is needed. The people of the United States never should forget for a single instant that, expressed or unexpressed, the friendship of the Russian czar has been and is with them. To doubt the undemonstrative fidelity of the czar and the imperial cabinet is unjust and thoughtless. Russia will be with us on that great day in which we shall need her help in the far east."

"Tell me about the czar's peace programme?"

"It is sincere and is so accepted by diplomats who represent nations unfriendly to Russia," said Mr. Hitchcock. "I had my last audience with the czar three weeks ago at Moscow, and he expressed informally the utmost hopefulness regarding the outcome of the commission. Even though it should fail a vast amount of information will have been gathered as to the temper of the various powers, the views of their rulers and cabinets. That peace conference will be an epoch making assemblage. If the United States is to become the world power that is now clearly indicated, the work of that conference will be of vital interest to every citizen of this land."

"Tell us about the Siberian railway's progress?"

"It is one of the greatest commercial enterprises of the century. The minister who is building it told me a month ago that trains would be running from Irkutsk to Vladivostok in 1902. He told me the earth then could be circumnavigated in 40 days. This is four years earlier than was originally expected, but the importance of the road has become so manifest that the utmost urgency has been enforced. It is wholly surveyed, and the rails are going down as fast as they can be got to their places. It is quite possible to travel by rail now from Nijni-Novgorod on the Volga to Irkutsk—made familiar to the civilized world by Jules Verne in 'Michael Strogoff'."

"It hasn't been officially promulgated, but you can say that it will be Tientsin, a fine harbor in Manchuria, little known, which will be made absolutely Russian. Port Arthur wouldn't suit though a branch line of railway will be run to that place."

"What is the traffic?"

"Passengers rather than freight. Where they originally intended to run one train a day each way they are now running six. The towns among the Siberian steppes are quite populous. The rates of fare in Russia are much lower than in any other part of the world. It is the intention of the Russian govern-

"Was it very cold at St. Petersburg when you left?"

"Not as we understand cold. Of course the Neva was frozen solid and teams were crossing it. Evergreens are set out in the ice to mark the continuation of streets across the water and present a very pretty picture. The opera, the theaters and the cafes are aglow with life in the coldest weather."

NOVEL SAVINGS INSTITUTE.

How Germany Encourages Thrift Among the Laboring Classes.

Walter Schumann, our consul at Mainz, Germany, describes in his report to the state department a novel savings institution. He says:

A few years ago the City Savings bank inaugurated a novel method for inducing people, especially the laboring class and small shopkeepers, to save their money. Instead of obliging the people to bring their savings to the bank, the bank undertook to collect from its depositors certain fixed sums weekly. The following is the method pursued: The application of the new depositor is made either in person or by letter, and must state the address at which the weekly deposit is to be collected and the amount. This amount may be either 50 pfennigs or 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 or 10 marks (1 mark equals 23.8 cents). The amount to be collected may be changed at any time.

On payment of the first deposit the depositor is furnished with a passbook, in which the amount of the first deposit and the date are entered. The following weekly deposits are not entered when collected, but only on presentation of the pass book at the bank when a withdrawal of money is made or at the end of the year to balance the account. The weekly amount is collected by employees of the institution, and as a receipt the depositor is given a printed coupon showing the amount collected, the date and the number of the pass book.

In order to insure prompt payment a coupon is presented by the collector. If a coupon which has been returned to the bank by the collector as unpaid is not paid within eight days, the institution reserves the right to close the depositor's account. All deposits made during one year draw interest from the 1st of January of the following year. The rate of interest is the same as paid by the savings bank on its ordinary accounts—at present 3½ per cent. Deposits may be withdrawn at any time on presentation of the passbook and the coupon for the last payment.

Following are the statistics of the savings banks at Mainz for the years 1896 and 1897: Collections for the year 1896 amounted to $165,392; in 1897 they were $176,170; number of depositors for these years was 5,263 and 5,485 respectively; the amounts withdrawn, $141,656 and $154,622; the balance due, $121,663 and $137,030. In 1898 the most popular sum for deposits was 2 marks (47.6 cents); number of depositors in this class was 1,730, the 50 pfennig class numbered 244 and the 10 mark class 357.

The Mainz branch has not been started by the savings bank as an institution of profit, but merely as an incentive for the poorer classes to save their earnings, and so far has met with great success.

BUFF EGGS THE FASHION.

A Farmers' Club Claims the Four Hundred Won't Eat White Ones.

If you want to be in the fashion in New York, you must eat eggs with buff colored shells. That fact leaked out at the monthly meeting of the Farmers' club the other afternoon in New York, where there was an egg exhibit.

The information about buff colored eggs being the most fashionable came from the Hampton farm, Poughkeepsie, which sent three platefuls of eggs to prove its case. The darkest colored, which are those eaten by the Four Hundred, are laid by Barred Plymouth Rocks. The product of other birds is barred by aristocrats who know the ropes.

"In England," said the farmer who brought the eggs down from Poughkeepsie, "it is the pure white eggs that are most in vogue, like that plateful laid by a white Leghorn. In the United States we don't eat the shells, and even if a white shell looks prettier we don't prefer it. The brown eggs have the best flavor. For once a society fad is justified by the facts."

In England it is customary for the egg eater to delve directly into the egg with a spoon and transfer the contents to the interior of the face. He can tell exactly the color of the shell he is getting, for it sits there in the egg cup. In the United States, where many citizens hire a waiter to pour the egg out into a glass before he brings it to the table, they are not protected against eggs of unfashionable color unless they insist on the shells being escorted into the room with the egg meat. Even in that case a treacherous waiter might get a couple of bug colored shells and serve them with every egg order indefinitely. The practice of dyeing white eggs into a fashionable tint is condemned unanimously by the Farmers' club.—New York Journal.

DEATH OF COLONEL CONGER.

Former Ohio National Committeeman Expired Suddenly at Des Moines.

DES MOINES, Feb. 27.—Colonel A. L. Conger died from a stroke of paralysis. He came here about a year ago from Akron, O., and established a college of osteopathy. He was for eight years a member of the Republican national committee from Ohio.

Mr. Conger was born at Boston, Summit county, O., on Feb. 19, 1838. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in the One Hundred and Fifteenth Ohio volunteer infantry. His legal acumen and fearless discharge of perilous duties soon gained for him promotion. At the close of the war he returned to Ohio and taught school at Peninsula. The Republicans of Summit county elected him treasurer in 1866 and re-elected him in 1868. In 1871 he removed to Akron and became a salesman for the Whitman & Mills Manufacturing company.

He became a stockholder, then a director and finally secured a consolidation with the George Barnes works of Syracuse, becoming the corporation's president and general manager. He gradually became interested in a large number of commercial enterprises in Akron and other cities. In 1883 President Arthur appointed him director of the Union Pacific railroad. He was also vice president of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company.

In 1864 he married Emily Volney, and to them there were born four sons.

AGAINST SEATING POLYGAMISTS.

The D. A. R. Congress Passed a Resolution at the Meeting in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Mrs. McLean, at a session of the D. A. R. here, offered the following resolution:

"Whereas, This house has abiding confidence in the honor of the congress of the United States.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled in congress of 1899, that the nation's law makers should, by the passage of suitable laws, make impossible the election of a polygamist to public office."

After having read the resolution, Mrs. McLean walked to the platform.

"Ladies," she said, "this resolution speaks for itself. It needs no comment."

Mrs. Peak of Iowa moved that the resolution be tabled. Several speakers who favored Mrs. McLean's resolution followed in rapid succession.

MONNETT AFTER RAILROADS.

Filed Suits Against Panhandle and C. & H. & A., Alleging They Are In a Trust.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—On the ground that it was a trust, Attorney General Monnett attacked the Central Passenger association. He filed two suits in the supreme court to test the question, one against the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the other against the Panhandle.

He selected these two from the list of 33 roads composing the Central Passenger Association, the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton to represent the Ohio corporations belonging to the association, the Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis to represent the foreign corporations among its members.

A large number of commercial travelers requested the attorney general to institute these proceedings, but the Commercial Travelers' association is not officially concerned in the suits, nor is it backing the attack against the Central Passenger association. One chief point of attack, however, in the petitions filed is the interchangeable mileage ticket, with its $10 deposit feature.

BODIES PLACED ON A SHIP.

Dead Soldiers From Porto Rico to Be Brought Home.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The funeral ship Roumania, which is engaged in the sacred mission of bringing home the remains of the brave soldiers who lost their lives in Porto Rico and in Cuba completed its work so far as Porto Rico is concerned. The number of American dead on the island was comparatively small and their disinterment and removal to the transport occupied only about a week's time.

A telegram received by Colonel Moore of the quartermaster general's office says that the Roumania left Ponce Saturday for Santiago, where the principal work of the expedition will be done.

Funeral of Hon. B. J. Haywood.

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 27.—The funeral of Hon. B. J. Haywood Saturday afternoon was largely attended by state officials and prominent men. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, among them being designs from Richard Quay, J. S. Fruit and Henry F. Walton of Philadelphia. The remains were conveyed to the Presbyterian church. Hundreds of people were unable to gain admittance. The body was in a handsome massive casket. The name plate bore the simple inscription, "B. J. Haywood, 1849-1899," and while lying in state at the Carver house was viewed by hundreds of people.

Salisbury Rides a Wheel.

A London cablegram says that Lord Salisbury has become a cyclist. He learned the art of wheeling in the privacy of a riding school attached to his historic residence in Hatfield and now ventures on the paths through his park. He rides a bicycle specially constructed for him, his weight being 240 pounds.

Arthur Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, still cycles but wheeling is no longer a fashionable craze in England.

UNION LABELS.

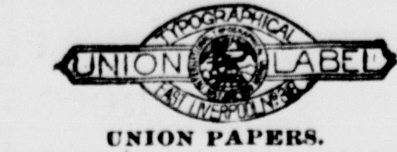

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others?

News comes from Madrid that the situation at Manila is serious. Had it come from any other source it might be believed.

RUDYARD KIPLING is making a plucky fight for life, and the thousands of Americans who have learned to know him sincerely hope he will be victorious.

If the Filipinos think they can frighten Uncle Sam's soldiers by noise they will not be long in discovering their error. Our soldiers come from a country where all kinds of noises are by no means unknown.

THE RIGHT MAN.

The public affairs of the average municipality are not a matter for much consideration on the part of citizens who are directly interested. Each man who asks a responsible position at the hands of the people should be known, and if he can be trusted to carry out the promises candidates so often make there is no reason why he should not win. But see that the man for whom you vote is the right man.

MR. HANNA'S VICTORY.

If Hon. Mark Hanna is the man to recognize a triumph, he is without question in a happy frame of mind today. It has been announced in Washington that the committee on privileges and elections of the senate have acquitted him of the charge of bribery in securing his election, while in Cleveland Hon. V. H. Burke, one of his accusers, has been disbarred from the practice of his profession because of irregularities. The public can draw its conclusion from the facts given.

CONGRESSMAN JOHNSON.

The Hon. Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, is better known today than when a misguided but enthusiastic constituency elevated him to a seat in the house of representatives, but it must not be understood that Mr. Johnson has won fame. Instead he has simply become notorious. Had he given to the world something by which humanity would have been uplifted, performed some deed of valor, or even accomplished some feat that would not live longer than his life, he might have some claim on distinction. But Mr. Johnson has done none of these. He has only abused and maligned the President of the United States. He has sought to build for himself a place in the annals of his country by adopting as his foundation the most contemptible course known to public men. He has not made history. He has, with all his studied metaphors of malignity, accomplished nothing more than the creation of public astonishment. If Mr. Johnson has in preparation another vicious attack on the President or if he has a score of them, the result will doubtless be the same. Long after he is gathered home to his fathers and the cause which he pretends to champion, but which he possibly uses as a cloak while he works out some fancied injury, has ceased to be a memory, the name of William McKinley will be remembered as that of a true American. Men like Mr. Johnson build nothing but tottering, temporary structures.

Another Story of a Sewer Pipe Trust Is Afloat.

OHIO VALLEY PLANTS ARE IN

While the Akron District Is Well Represented—Fifteen or Twenty Companies Are Credited With Being Back of the Movement—Ninety Per Cent Controlled.

The question of a sewer pipe trust has come to the surface again, this time from a source where they do not issue trust charters or make the material in question. It is a dispatch from Washington which says:

"Reliable information comes tonight from a gentleman interested in the project that a combination of sewer pipe manufacturers is about to be accomplished. The promoters of the plan have been working for its consummation in New York City for more than a week, and their efforts are about to prove successful. Options by all the concerns to be included in the combination have just been submitted to the organization committee, and now all that remains to be done is to equalize the distribution of capital stock among the interested parties.

"Between 15 and 20 sewer pipe companies will make up the combination when it is completed, and many of these will be Ohio concerns. Among them can be mentioned the following: The National Sewer Pipe company, Barberton; the Akron Sewer Pipe company, Robinson Bros. & Co., Whitmore, Robinson & Co., the Summit Sewer Pipe company and the Buckeye Sewer Pipe company, all of Akron. There are nearly a dozen other manufacturers of pipe who are located in the Ohio valley who are also on the list, and one concern in Huntingdon, Pa. The new company will have an aggregate capitalization of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, and will control 90 per cent of the sewer pipe output of the United States."

ANOTHER STORY.

An Akron Man Has a Few Words on the Combination.

E. H. Gibbs, secretary of the Summit Sewer Pipe company, of Akron is quoted as saying that the prospectus of the new combination would be issued today or Tuesday. "The new company will be known as the American Sewer Pipe company," he said, "and will have headquarters either in Pittsburg or Cleveland. It will be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and will have a capital stock of $25,000,000. Half of this will be cumulative preferred stock and half common stock. Of this capital $20,000,000 will be used in purchasing the 51 plants, on which the new company has options. Thirty-one of them are located in the Ohio district, three are at Uhrichsville, three in Michigan, three in Indiana, three in New York and eight in the Akron district. All of these plants have been satisfactorily appraised. The combine will have a working capital of $5,000,000."

SPAIN VICTORIOUS

Would Have Been the Result Had She Been Right Said Rev. Mr. Whitehead.

Services at the First Presbyterian church last evening were largely attended and Doctor Lee delivered an eloquent sermon upon "Some sensible excuses for not being a Christian and what they do for us." The choir rendered very pleasing selections while the male quartet sang two numbers. A short after meeting was held after the close of the regular services.

Prof. O. S. Reed yesterday occupied the pulpit of the Christian church, and was greeted by large audiences, in the evening the house being so crowded that many people were unable to obtain seats. The subject of his discourse was "What Would Jesus Do?" and the sermon was a very eloquent one, receiving the marked attention of the entire audience.

Rev. C. F. Swift yesterday morning at the Methodist Protestant church preached the annual sermon to the Ladies' Missionary society of that church. The service was well attended. Last night Reverend Whitehead, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, Southside, Pittsburg, preached to a large congregation. During his discourse the speaker said: "God is always on the right side. If Spain had been right, even though a weak nation, and the United States wrong, and a strong nation, the result of the various battles would have been different from what they were."

Doctor Weir, president of Scio college, yesterday occupied the pulpit of the First M. E. church and delivered two very eloquent addresses. Doctor Crawford, pastor of the church, was able to be present at the evening service for the first time in many weeks and made a few remarks.

The revival services now being conducted by the Free Methodists in the chapel are productive of good results. The meetings held yesterday resulted in six conversions.

NINE WERE IN JAIL.

City Prison Well Filled With Offenders.

Nine persons spent yesterday in jail, the largest number who have been kept in custody over Sunday for several weeks. Mayor Bough did not appear at city hall during the morning, and no hearings were held until late this afternoon.

Saturday Thompson Hineman, Chester, and Edward Hunselman and Charles Nelson were put in jail, with charges of suspicion against them. Orders were given by Chief Johnson to let no one see the men, and at noon today the charge had not been changed. Chief Johnson would not say any thing about the men, but it was learned that charges of burglary would be made. The officers have been calling upon the persons who have been robbed recently, but with what result is not made known. The men will be heard this evening.

The charge of intoxication against James Mullen will probably be changed. When he was being put in jail he said to the officer that he "supposed it was about the goods." The remark led to investigation and the authorities now have in their possession some dry goods, for which they would like to find an owner.

A man named Davidson, who claimed to be a Wellsville Democrat, was locked up Saturday night on a charge of intoxication. He was given a ride in the patrol in charge of Officer Mahony.

William Rigby was drunk in Seventh street Saturday night and was enjoying himself when Officers McCullough and O'Donnell gathered him in and took him to jail in the wagon. He is charged with being drunk.

Charles Carraher, who was fined $9.60 Friday, and Ben Scott who was assessed a similar amount Thursday, are still in custody. What disposition will be made of them cannot be learned.

WATER MAIN BURST.

It Had Been Frozen For Several Weeks.

The small water main between the Calcutta road and Lincoln avenue on Spring street, which has been frozen for some time, burst this morning and the water flowed down over Lincoln avenue in a large stream. It was shut off by the water department before any damage was done.

Experience of Lieutenant Castner and Two Men.

BATTLING WITH HUNGER AND COLD

The Party Set Out to Locate an American Trail to Circle City. Lost Their Pack Mules and Got Out of Food.

Edwin F. Glenn of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, who is now in Washington, has received a long letter from Second Lieutenant Joseph C. Castner of the Fourth Infantry about the experiences of himself and two enlisted men in the Klondike country. Lieutenant Castner was given up for lost. He left Captain Glenn on Aug. 3, 1898, at Camp Separation on the Delta river, starting with Privates Blitch and McGregor of the Fourteenth Infantry to locate an American trail to Circle City. The three men had several narrow escapes from death. They had a thrilling experience in crossing the Tanana river nearly losing their lives and barely getting their two pack mules to the other side. A few days later it became necessary to abandon one of the mules. To make matters worse it was discovered that extra provisions, supposed to have been brought along, were not in the packs. Leaving the river the party traveled through five swamps in one day and made only nine and a half miles. On the following day they again came to the river, and in attempting to cross Lieutenant Castner was carried off his feet by the swift current and was badly handicapped by having a sketching case in one hand and an ax in the other. He was thrown against a timber jam and stunned, but managed to reach the shore a mile below. He lost the ax owned by the party. A raft was made by Blitch and McGregor and Lieutenant Castner was safely carried across the stream. Matters became serious. Lieutenant Castner's shoes were almost gone, and all were weak through lack of enough food. The only hope was to get to Blitch creek, where Lieutenant Castner hoped to find miners. No open country could be seen. Hills from 2,000 to 5,000 feet high, with snowcapped peaks, were every where.

On Sept. 10 the party set out toward the northeast. Bread was only had every third day. The feet of the men were in a terrible condition, with great sores on them. The trail became more difficult, and as they had no ax they were compelled to break a way with their hands. On Sept. 11 Jack, the other mule, fell and deliberately let himself roll into the icy river. Jack was killed, and his body furnished the party with 40 pounds of meat. Shouldering their provisions, the men set out up stream through a heavy rain. Jack's flesh was diseased, but hunger drove away their scruples.

On Sept. 13 Lieutenant Castner ordered the abandonment of blankets and everything except firearms and food. The clothing of the men was in shreds, and Lieutenant Castner's feet were wrapped in canvas, his shoes having given out days before. A small slice of bacon, with coffee, formed the breakfast, everything else being gone. With the hope of seeing the tributaries of the Yukon, a mountain 3,500 feet high was scaled. No open country was found, and, with no strength to climb and no provisions, the party turned back, hoping to get some game.

On Sept. 17 an old wolf and three young ones were encountered. Private Blitch killed one of the younger ones. The animals were at first thought to be Indian dogs. The wolf meat was found to be excellent, tasting very much like mutton. A raft was built on Sept. 18, and on the 19th the party started down the river. Rounding a sharp turn, the raft was thrown with great force under a huge timber jam. Private Blitch and Lieutenant Castner were caught in the timbers. McGregor could not swim and was ordered to get off the raft on to the jam, while Lieutenant Castner and Blitch up to their shoulders in the swift current, tried to rescue the guns and provisions. They gave up the effort and had to help each other to reach the shore. Everything was lost.

Ten miles below were the remnants of a dead mule. Lieutenant Castner made the distance in his stocking feet. The mule's body was found to be badly decomposed, and little of it had been left by ravens and wolves. On the morning of Sept. 20 the three men, with some of the mule meat, set out for an Indian village 65 miles away. With their feet bleeding at every step and almost mad from hunger the men pushed on. Here and there they found a handful of berries and occasionally roots, which they eagerly gnawed. Finally on Sept. 25 they staggered into a little Indian village and asked for food and shelter. They were hospitably received and every possible attention given them.

Two days later Lieutenant Castner, Blitch and McGregor started down the river in birch bark canoes with the Indians and reached the mouth of the Chena river on Sept. 30. Blitch and McGregor could go no farther and were left at an Indian camp. Lieutenant Castner proceeded up the Chena river 85 miles, where he found a steamboat and white men. He purchased at enormous prices a boat and provisions and returned to the camp where the soldiers had been left. He reached there on Oct. 6 and a few days later the three men managed to get to Weare, Alaska. At the time his letter was written Lieutenant Castner was still unable to get his shoes on. He could not then walk over a mile a day in moccasins.

TELEPHONES IN HAWAII.

They Form an Important Factor in the Business of the Islands.

Nowhere in the world, perhaps is the telephone a greater factor in life than in Hawaii, says a Honolulu correspondent of the Chicago Record. In the islands there are about 2,000 telephones to a population of 110,000, or one telephone to every 52 inhabitants. On the island of Oahu, on which Honolulu is situated, there are 1,090 telephones to a population of about 45,000, or about one to each 41 of the population.

The telephone was introduced here in the latter part of 1880 and soon became an established part of the business, social and political life of the country. It may sound strange to use the word "political" in this connection, but it is true in a sober and literal sense, for in every revolution that has been planned or attempted the seizure and control of the central telephone office has always been one of the first strategic moves thought of.

The telephone is much more of a public institution here than it is in most places. Isolated as the islands are, the arrival of a steamship from a foreign land is of personal interest to almost every individual. The government maintains a lookout station on Diamond Head, from which approaching vessels in any direction can be sighted while still from 20 to 40 miles distant, depending on the state of the atmosphere. As soon as a steamer is sighted "central" is notified. "Central" then notifies the pilot office, the port physician, the board of health, the custom house, the postoffice, the newspaper offices and a few other persons who have a particular interest in getting early information of this character. Then the electric light company is notified, and it gives two long whistles if the steamer is from America and three if it is from any other part of the world. For two minutes after these whistles are blown no telephone connections are made, but the force at "central" keeps repeating the name of the steamer and its location, as "Australia off Koko Head," or "China off Waianae," so that all any individual needs to do is to go to the nearest telephone, put the receiver to his ear and listen and he will know what steamer it is, where it is, and if he has lived here any length of time he can form an accurate judgment as to how long it will be before the steamer will be at the wharf.

If the steamer brings any striking piece of news of general interest, "central" gives it to everybody who calls up for a connection. In this way the destruction of the Maine was known all over this island within ten minutes after the Zealandia, which brought the news, was at the wharf.

If an important personage dies, the news is distributed in the same way, and "central" can always be depended on to give the hour and place of a funeral as soon as the hour has been fixed. In New York and Chicago, if you want to make an inquiry, you ask a policeman. In Honolulu you ask "central."

The meat markets have a list of their regular customers at "central," and at about 6 o'clock each evening "central" calls them all up in order and takes their orders for the next morning's breakfast.

New Industries in the South.

The Chattanooga Tradesman says that among the more important of the new industries reported in the week ended Feb. 11 are brick and lime works in Alabama, brick and tile works in Arkansas, coal mining developments in north Georgia and upper east Tennessee, cotton mills in Georgia and North Carolina, the latter a $500,000 plant; a 30-ton cottonseed oil mill in Texas, a fertilizer factory in West Virginia, a large flour mill in South Carolina, a 100-stamp gold milling plant and another gold mining company in the Dahlonega district, a $10,000 hardware company in Texas, ice factories in Kentucky and Virginia, a $100,000 lumber company in Florida, a nail mill in West Virginia, two planing mills in Georgia and one in Kentucky, sawmills in Tennessee and West Virginia, a saw works in Virginia, a spoke and handle factory in west Tennessee, a large tannery in east Tennessee, two telephone companies in Kentucky and a wood working plant in Alabama.

Old and New Guard of the Tomb of Washington.

SURVEY FOR BIG RAILWAY LINE

Commission Appointed Ten Years Ago Makes Its Report as to the Feasibility of the Argentine Route. Mr. Cassatt's Report

Few of the millions of people who have visited Mount Vernon during the last half century, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record, could have overlooked the picturesque and stalwart figure of Uncle Edmund Parker, the old colored man who reverently guarded the tomb of Washington. His courtly and dignified manners, his deeply marked face and the respectful courtesy with which he answered questions made an impression upon every one. He was tall of stature, but his shoulders were slightly bent with age and his beard and hair of late years became sprinkled with gray.

The old man died with the old year and is greatly missed by all the habitués of that sacred place, for he had been there since 1841, with occasional intervals of absence during the war. He was born in 1827 at Blakely farm, near Charleston, W. Va., a slave of Mrs. John Augustine Washington, and came with her to Mount Vernon.

Uncle Edmund was the father of 19 children, nine of whom are still living and visited him during his illness. He "disremembered" the date, but was very proud of the fact that he was married in the library of Mount Vernon mansion by Parson Libbey in the presence of the Washington family and was the only slave who ever had that honor. In olden times in the south masters used to perform the marriage ceremony, but on the occasion of Edmund's wedding Augustine Washington was ill, and Parson Libbey, who was a member of the family circle, was called upon to officiate.

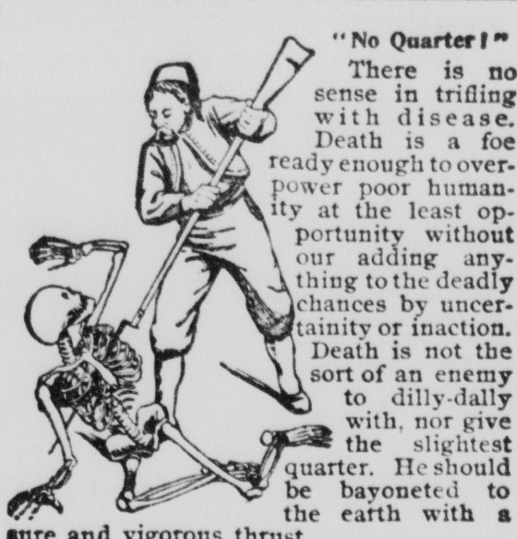

Uncle Edmund's successor as guard of the tomb of Washington is Thomas Bushrod, another venerable negro, who for the last eight years has been sexton at Pohick church, in Fairfax county, Va., with which Washington was so closely identified. Washington served on the committee that selected the site and superintended its construction and was a vestryman and warden of the parish for many years.

Thomas Bushrod was born in 1825 near Warrenton, Farquhar county. He was a slave of the Fitz-Hugh family from 1847, when his home was changed to a plantation near Pohick church, in Fairfax county, where he has since lived.

One of the most important acts of the pan-American conference which met in Washington in 1889 was to arrange for a survey of an intercontinental railway line, as proposed by Hinton R. Helper many years ago, from the terminus of the Mexican Southern system on the isthmus of Tehuantepec to the northern terminus of the Argentine system at Jujuj, in the province of Salta, near the boundary of Bolivia. It is just ten years since the action of the conference was taken, and the reports of the commission which was appointed to supervise the survey are now handed to the president in printed form. They consist of four volumes of text and three volumes of maps and profiles. The first volume is devoted to a general account of the project and a description of the country through which the line is proposed to pass. The second volume is devoted to the work of the surveying parties in Central America, the third to Colombia and Ecuador and the fourth to Peru and Bolivia.

Mr. Alexander J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad was the chairman of the commission and had the general direction of the survey. The Central American party was in charge of Lieutenant McComb of the United States army. William F. Shunk of Pennsylvania was in command of the second party and J. Imbre Miller of the third. Their descriptions and notes are profusely illustrated with maps and engravings, and are exceedingly interesting. It was not intended to make a definite location, nor even a definite preliminary survey, but to ascertain the practicability of constructing a trunk line along the backbone of the hemisphere.

Exports of breadstuffs for January footed up $25,620,440, which is a slight advance on the same month last year. For the seven months ending Jan. 31 the export trade in breadstuffs was $168,296,561, which is $15,222,040 less than for the same period of last year. The falling off was entirely due to the war. The export trade in July and August fell about $2,000,000 below that of the two preceding months. It is worth noting that the exports of breadstuffs for the three months from Nov. 1 to Feb. 1 largely exceeded the foreign shipments for the whole year of 1895 during the Cleveland administration. The exports of provisions for January were only a few hundreds of thousands greater than for January 1898, the great foreign movement coming from good crops and high prices for breadstuffs rather than meats.

"No Quarter!" There is no sense in trifling with disease. Death is a foe ready enough to overpower poor humanity at the least opportunity without our adding anything to the deadly chances by uncertainty or inaction. Death is not the sort of an enemy to dilly-dally with, nor give the slightest quarter. He should be bayoneted to the earth with a sure and vigorous thrust.

There is just one medicine which can be counted on with absolute certainty to overcome the deadly assault of wasting disease and restore the rugged, masterly power of perfect health. The "Golden Medical Discovery" of Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., creates that keen digestive and nutritive capacity, which makes healthy, nourishing red blood, and keeps it pure and alive with bounding vitality. It nourishes, vitalizes and builds up every organ and tissue in the body; tones the liver; heals the lungs; strengthens the heart, and restores complete energy and cheerfulness.

"I had been troubled for several years with spells of liver complaint," writes H. N. Dransfield, Esq., of Sweet Springs, Monroe Co., W. Va., "and about two years ago my health gave way. I tried Sarsaparilla. I was getting worse all the time. I had a weakness in my left side and limbs, palpitation of the heart at times, cramping pains in the stomach after eating; nerves weak, and no energy for anything. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and began to mend from the start. I soon felt like a new person. I am now enjoying splendid health and have a splendid appetite, good digestion, and also a peaceful, quiet mind."

Dr. Pierce's thousand-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser" contains over two hundred reliable prescriptions, with directions for self-treatment of all such diseases as are curable without a physician. Anatomy, physiology and the laws of reproduction are explained, with over seven hundred illustrations. One copy, paper-covered, sent absolutely free for one-cent stamps to pay cost of postage only. Address, World's Dispensary, Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., in a handsome cloth binding.

TELEPHONES IN HAWAII.

They Form an Important Factor in the Business of the Islands.

Nowhere in the world, perhaps, is the telephone a greater factor in life than in Hawaii, says a Honolulu correspondent of the Chicago Record. In the islands there are about 2,000 telephones to a population of 110,000, or one telephone to every 52 inhabitants. On the island of Oahu, on which Honolulu is situated, there are 1,090 telephones to a population of about 45,000, or about one to each 41 of the population.

The telephone was introduced here in the latter part of 1880 and soon became an established part of the business, social and political life of the country. It may sound strange to use the word "political" in this connection, but it is true in a sober and literal sense, for in every revolution that has been planned or attempted the seizure and control of the central telephone office has always been one of the first strategic moves thought of.

The telephone is much more of a public institution here than it is in most places. Isolated as the islands are, the arrival of a steamship from a foreign land is of personal interest to almost every individual. The government maintains a lookout station on Diamond Head, from which approaching vessels in any direction can be sighted while still from 20 to 40 miles distant, depending on the state of the atmosphere. As soon as a steamer is sighted "central" is notified. "Central" then notifies the pilot office, the port physician, the board of health, the custom house, the postoffice, the newspaper offices and a few other persons who have a particular interest in getting early information of this character. Then the electric light company is notified, and it gives two long whistles if the steamer is from America and three if it is from any other part of the world. For two minutes after these whistles are blown no telephone connections are made, but the force at "central" keeps repeating the name of the steamer and its location, as "Australia off Koko Head," or "China off Waianae," so that all any individual needs to do is to go to the nearest telephone, put the receiver to his ear and listen and he will know what steamer it is, where it is, and if he has lived here any length of time he can form an accurate judgment as to how long it will be before the steamer will be at the wharf.

If the steamer brings any striking piece of news of general interest, "central" gives it to everybody who calls up for a connection. In this way the destruction of the Maine was known all over this island within ten minutes after the Zealandia, which brought the news, was at the wharf.

If an important personage dies, the news is distributed in the same way, and "central" can always be depended on to give the hour and place of a funeral as soon as the hour has been fixed. In New York and Chicago, if you want to make an inquiry, you ask a policeman. In Honolulu you ask "central."

The meat markets have a list of their regular customers at "central," and at about 6 o'clock each evening "central" calls them all up in order and takes their orders for the next morning's breakfast.

New Industries in the South.

The Chattanooga Tradesman says that among the more important of the new industries reported in the week ended Feb. 11 are brick and lime works in Alabama, brick and tile works in Arkansas, coal mining developments in north Georgia and upper east Tennessee, cotton mills in Georgia and North Carolina, the latter a $500,000 plant; a 30-ton cottonseed oil mill in Texas, a fertilizer factory in West Virginia, a large flour mill in South Carolina, a 100-stamp gold milling plant and another gold mining company in the Dahlonega district, a $10,000 hardware company in Texas, ice factories in Kentucky and Virginia, a $100,000 lumber company in Florida, a nail mill in West Virginia, two planing mills in Georgia and one in Kentucky, sawmills in Tennessee and West Virginia, a saw works in Virginia, a spoke and handle factory in west Tennessee, a large tannery in east Tennessee, two telephone companies in Kentucky and a wood working plant in Alabama.

Old and New Guard of the Tomb of Washington.

SURVEY FOR BIG RAILWAY LINE

Commission Appointed Ten Years Ago Makes Its Report as to the Feasibility of the Argentine Route. Mr. Cassatt's Report.

Few of the millions of people who have visited Mount Vernon during the last half century, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record, could have overlooked the picturesque and stalwart figure of Uncle Edmund Parker, the old colored man who reverently guarded the tomb of Washington. His courtly and dignified manners, his deeply marked face and the respectful courtesy with which he answered questions made an impression upon every one. He was tall of stature, but his shoulders were slightly bent with age and his beard and hair of late years became sprinkled with gray.

The old man died with the old year and is greatly missed by all the habitués of that sacred place, for he had been there since 1841, with occasional intervals of absence during the war. He was born in 1827 at Blakely farm, near Charleston, W. Va., a slave of Mrs. John Augustine Washington, and came with her to Mount Vernon.

Uncle Edmund was the father of 19 children, nine of whom are still living and visited him during his illness. He "disremembered" the date, but was very proud of the fact that he was married in the library of Mount Vernon mansion by Parson Libbey in the presence of the Washington family and was the only slave who ever had that honor. In olden times in the south masters used to perform the marriage ceremony, but on the occasion of Edmund's wedding Augustine Washington was ill, and Parson Libbey who was a member of the family circle, was called upon to officiate.

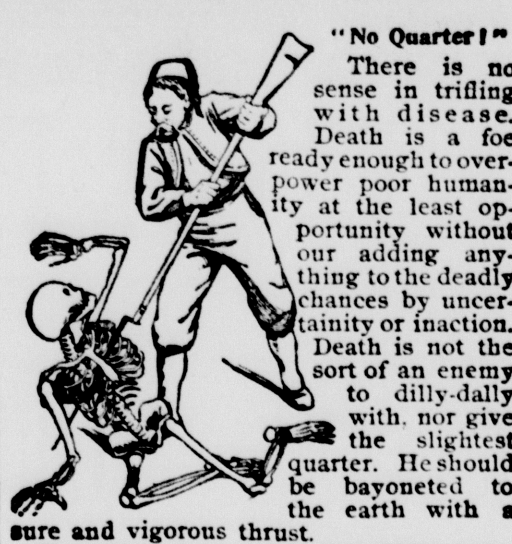

Uncle Edmund's successor as guard of the tomb of Washington is Thomas Bushrod, another venerable negro, who for the last eight years has been sexton at Pohick church, in Fairfax county, Va., with which Washington was so closely identified. Washington served on the committee that selected the site and superintended its construction and was a vestryman and warden of the parish for many years.

Thomas Bushrod was born in 1825 near Warrenton, Farquhar county. He was a slave of the Fitz-Hugh family from 1847, when his home was changed to a plantation near Pohick church, in Fairfax county where he has since lived.

One of the most important acts of the pan-American conference which met in Washington in 1889 was to arrange for a survey of an intercontinental railway line, as proposed by Hinton R. Helper many years ago, from the terminus of the Mexican Southern system on the isthmus of Tehuantepec to the northern terminus of the Argentina system at Jujuy, in the province of Salta, near the boundary of Bolivia. It is just ten years since the action of the conference was taken, and the reports of the commission which was appointed to supervise the survey are now handed to the president in printed form. They consist of four volumes of text and three volumes of maps and profiles. The first volume is devoted to a general account of the project and a description of the country through which the line is proposed to pass. The second volume is devoted to the work of the surveying parties in Central America, the third to Colombia and Ecuador and the fourth to Peru and Bolivia.

Mr. Alexander J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad was the chairman of the commission and had the general direction of the survey. The Central American party was in charge of Lieutenant McComb of the United States army. William F. Shunk of Pennsylvania was in command of the second party and J. Imbre Miller of the third. Their descriptions and notes are profusely illustrated with maps and engravings, and are exceedingly interesting. It was not intended to make a definite location, nor even a definite preliminary survey, but to ascertain the practicability of constructing a trunk line along the backbone of the hemisphere.

Exports of breadstuffs for January footed up $25,620,440, which is a slight advance on the same month last year. For the seven months ending Jan. 31 the export trade in breadstuffs was $168,296,561, which is $15,222,040 less than for the same period of last year. The falling off was entirely due to the war. The export trade in July and August fell about $2,000,000 below that of the two preceding months. It is worth noting that the exports of breadstuffs for the three months from Nov. 1 to Feb. 1 largely exceeded the foreign shipments for the whole year of 1895 during the Cleveland administration. The exports of provisions for January were only a few hundreds of thousands greater than for January 1898, the great foreign movement coming from good crops and high prices for breadstuffs.

"No Quarter!" There is no sense in trifling with disease. Death is a foe ready enough to overpower poor humanity at the least opportunity without our adding anything to the deadly chances by uncertainty or inaction. Death is not the sort of an enemy to dilly-dally with, nor give the slightest quarter. He should be bayoneted to the earth with a sure and vigorous thrust.

There is just one medicine which can be counted on with absolute certainty to overcome the deadly assault of wasting disease and restore the rugged, masterly power of perfect health. The "Golden Medical Discovery" of Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., creates that keen digestive and nutritive capacity, which makes healthy, nourishing red blood, and keeps it pure and alive with bounding vitality. It nourishes, vitalizes and builds up every organ and tissue in the body; tones the liver; heals the lungs; strengthens the heart, and restores complete energy and cheerfulness.

"I had been troubled for several years with spells of liver complaint," writes H. N. Dransfeld, Esq., of Sweet Springs, Monroe Co., W. Va., "and about two years ago my health gave way. I tried Sarsaparilla. I was getting worse all the time. I had a weakness in my left side and limbs, palpitation of the heart at times, cramping pains in the stomach after eating; nerves weak, and no energy for anything. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and began to mend from the start. I soon felt like a new person. I am now enjoying splendid health and have a splendid appetite, good digestion, and also a peaceful, quiet mind."

Dr. Pierce's thousand-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser" contains over two hundred reliable prescriptions, with directions for self-treatment of all such diseases as are curable without a physician. Anatomy, physiology and the laws of reproduction are explained, with over seven hundred illustrations. One copy, paper-covered, sent absolutely free for one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary, Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., in handsome cloth binding.

DOS PASSOS IS PAYING

For Clerical Work Done In This Place.

It Is Sent by Haskins & Sells. But the Receipt Is Made Out For the Big Man of the American Potteries Company--Mention of the "Potteries Committee."

Now that the work in connection with the appraisement of local potteries for the American Potteries company is completed, the men who toiled day and night at the Thompson House are receiving their pay.

It will be remembered that the force of accountants sent from New York were assisted by a large number of local men acquainted with the clerical part of the business. Their accounts were recently sent to the firm of Haskins & Sells, and yesterday they received express money orders for the amounts given. At the bottom of each letter was a blank receipt made out to John R. Dos Passos, showing that he is paying for the work. The receipts say the work was done in connection with the "Potteries Committee."

The last news concerning the American Potteries company was being discussed today, and since it comes from John R. Dos Passos is interesting.

It seems that a well known manufacturer wired Mr. Dos Passos Saturday and asked him when the trust would take charge. He received an answer which said for him to proceed with his business as usual, but no definite time could be given when the company would take charge of the business.

TWO FROZEN FEET MENTIONED

They Belong to the Young Man Who Took the Animal From His Father's Stable and Brought It to This Place Where It Was Found.

Several days ago a horse was left at the stable of Jack Allison, and as he did not know its owner the animal was turned over to Constable Miller who had about made up his mind to sell it when an owner appeared.

Saturday night a man named Landers, who resides in the northern part of the county, appeared and stated that the horse belonged to him, having been taken from his stable by his son, James Landers, who rode it to this city and sold it to F. D. Mosher, giving him a note stating that he had sold the horse to him. Mosher in turn traded the animal to John McLaughlin for $1.45, a watch and several other articles, but how the horse got to the stable of Allison is not known.

Landers had no trouble in proving that he owned the horse, but Allison refused to give it up unless he was paid $4 for feed. An effort was made to raise the money, and finally one of the parties went security for the amount and Landers started for his home with the horse.

While the boy was making his way to this city he had his feet frozen, and after selling the horse returned home where he is now suffering severely, and an effort was made to raise money to send him to the hospital, but it was not successful.

John McLaughlin received what he paid to Mosher for the horse, and the only persons who seemed to have lost by the transaction are Mosher and Landers.

A PETITION IN ERROR

Will Be Filed In the W. E. Morrow Case.

LEAVE GRANTED BY JUDGE SMITH

Saturday Afternoon at Wellsville—The Matter Will Be Argued In the Near Future—It Reopens the Matter For Further Consideration.

The attorneys for W. E. Morrow were Saturday granted leave to file a petition in error in the case in which he was found guilty by Mayor Bough for permitting gambling on his premises.

The motion was argued one day last week before Judge Smith, and on Saturday afternoon Solicitor McGarry and Attorney Cook appeared before the judge at his office in Wellsville and he stated that he had decided to grant the request to file a petition in error. The motion will be heard on its merits sometime next week.

This does not necessarily mean that the court will reverse the decision of Mayor Bough in finding Mr. Morrow guilty, but it does mean that there is some doubt in regard to the decision and the case may be remanded back for a new trial or the city may be ordered to refund the fine of $50.

Should Judge Smith decide that the decision of the mayor was sustained by the evidence then the attorneys for Morrow can take the case to circuit court, and on to supreme court if they see fit to do so.

The question of whether Mayor Bough should have granted a change of venue in the case will in all probability not be taken into consideration in the decision rendered by Judge Smith, as he stated Saturday that he had been unable to find any statute covering the matter.

VOTE EXPECTED TODAY.

Depends Upon How Long Gorman and Others Fight the Army Bill. Likely to Pass Finally.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The week opened with the compromise army bill still before the senate, but it is impossible to say how long it may continue to demand the attention of that body. The best opinion is to the effect that a vote will be secured today, but this depends largely upon the temper of Mr. Gorman and his friends, who insist upon the amendment of the army bill so as to further curtail the size of the army in 1901. It is not, however, believed that they will press their opposition to the point of entering into an extended controversy over the merits of the measure, and the friends of the bill count confidently on a vote before adjournment today. Mr. Gorman disclaimed any intention to force delay, but said he would press his amendment as long as there is any chance of success.

If the debate should be continued to any considerable length the nation would be generally accepted as indicating a purpose to force an extra session, as all admit that with as many appropriation bills as are pending it is impracticable to give very much more time to the army bill and still pass the supply bills before the 4th inst. There is yet no danger of failure on either the army bill or the appropriation bills. No senator can be found who avows himself desirous of forcing a called session. Hence the general belief that all these measures will become laws, and that when congress adjourns for the session next Saturday legislation will be in such shape as to permit the legislators to remain at their homes until next December. There was no doubt of the passage of the army bill by a large majority when the vote is taken.

CORNISH MAY TESTIFY AGAIN.

Coroner Hart Demanded That Poison Inquiry Be Hurried.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—If the inquest into the death of Mrs. Kate J. Adams is not completed by tomorrow night Coroner Hart will demand that further hearing be adjourned until he can dispose of some outstanding cases.

Coroner Hart said that Assistant District Attorney Osborne told him he expected to finish the Adams case before the end of the ensuing week. Cornish is to have another session on the stand, several members and employees of the Knickerbocker Athletic club are to be called and then the police of the detective bureau and the handwriting experts will tell what they know and what they suspect.

THE PRESIDENT TO ATTEND.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinley Promised to Visit the Moravian Institute.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Feb. 27.—President McKinley promised to come to Bethlehem on June 4 next to attend the sesquicentennial exercises of the Moravian College for Women. A committee of the alumnae of the college called on the president on Thursday and secured his promise to be present on that occasion. He will be accompanied by Mrs. McKinley. The college is one of the oldest in the United States and has not closed its doors for 150 years.

FAVORABLE TO HANNA.

Senate Committee Declared the Opposition Has Made Out No Case.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The senate committee on privileges and elections decided that there was no case made in the protest against the election of Senator Hanna of Ohio, and ordered such a report made to the senate. Senator Turley of Tennessee reserved the right to make a statement concerning the matter to the senate, though no minority report would be made.

Blamed the Government For the Defeat. Said He Was Sent Against His Will.

MADRID, Feb. 27.—The newspapers are urging the government to maintain its precautions against Carlist activity, especially on the frontier, where attempts are being made to smuggle arms and ammunition into the country with a view to an early Carlist rising.

El Correspondencia Militar estimates that 400,000,000 pesetas will be required to cover the cost of the last two wars in Cuba.

The committee of the senate for the verification of credentials has examined Admiral Cervera, who had contended that he was entitled to sit in the senate inasmuch as criminal proceedings had not been taken against him. The admiral declared that if the loss of his squadron were a crime it must be attributed to the government, which sent him to the Antilles against his will. He told the committee that he wept on receiving congratulations upon his safe arrival at Santiago de Cuba for he had foreseen disaster.

Levi Maish Dead.

He also had a creditable war record. Since his service in congress he has lived in Washington, engaged in the practice of law.

THE RUSSIANS WITH US

Ex-Embassador Hitchcock on Our Muscovite Relations.

THE OZAR'S SINCERE FRIENDSHIP

On the Day We Need Aid in the Far East Russia Will Be Found Ready to Assist Us—The Great Siberian Railway.

Ethan Allen Hitchcock, recently United States ambassador to the court of the czar of the Russians, has returned to this country to assume the duties of his new post as secretary of the interior. He appeared to regard with complacency the change from the palace on the Newski Prospect to the dingy little whitewashed room in the patent office at Washington.

"What was the sentiment in Russia regarding our war with Spain?" was asked by a reporter of the New York World upon his arrival on the Tenthon. "In official circles the victory of the United States was regarded as a foregone conclusion. The great masses of the Russian people knew little about the conflict. Newspapers are not read in Russia to any great extent. Information travels slowly. The feeling of steadfast friendship for the American people that is found everywhere is inexpressible, but it could not be shaken by any diplomatic influence that any European power could exert. 'Toujours fidele' is the phrase that every citizen of our country ought to write or utter whenever the name of Russia is seen or heard."

"Is she averse to our encroachments in the east?"

"Not in the slightest. She has her own plans regarding China, but they are commercial rather than imperial. She will not express joy or annoyance regarding the annexation of the Philippines, but she will stand ready to endorse our course at the time moral support is needed. The people of the United States never should forget for a single instant that, expressed or unexpressed, the friendship of the Russian czar has been and is with them. To doubt the undemonstrative fidelity of the czar and the imperial cabinet is unjust and thoughtless. Russia will be with us on that great day in which we shall need her help in the far east."

"Tell me about the czar's peace programme?" was the first suggestion.

"It is sincere and is so accepted by diplomatists who represent nations unfriendly to Russia," said Mr. Hitchcock. "I had my last audience with the czar three weeks ago at Moscow, and he expressed informally the utmost hopefulness regarding the outcome of the commission. Even though it should fail a vast amount of information will have been gathered as to the temper of the various powers, the views of their rulers and cabinets. That peace conference will be an epoch making assemblage. If the United States is to become the world power that is now clearly indicated, the work of that conference will be of vital interest to every citizen of this land."

"Tell us about the Siberian railway's progress?" was suggested.

"It is one of the greatest commercial enterprises of the century. The minister who is building it told me a month ago that trains would be running from Irkutsk to Vladivostok in 1902. He told me the earth then could be circumnavigated in 40 days. This is four years earlier than was originally expected, but the importance of the road has become so manifest that the utmost urgency has been enforced. It is wholly surveyed, and the rails are going down as fast as they can be got to their places. It is quite possible to travel by rail now from Nijni-Novgorod on the Volga to Irkutsk—made familiar to the civilized world by Jules Verne in 'Michael Strogoff'."

"It hasn't been officially promulgated, but you can say that it will be Tientsin, a fine harbor in Manchuria, little known, which will be made absolutely Russian. Port Arthur wouldn't suit, though a branch line of railway will be run to that place."

"What is the traffic?"

"Passengers rather than freight. Where they originally intended to run one train a day each way they are now running six. The towns among the Siberian steppes are quite populous. The rates of fare in Russia are much lower than in any other part of the world. It is the intention of the Russian govern-

"Was it very cold at St. Petersburg when you left?"

"Not as we understand cold. Of course the Neva was frozen solid and teams were crossing it. Evergreens are set out in the ice to mark the continuation of streets across the water and present a very pretty picture. The opera theaters and the cafes are aglow with life in the coldest weather."

NOVEL SAVINGS INSTITUTE.

How Germany Encourages Thrift Among the Laboring Classes.

Walter Schumann, our consul at Mainz, Germany, describes in his report to the state department a novel savings institution. He says:

A few years ago the City Savings bank inaugurated a novel method for inducing people, especially the laboring class and small shopkeepers, to save their money. Instead of obliging the people to bring their savings to the bank, the bank undertook to collect from its depositors certain fixed sums weekly. The following is the method pursued: The application of the new depositor is made either in person or by letter, and must state the address at which the weekly deposit is to be collected and the amount. This amount may be either 50 pfennigs or 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 or 10 marks (1 mark equals 23.8 cents). The amount to be collected may be changed at any time.

On payment of the first deposit the depositor is furnished with a passbook, in which the amount of the first deposit and the date are entered. The following weekly deposits are not entered when collected, but only on presentation of the passbook at the bank when a withdrawal of money is made or at the end of the year to balance the account. The weekly amount is collected by employees of the institution, and as a receipt the depositor is given a printed coupon showing the amount collected, the date and the number of the passbook.

In order to insure prompt payment a coupon is presented by the collector. If a coupon which has been returned to the bank by the collector as unpaid is not paid within eight days, the institution reserves the right to close the depositor's account. All deposits made during one year draw interest from the 1st of January of the following year. The rate of interest is the same as paid by the savings bank on its ordinary accounts—at present 3½ per cent. Deposits may be withdrawn at any time on presentation of the passbook and the coupon for the last payment.

Following are the statistics of the savings banks at Mainz for the years 1896 and 1897: Collections for the year 1896 amounted to $165,392; in 1897 they were $176,170; number of depositors for these years was 5,263 and 5,485 respectively; the amounts withdrawn, $141,656 and $154,622; the balance due, $131,663 and $137,030. In 1898 the most popular sum for deposits was 2 marks (47.6 cents); number of depositors in this class was 1,730, the 50 pfennig class numbered 244 and the 10 mark class 357.

The Mainz branch has not been started by the savings bank as an institution of profit, but merely as an incentive for the poorer classes to save their earnings, and so far has met with great success.

BUFF EGGS THE FASHION.

A Farmers' Club Claims the Four Hundred Won't Eat White Ones.

If you want to be in the fashion in New York, you must eat eggs with buff colored shells. That fact leaked out at the monthly meeting of the Farmers' club the other afternoon in New York, where there was an egg exhibit.

The information about buff colored eggs being the most fashionable came from the Hampton farm, Poughkeepsie, which sent three platefuls of eggs to prove its case. The darkest colored, which are those eaten by the Four Hundred, are laid by Barred Plymouth Rocks. The product of other birds is barred by aristocrats who know the ropes.

"In England," said the farmer who brought the eggs down from Poughkeepsie, "it is the pure white eggs that are most in vogue, like that plateful laid by a white Leghorn. In the United States we don't eat the shells, and even if a white shell looks prettier we don't prefer it. The brown eggs have the best flavor. For once a society fad is justified by the facts."

In England it is customary for the egg eater to delve directly into the egg with a spoon and transfer the contents to the interior of the face. He can tell exactly the color of the shell he is getting, for it sits there in the egg cup. In the United States, where many citizens hire a waiter to pour the egg out into a glass before he brings it to the table, they are not protected against eggs of unfashionable color unless they insist on the shells being escorted into the room with the egg meat. Even in that case a treacherous waiter might get a couple of bug colored shells and serve them with every egg order indefinitely. The practice of dyeing white eggs into a fashionable tint is condemned unanimously by the Farmers' club.—New York Journal.

DEATH OF COLONEL CONGER.

Former Ohio National Committeeman Expired Suddenly at Des Moines.

DES MOINES, Feb. 27.—Colonel A. L. Conger died from a stroke of paralysis. He came here about a year ago from Akron, O., and established a college of osteopathy. He was for eight years a member of the Republican national committee from Ohio.

Mr. Conger was born at Boston, Summit county, O., on Feb. 19, 1838. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in the One Hundred and Fifteenth Ohio volunteer infantry. His legal acumen and fearless discharge of perilous duties soon gained for him promotion. At the close of the war he returned to Ohio and taught school at Peninsula. The Republicans of Summit county elected him treasurer in 1866 and re-elected him in 1868. In 1871 he removed to Akron and became a salesman for the Whitman & Mills Manufacturing company.

He became a stockholder, then a director and finally secured a consolidation with the George Barnes works of Syracuse, becoming the corporation's president and general manager. He gradually became interested in a large number of commercial enterprises in Akron and other cities. In 1883 President Arthur appointed him director of the Union Pacific railroad. He was also vice president of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company.

In 1864 he married Emily Volney, and to them there were born four sons.

AGAINST SEATING POLYGAMISTS.

The D. A. R. Congress Passed a Resolution at the Meeting in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Mrs. McLean, at a session of the D. A. R. here, offered the following resolution:

"Whereas, This house has abiding confidence in the honor of the congress of the United States.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled in congress of 1899, that the nation's law makers should, by the passage of suitable laws, make impossible the election of a polygamist to public office."

After having read the resolution, Mrs. McLean walked to the platform.

"Ladies," she said, "this resolution speaks for itself. It needs no comment."

Mrs. Peak of Iowa moved that the resolution be tabled. Several speakers who favored Mrs. McLean's resolution followed in rapid succession.

The resolution offered by Mrs. McLean was carried by a viva voce vote which seemed almost unanimous, one lady alone announcing a vociferous "no."

MONNETT AFTER RAILROADS.

Filed Suits Against Panhandle and C. & H. & D., Alleging They Are in a Trust.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—On the ground that it was a trust, Attorney General Monnett attacked the Central Passenger association. He filed two suits in the supreme court to test the question, one against the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the other against the Panhandle.

He selected these two from the list of 33 roads composing the Central Passenger Association, the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton to represent the Ohio corporations belonging to the association, the Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis to represent the foreign corporations among its members.

A large number of commercial travelers requested the attorney general to institute these proceedings, but the Commercial Travelers' association is not officially concerned in the suits, nor is it backing the attack against the Central Passenger association. One chief point of attack, however, in the petitions filed is the interchangeable mileage ticket, with its $10 deposit feature.

BODIES PLACED ON A SHIP.

Dead Soldiers From Porto Rico to Be Brought Home.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The funeral ship Roumania, which is engaged in the sacred mission of bringing home the remains of the brave soldiers who lost their lives in Porto Rico and in Cuba completed its work so far as Porto Rico is concerned. The number of American dead on the island was comparatively small and their disinterment and removal to the transport occupied only about a week's time.

A telegram received by Colonel Moore of the quartermaster general's office says that the Roumania left Ponce Saturday for Santiago, where the principal work of the expedition will be done.

Funeral of Hon. B. J. Haywood.

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 27.—The funeral of Hon. B. J. Haywood Saturday afternoon was largely attended by state officials and prominent men. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, among them being designs from Richard Quay, J. S. Fruit and Henry F. Walton of Philadelphia. The remains were conveyed to the Presbyterian church. Hundreds of people were unable to gain admittance. The body was in a handsome massive casket. The name plate bore the simple inscription, "B. J. Haywood, 1849-1899," and while lying in state at the Carver house was viewed by hundreds of people.

Salisbury Rides a Wheel.

A London cablegram says that Lord Salisbury has become a cyclist. He learned the art of wheeling in the privacy of a riding school attached to his historic residence in Hatfield and now ventures on the paths through his park. He rides a bicycle specially constructed for him, his weight being 240 pounds.

Arthur Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, still cycles, but wheeling is no longer a fashionable craze in England.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others? The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

14TH YEAR. NO. 221.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, FEB. 27, 1899.

A Denial of Hostile Action of Germans, at Manila.

With the Little Petrel Rebels Were Ordered to Surrender Island of Cebu or Take the Consequences—They Retired. Demonstration of Natives Near Calocan.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—(11:40 a. m.)—Admiral Dewey when asked by the correspondent of the Associated Press to give his reasons for requesting Washington to send the battleship Oregon to Manila, firmly declined to discuss the matter. All was quiet here last night and along the line, except for some desultory firing by the rebels near Calocan and San Pedro Macati.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—No such emergency existed here as was represented by reports circulated in the United States—and cabled back to Manila—to the effect that Admiral Dewey had had a collision of a forcible character with the German naval commander.

According to the advices brought Sunday morning by the steamer Neustra Senora del Carmen, whose arrival brought the news that the American flag had been raised over the island of Cebu, the United States gunboat Petrel, Commander C. Cornwell, visited Cebu on Feb. 22. Commander Cornwell sent an ultimatum ashore, declaring the intention of the Americans to take possession—peaceably if possible, by force if necessary. The rebels immediately vacated, taking their guns to the hills. A party of marines and bluejackets was landed and the American flag was raised by them over the government building, which they still occupied when the Neustra Senora del Carmen left.

A battalion of the Twenty-third regulars left for Cebu Sunday by the United States transport Pennsylvania. The same steamer brought dispatches from Brigadier General Miller at Iloilo to Brigadier General Otis, reporting that all was quiet there, that there had been no further fighting, that confidence had been restored and business was being generally resumed. General Miller thinks it probable the natives will soon be convinced of the error of opposing the inevitable and that the example set by the inhabitant negroes is having its effect among the other islands which, though not entirely convinced, are, in General Miller's opinion, open to reason.

All was quiet Sunday afternoon inside and outside of Manila, except near Calocan, where the enemy's sharpshooters continued to annoy our troops at a comparatively short range. One man of the Twentieth Kansas volunteers was killed in Atriquina village, which was burned Saturday night, and four were wounded in the skirmish, one of the Idaho, one of the Minnesota and two of the Pennsylvania volunteer regiments.

MANILA, Feb. 27.—Saturday night the rebels concentrated in such numbers near the Chinese cemetery that General MacArthur anticipated an attack and asked for reinforcements. Two companies of the Twenty-third regulars were sent to Calocan and a battalion of the Twentieth regulars to the cemetery at about midnight.

But the expected attack was not made, the rebels, after making a great noise with bugle calls and yells of "Viva Independencia," and "Mucho Malo Americanos," and firing volleys, disappearing in the woods.

It was believed their leaders were getting desperate and were attempting to force the United States troops to make an attack, in the hope of breaking through the American lines, but the rebels were evidently unwilling to be sacrificed when facing the Americans. It was just possible, however, that they might be goaded into such a move before reinforcements arrive.

All was quiet in the city Saturday night.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Major General Otis reported to the war department the following additional casualties to troops under his command:

"MANILA, Feb. 26.
"Additional wounded Feb. 24 and 25, in trenches near Calocan:

"Second Oregon, Company G, Corporal William Ponath, chest, severe. Third artillery, Battery H, Privates John W. Corder, thigh, slight; Battery K, Michael J. Crowley, leg, slight. First Idaho, Company F, Private Charles S. Lamb, thigh, severe. Twentieth Kansas, Company D, Privates Larry Jones, head, serious; Campbell Scott, arm, severe. First Montana, Company A, Privates Francis J. Anspach, arm, severe; Albert S. Hicks, lung, severe. Private John Anderson, Company F, First Idaho, injured fractured ankle."

MADRID, Feb. 27.—An official dispatch from Manila says:

"The situation here is very serious. The foreign warships are disembarking troops. General Rios will leave Manila and go to Zamboanga, island of Mindanao."

The government received a long dispatch from General Rios at Manila, but refused to impart its contents. El Imparcial, which asserted that it was in a position to know the truth of the situation at Manila, said:

"There is constant fighting between the Americans and the Tagalos. The courage and stubbornness of the latter have caused great anxiety to the Americans, who do not conceal their belief that the war will be a long and desperate one. There is the greatest alarm among foreigners in Manila, and the commanders of the foreign warships have decided to land forces to protect their subjects."

LONDON, Feb. 27.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Telegraph who said he was "authorized to deny that Germany has any intention to interfere in the Philippines," adds:

"Neither has any other power, and the Oregon cannot therefore have been ordered to Manila on this account."

TRIAL OF THE QUAYS.

The Case Expected to Come Up in Philadelphia Today—It's Great Importance.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—There was every indication that United States Senator Quay and his son, Richard R. Quay, would be placed upon trial in the criminal court today to answer the charges of conspiracy and the unlawful use of state moneys. Both sides it was said were anxious to have the trial proceed without further delay. Senator Quay and his son had been in the city and had held consultations with their lawyers, A. S. L. Shields and Rufus E. Shapley. So far as known, former District Attorney Graham, who was active in the early stages of the prosecution, will take no part in the trial, which will be conducted for the commonwealth by District Attorney Rothermel, who was elected to that office last November, and his assistants, Finletter and Clement.

The trial will undoubtedly be of unparalleled importance, not only because it presents the unusual spectacle of a United States senator as the chief defendant, but also because on its results largely hinges its political future. It is regarded as extremely unlikely that the long existing deadlock at Harrisburg will be broken in the meantime, and it is conceded that the outcome of the trial will directly influence the question of the senatorial succession.

CEBU LIKELY SURRENDERED.

One of the Most Important Places in the Philippines Probably Secured.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Admiral Dewey cabled the navy department that he had sent the gunboat Petrel from Manila to Cebu. It is the purpose of the admiral to establish the sovereignty of the United States at the capital of the island, which is a populous town of 35,000 inhabitants.

The war department reports say the island of Cebu is the most important province of the Visayas group, its area being 2,000 square miles and its population more than 500,000. Under the Spanish regime the capital was a city of considerable commercial and political importance.

In explanation of Admiral Dewey's report of the sailing of the Petrel General Otis' announcement of the surrender of Cebu to the naval forces which had taken "quiet possession" it appears certain that the Petrel had received the surrender of Cebu.

SOLDIERS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Sternberg Says There Is Little Illness in Our Colonial Forces.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Speaking of reports as to the health of troops in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, Surgeon General Sternberg said they were very favorable. The appearance of smallpox in Cuba had been only slight, all cases had been isolated promptly and no spread of the disease had followed.

All troops had been vaccinated and the army surgeons were vaccinating the natives generally as a precaution. This was the case in both Cuba and Porto Rico, and in the latter island the medical department had established its own vaccine farm with satisfactory results.

While some cases of typhoid fever had been reported the number at no time had given any cause for alarm and nothing suggestive of an epidemic appeared. The chief troubles were due to malarial fever and diarrhoea disorders.

A NATIONAL UNION REFORM PARTY.

Delegates to Meet in Cincinnati This Week to Organize One.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 27.—A national organization of the Union Reform party will be made at a national conference of the amalgamated elements here on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Secretary M. A. Neff of the Ohio committee, says there will be over 1,000 delegates present from the different states, representing Silver Republicans, Populists, Social Labor party, Liberty party and others, especially those favoring direct legislation.

Any person committed to the referendum principle of direct legislation will be admitted to the national conference. There will be a meeting tonight of the national executive committee to select a temporary chairman and make other arrangements for the conference.

Census Bill About Ready.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The conferees on the census bill agreed and will make their report early in the week. Certain features of both senate and house bills will be retained. The census will be nominally under the direction of the secretary of the interior, but all appointments in the census bureau will be made by the director of the census.

CONGRESS' END NEAR.

Covered an Eventful Period in Nation's History.

DECLARED WAR, RATIFIED PEACE.

Annexation of Hawaii, Enactment of a National Bankruptcy Act and Other Notable Legislation Passed—Appropriations Approximately $1,600,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—An eventful period in the country's history is covered by the work of the Fifty-fifth congress, which is drawing to a close.

This congress has declared war against a foreign foe, and the treaty-making branch has participated in ratifying the treaty by which that war was terminated. It has provided a great volunteer army, has enlarged the regular army and has expanded the navy to meet war emergencies and new conditions. The tariff has been revised, first by the Dingley law and then by the war revenue act; a bond issue, known as the war loan, has been provided.

But far-reaching as these war measures are, the congress has had time also to enact other legislation which, under ordinary circumstances, would make its session memorable. This includes the annexation of Hawaii, the rejection by the senate of the general treaty of arbitration with Great Britain, the enactment of a national bankruptcy law, provision for taking the twelfth census, reorganization of the personnel of the navy. To this list may yet be added other important subjects still pending.

including the Nicaragua canal, the increase of the regular army, the anti-scalping measure, the Hawaiian bill and the proposed encouragement of American shipping. Some of the most important general measures are in the final legislative stages, and it will not be until the last hours arrive that the success or failure of those measures will be determined definitely.

The general legislation of the session, which has advanced to its final stages and has become law, includes the following: An act to extend the laws relating to American seamen, for the protection of such seamen and to promote commerce; an act concerning sail vessels of over 700 tons; providing for a national exposition of American products and manufactures at Philadelphia for the encouragement of the export trade; granting extra pay to officers and enlisted men of United States volunteers; providing additional circuit judges in the Fifth and Sixth judicial circuits; amending the act governing the immediate transportation of dutiable goods without appraisement; adjusting the clothing account for deceased soldiers in certain cases; allowing voting machines in elections for representatives in congress; removing the remains of General John A. Rawlins to Arlington National cemetery; admitting to West Point and Annapolis certain persons designated by the governments of Venezuela, Costa Rica and Colombia; also the bill establishing a national military park to commemorate the campaign, siege and defense of Vicksburg.

The total appropriations of the present session will approximate $700,000,000, of which about $250,000,000 will be for the military and naval uses or for subjects connected with the war. This is a general estimate, however, based upon totals which may undergo some change, as very few of the large appropriation bills have become law, and some of them have not even been considered. If the Nicaragua canal amendment is added to the river and harbor bill, it being so reported to the senate, this will make a material increase. Included in the naval bill are provisions for three seagoing battleships, three armored cruisers and six small cruisers, for which $10,000,000 is to be appropriated for the first year's work.

Based on estimates, the total appropriations for the congress (not including the four appropriation bills left over by the former congress) would be approximately $1,600,000,000, of which amount approximately $600,000,000 is for war expenses or incident to the army and navy.

JUDGSHIP FOR DAY.

President Sends Ex-Secretary's Nomination to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The president sent these nominations to the senate: William R. Day of Ohio, to be United States circuit judge for the Sixth judicial circuit; Jeremiah J. McCarthy, surveyor of customs, Boston and Charlestown district, Massachusetts; S. Stillman Blanchard, appraiser of merchandise in the district of Boston and Charlestown, Massachusetts.

Also a number of promotions in the army of the United States.

Jesse James, Jr., in Tight Place.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27.—The most positive identification of Jesse James, Jr., as one of the Leeds train robbers was made in the courtroom by William J. Smith of Stokesberry, Mo., who was a passenger on the Missouri Pacific train the night it was held up. He pointed out Jesse James as the man who placed a gun against his breast and ordered him back into a car.

FRANK PEARS' MURDER.

Minister Hunter to Take Personal Charge of the Investigation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—United States Minister to Honduras Godfrey Hunter will start on his return to his post next week, and it is understood that he will take personal charge of the investigation of the killing of Frank Pears of Pittsburg in that country on Feb. 1. Before he left that country Minister Hunter had a gunboat sent there to assist in the investigation. From information received by Minister Hunter and the state department it seems that the killing of Mr. Pears was one of those unfortunate affairs that so often happen in Central and South American countries.

Martial law had been proclaimed in that section of Honduras where Mr. Pears was, and on the day in question he was challenged in Spanish by a sentry and not understanding the language did not give proper answer and was shot down. It is probable that the commander who gave these orders will be removed from his office and that the country will be compelled to pay a round sum of money as damages for the killing.

ABOUT 2,000,000 NEED FOOD.

Americans Made an Appeal For Destitute Chinese.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—The American residents of Chee Foo, China, sent an appeal to the San Francisco chamber of commerce, requesting that a shipload of corn be sent for the relief of 2,000,000 Chinese in Shang Tung province.

The unprecedented floods of the Yellow river destroyed crops and the immense population along the great river were on the verge of starvation.

The appeal, which was signed by John Fowler, Hunter Corbett, W. O. Elterich, George Cornwell and C. B. Downing, said the people of Shang Tung subsist upon corn, and continues: "We believe that if your grain men will ship to the United States consul in Chee Foo direct from the Pacific slope a steamer loaded with corn it will be the means, not only of saving thousands of lives, but also of opening up a market of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 consumers later on."

The chamber will act at its next meeting.

CONTEMPT WAS CHARGED.

Attorney General Monnett Brought Suit Against Squire.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—Attorney General Monnett brought contempt proceedings against F. B. Squire of Cleveland, secretary of the Standard Oil company.

The petition asked that Secretary Squire be declared in contempt of the supreme court because of his refusal to produce the books of the Standard Oil company.

The order under which the attorney general sought to obtain the books was issued by the supreme court Dec. 6.

Under the advice of the company's attorneys, Secretary Squire refused to produce before Master Commissioner Brinsmade, at the hearing in Cleveland Feb. 17, the books which are said to set forth the Standard's business relations with the constituent companies.

Rev. Charles H. Lincoln Died.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 27.—Rev. Charles H. Lincoln died at his residence, 333 Sixth avenue, at 6:15 p. m. yesterday. He had suffered nine weeks from nervous prostration, following an attack of grip. In January, 1894, he inaugurated a meeting in the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Wylie avenue and Congress street, and was called to the pastorate, which he assumed, and labored there with marked success for more than a year. Difficulties arose in the church during which much injustice, it is believed, was done the pastor, resulting in his again entering the business world.

KIPLING NEAR DEATH.

Doctors Admitted His Condition Was Critical.

NOVELIST UNCONSCIOUS AND LOW.

Physicians Were Using Oxygen, a Necessity When the Disease Was at a Critical Stage—Howells Was Admitted to the Sick Room.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—There was a general impression about the Hotel Grenoble at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon that Mr. Kipling's condition was worse than at any time since he became ill. Dr. Janeway arrived sooner than was expected and it looked as if there had been a sudden change for the worse and that the physician had been called. He remained in the hotel for awhile and then left, returning in about half an hour. Almost at the same time an oxygen tank was brought to the hotel and taken up to the Kipling apartments on the first floor. That the oxygen was to be administered was practically admitted by Dr. Janeway. This is heroic treatment and is resorted to only in extreme cases. Both Dr. Janeway and Dr. Dunham were with Mr. Kipling alternately through Saturday night and both were in attendance on him early in the morning.

Dr. Janeway, Jr., son of Dr. E. G. Janeway, was also called in consultation concerning the critical condition of Mr. Kipling.

Dr. Dunham came from the sick chamber soon after 11 o'clock. His wife is a sister of Mrs. Kipling.

"Is Mr. Kipling suffering from pneumonia?" Dr. Dunham was asked.

"We will call it inflammation of the lungs," he replied.

"If he gets through today will he be safe?"

"If he gets through today he will be much nearer to safety," said Dr. Dunham.

It was learned from other sources that Kipling was extremely weak. At times he recognized those around him. Those at the bedside were Dr. Dunham, Mrs. Kipling, her mother, Mrs. Balestier, Mr. Doubleday, the children and two nurses.

Some of the callers were admitted Sunday morning to the sick chamber. Among these favored few were W. D. Howells, Nikola Tesla, S. S. McClure and Charles Battell Loomis.

The following bulletin was issued at 7 o'clock last night:

"Mr. Kipling's condition has been very serious during this, the sixth day of the disease, giving rise to the gravest apprehension for the outcome.

"E. G. JANEWAY,
"THEO. DUNHAM."

At that hour the physicians were making almost constant use of oxygen. Their demeanor indicated a most critical stage of the disease. Mr. Kipling was delirious as the above bulletin was issued.

Neither Dr. Janeway nor Dr. Dunham would say a word. In fact, neither ventured from the patient's side for more than a short time.

At 10:30 o'clock last night, the following bulletin was issued:

"Mr. Kipling's condition remains the same as at last report.

(Signed) "G. JANEWAY,
"THEODORE DUNHAM."

It was said at that hour that Mr. Kipling was very low and unconscious.

At 3 o'clock this morning Kipling was said to be dying.

MAY SUSPEND WORK MAY 1.

Ohio Miners and Operators Adjourned Without Reaching an Agreement.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—The conference of the Ohio miners and operators adjourned without an agreement being reached, and the prospects are that there will be a suspension of work in the Ohio mines on April 1.

The Ohio miners are bound by the Pittsburg agreement to accept no price under that fixed by the Chicago agreement, which makes the run-of-mine rate in Ohio 47 1-7 cents per ton, the rate insisted upon by the operators being 42 2-3 cents per ton.

When the operators' proposition was rejected, they proposed to submit the matter to arbitration, but this also was declined by the miners, and further negotiations were abandoned.

BURKE ALSO FOUND GUILTY.

Cleveland Circuit Court Decides Charges Against Ohio State Senator Were True.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27.—State Senator Vernon H. Burke was found guilty in the circuit court of the first specification in the charges brought against him.

Judge Caldwell read the findings of the court. "As the evidence now stands before this court," he said, "we find that Judge Dellenbaugh and Vernon H. Burke were jointly the attorneys of Nettie A. Manning during the acts complained of in the first specification. We previously found that Judge Dellenbaugh did receive $1,100, one-third of the fees paid in the Manning case, and that the weight of the evidence showed that Dellenbaugh participated in the management of the Manning case up to the time of the division of the fees."

LOST IN ALASKA WILDS.

Experience of Lieutenant Castner and Two Men.

BATTLING WITH HUNGER AND COLD

The Party Set Out to Locate an American Trail to Circle City. Lost Their Pack Mules and Got Out of Wood.

Edwin F. Glenn of the Twenty-fifth infantry, who is now in Washington, has received a long letter from Second Lieutenant Joseph C. Castner of the Fourth infantry about the experiences of himself and two enlisted men in the Klondike country. Lieutenant Castner was given up for lost. He left Captain Glenn on Aug. 3, 1898, at Camp Separation on the Delta river, starting with Privates Blitch and McGregor of the Fourteenth infantry to locate an all-American trail to Circle City. The three men had several narrow escapes from death. They had a thrilling experience in crossing the Tanana river nearly losing their lives and barely getting their two pack mules to the other side. A few days later it became necessary to abandon one of the mules. To make matters worse it was discovered that extra provisions, supposed to have been brought along, were not in the packs. Leaving the river the party traveled through five swamps in one day and made only nine and a half miles. On the following day they again came to the river, and in attempting to cross Lieutenant Castner was carried off his feet by the swift current and was badly handicapped by having a sketching case in one hand and an ax in the other. He was thrown against a timber jam and stunned, but managed to reach the shore a mile below. He lost the ax owned by the party. A raft was made by Blitch and McGregor and Lieutenant Castner was safely carried across the stream. Matters became serious. Lieutenant Castner's shoes were almost gone, and all were weak through lack of enough food. The only hope was to get to Blitch creek, where Lieutenant Castner hoped to find miners. No open country could be seen. Hills from 2,000 to 5,000 feet high, with snowcapped peaks, were every where.

On Sept. 10 the party set out toward the northeast. Bread was only had every third day. The feet of the men were in a terrible condition, with great sores on them. The trail became more difficult, and as they had no ax they were compelled to break a way with their hands. On Sept. 11 Jack, the other mule, fell and deliberately let himself roll into the icy river. Jack was killed, and his body furnished the party with 40 pounds of meat. Shouldering their provisions, the men set out up stream through a heavy rain. Jack's flesh was diseased, but hunger drove away their scruples.

On Sept. 13 Lieutenant Castner ordered the abandonment of blankets and everything except firearms and food. The clothing of the men was in shreds, and Lieutenant Castner's feet were wrapped in canvas, his shoes having given out days before. A small slice of bacon, with coffee, formed the breakfast, everything else being gone. With the hope of seeing the tributaries of the Yukon, a mountain 3,500 feet high was scaled. No open country was found, and, with no strength to climb and no provisions, the party turned back, hoping to get some game.

On Sept. 17 an old wolf and three young ones were encountered. Private Blitch killed one of the younger ones. The animals were at first thought to be Indian dogs. The wolf meat was found to be excellent, tasting very much like mutton. A raft was built on Sept. 18, and on the 19th the party started down the river. Rounding a sharp turn, the raft was thrown with great force under a huge timber jam. Private Blitch and Lieutenant Castner were caught in the timbers. McGregor could not swim and was ordered to get off the raft on to the jam, while Lieutenant Castner and Blitch up to their shoulders in the swift current, tried to rescue the guns and provisions. They gave up the effort and had to help each other to reach the shore. Everything was lost.

Ten miles below were the remnants of a dead mule. Lieutenant Castner made the distance in his stocking feet. The mule's body was found to be badly decomposed, and little of it had been left by ravens and wolves. On the morning of Sept. 20 the three men, with some of the mule meat, set out for an Indian village 65 miles away. With their feet bleeding at every step and almost dead from hunger, the men pushed on. Here and there they found a handful of berries and occasionally roots, which they eagerly gnawed. Finally on Sept. 25 they staggered into a little Indian village and asked for food and shelter. They were hospitably received and every possible attention given them.

Two days later Lieutenant Castner, Blitch and McGregor started down the river in birch bark canoes with the Indians and reached the mouth of the Chena river on Sept. 30. Blitch and McGregor could go no farther and were left at an Indian camp. Lieutenant Castner proceeded up the Chena river 85 miles, where he found a steamboat and white men. He purchased at enormous prices a boat and provisions and returned to the camp where the soldiers had been left. He reached there on Oct. 6 and a few days later the three men managed to get to Weare, Alaska. At the time his letter was written Lieutenant Castner was still unable to get his shoes on. He could not then walk over a mile a day in moccasins.

TELEPHONES IN HAWAII.

They Form an Important Factor in the Business of the Islands.

Nowhere in the world perhaps is the telephone a greater factor in life than in Hawaii, says a Honolulu correspondent of the Chicago Record. In the islands there are about 2,000 telephones to a population of 110,000, or one telephone to every 52 inhabitants. On the island of Oahu, on which Honolulu is situated, there are 1,090 telephones to a population of about 45,000, or about one to each 41 of the population.

The telephone was introduced here in the latter part of 1880 and soon became an established part of the business, social and political life of the country. It may sound strange to use the word "political" in this connection, but it is true in a sober and literal sense, for in every revolution that has been planned or attempted the seizure and control of the central telephone office has always been one of the first strategic moves thought of.

The telephone is much more of a public institution here than it is in most places. Isolated as the islands are, the arrival of a steamship from a foreign land is of personal interest to almost every individual. The government maintains a lookout station on Diamond Head, from which approaching vessels in any direction can be sighted while still from 20 to 40 miles distant, depending on the state of the atmosphere. As soon as a steamer is sighted "central" is notified. "Central" then notifies the pilot office, the port physician, the board of health, the custom house, the postoffice, the newspaper offices and a few other persons who have a particular interest in getting early information of this character. Then the electric light company is notified, and it gives two long whistles if the steamer is from America and three if it is from any other part of the world. For two minutes after these whistles are blown no telephone connections are made, but the force at "central" keeps repeating the name of the steamer and its location, as "Australia off Koko Head," or "China off Waianae," so that all any individual needs to do is to go to the nearest telephone, put the receiver to his ear and listen and he will know what steamer it is, where it is, and if he has lived here any length of time he can form an accurate judgment as to how long it will be before the steamer will be at the wharf.

If the steamer brings any striking piece of news of general interest, "central" gives it to everybody who calls up for a connection. In this way the destruction of the Maine was known all over this island within ten minutes after the Zealandia, which brought the news, was at the wharf.

If an important personage dies, the news is distributed in the same way, and "central" can always be depended on to give the hour and place of a funeral as soon as the hour has been fixed. In New York and Chicago, if you want to make an inquiry, you ask a policeman. In Honolulu you ask "central."

The meat markets have a list of their regular customers at "central," and at about 6 o'clock each evening "central" calls them all up in order and takes their orders for the next morning's breakfast.

New Industries in the South.

The Chattanooga Tradesman says that among the more important of the new industries reported in the week ended Feb. 11 are brick and lime works in Alabama, brick and tile works in Arkansas, coal mining developments in north Georgia and upper east Tennessee, cotton mills in Georgia and North Carolina, the latter a $500,000 plant; a 30-ton cottonseed oil mill in Texas, a fertilizer factory in West Virginia, a large flour mill in South Carolina, a 100-stamp gold milling plant and another gold mining company in the Dahlonega district, a $10,000 hardware company in Texas, ice factories in Kentucky and Virginia, a $100,000 lumber company in Florida, a nail mill in West Virginia, two planing mills in Georgia and one in Kentucky, sawmills in Tennessee and West Virginia, a saw works in Virginia, a spoke and handle factory in west Tennessee, a large tannery in east Tennessee, two telephone companies in Kentucky and a wood working plant in Alabama.

SURVEY FOR BIG RAILWAY LINE

Commission Appointed Ten Years Ago Makes Its Report as to the Feasibility of the Argentine Route. Mr. Cassatt's Report.

Few of the millions of people who have visited Mount Vernon during the last half century, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record, could have overlooked the picturesque and stalwart figure of Uncle Edmund Parker, the old colored man who reverently guarded the tomb of Washington. His courtly and dignified manners, his deeply marked face and the respectful courtesy with which he answered questions made an impression upon every one. He was tall of stature, but his shoulders were slightly bent with age and his beard and hair of late years became sprinkled with gray.

The old man died with the old year and is greatly missed by all the habitués of that sacred place, for he had been there since 1841, with occasional intervals of absence during the war. He was born in 1827 at Blakely farm, near Charleston, W. Va., a slave of Mrs. John Augustine Washington, and came with her to Mount Vernon.

Uncle Edmund was the father of 19 children, nine of whom are still living and visited him during his illness. He "disremembered" the date, but was very proud of the fact that he was married in the library of Mount Vernon mansion by Parson Libbey in the presence of the Washington family and was the only slave who ever had that honor. In olden times in the south masters used to perform the marriage ceremony, but on the occasion of Edmund's wedding Augustine Washington was ill, and Parson Libbey who was a member of the family circle, was called upon to officiate.

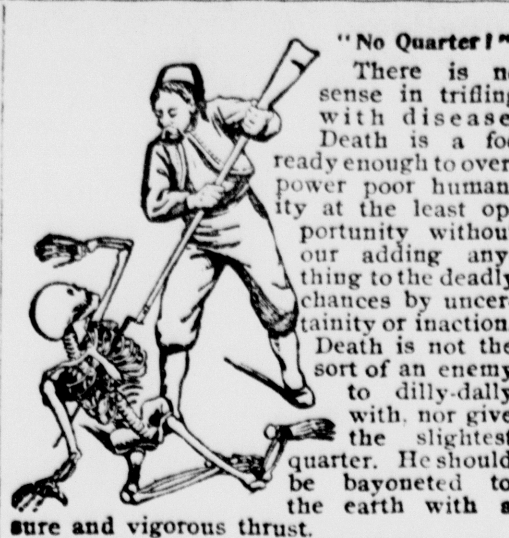

Uncle Edmund's successor as guard of the tomb of Washington is Thomas Bushrod, another venerable negro, who for the last eight years has been sexton at Pohick church, in Fairfax county, Va., with which Washington was so closely identified. Washington served on the committee that selected the site and superintended its construction and was a vestryman and warden of the parish for many years.

Thomas Bushrod was born in 1825 near Warrenton, Farquhar county. He was a slave of the Fitz-Hugh family from 1847, when his home was changed to a plantation near Pohick church, in Fairfax county where he has since lived.

One of the most important acts of the pan-American conference which met in Washington in 1889 was to arrange for a survey of an intercontinental railway line, as proposed by Hinton R. Helper many years ago, from the terminus of the Mexican Southern system on the isthmus of Tehuantepec to the northern terminus of the Argentina system at Jujuy, in the province of Salta, near the boundary of Bolivia. It is just ten years since the action of the conference was taken, and the reports of the commission which was appointed to supervise the survey are now handed to the president in printed form. They consist of four volumes of text and three volumes of maps and profiles. The first volume is devoted to a general account of the project and a description of the country through which the line is proposed to pass. The second volume is devoted to the work of the surveying parties in Central America, the third to Colombia and Ecuador and the fourth to Peru and Bolivia.

Mr. Alexander J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad was the chairman of the commission and had the general direction of the survey. The Central American party was in charge of Lieutenant McComb of the United States army. William F. Shunk of Pennsylvania was in command of the second party and J. Imbre Miller of the third. Their descriptions and notes are profusely illustrated with maps and engravings, and are exceedingly interesting. It was not intended to make a definite location, nor even a definite preliminary survey, but to ascertain the practicability of constructing a trunk line along the backbone of the hemisphere.

Exports of breadstuffs for January footed up $25,620,440, which is a slight advance on the same month last year. For the seven months ending Jan. 31 the export trade in breadstuffs was $168,296,561, which is $15,222,040 less than for the same period of last year. The falling off was entirely due to the war. The export trade in July and August fell about $2,000,000 below that of the two preceding months. It is worth noting that the exports of breadstuffs for the three months from Nov. 1 to Feb. 1 largely exceeded the foreign shipments for the whole year of 1895 during the Cleveland administration. The exports of provisions for January were only a few hundreds of thousands greater than for January 1898, the great foreign movement coming from good crops and high prices for breadstuffs rather than meats.

"No Quarter!" There is no sense in trifling with disease. Death is a foe ready enough to overpower poor humanity at the least opportunity without our adding anything to the deadly chances by uncertainty or inaction. Death is not the sort of an enemy to dilly-dally with, nor give the slightest quarter. He should be bayoneted to the earth with a sure and vigorous thrust.

There is just one medicine which can be counted on with absolute certainty to overcome the deadly assault of wasting disease and restore the rugged, masterly power of perfect health. The "Golden Medical Discovery" of Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., creates that keen digestive and nutritive capacity, which makes healthy, nourishing red blood, and keeps it pure and alive with bounding vitality. It nourishes, vitalizes and builds up every organ and tissue in the body; tones the liver; heals the lungs; strengthens the heart, and restores complete energy and cheerfulness.

"I had been troubled for several years with spells of liver complaint," writes H. N. Drausfeld, Esq., of Sweetsprings, Monroe Co., W. Va., "and about two years ago my health gave away. I tried Sarsaparilla. I was getting worse all the time. I had a weakness in my left side and limbs, palpitation of the heart at times, cramping pains in the stomach after eating; nerves weak, and no energy for anything. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and began to mend from the start. I soon felt like a new person. I am now enjoying splendid health and have a splendid appetite, good digestion, and also a peaceful, quiet mind."

Dr. Pierce's thousand-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser" contains over two hundred reliable prescriptions, with directions for self-treatment of all such diseases as are curable with out a physician. Anatomy, physiology and the laws of reproduction are explained, with over seven hundred illustrations. One copy, paper-covered, sent absolutely free for one-cent stamps, to pay cost of mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary, Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. Handsome cloth binding sent for 50 cents.

Senator Gray of Delaware is known as the prompter of the senate, says the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Post Dispatch. When a speaker gets stuck in the course of his argument and is uncertain about a date, figures or a legal point Senator Gray always comes to the rescue. He is a veritable encyclopedia of general information. One of the ablest lawyers in the senate, he is well versed on supreme court decisions of the past and present decades and his knowledge of parliamentary and criminal law is wonderful.

NO MORE IN THE BOARD

Will the Voice of Henry Chambers Be Raised,

Street Railway Company Paid For a Dead Horse—Money Collected For Church. Cinders Being Placed on Walks and Improvement Needed.

Henry Chambers, who has served as a member of the board of health from this part of the city for a number of years, will not be a candidate again. This action will be a surprise to many friends of Mr. Chambers, who were firm in the belief that he would serve another term. Mr. Chambers was seen by a reporter and said:

"I have served on the board long enough and I think someone else should be given a chance to try to benefit the health of the city. My relations with the board have been very pleasant, and while meetings have not been held as regularly as they might have been, many have been productive of good results."

Scattering Cinders.

A large amount of cinders are now being scattered about the streets of this part of the city, and in many instances the result has been beneficial.

At the corner of St. George and Chestnut streets cinders have been placed at each side of the roadway making it almost impossible for pedestrians to cross. Residents of that section have protested vigorously against the action, and it is thought the crossing will be finished within a short time.

Dedicatory Sermon.

Rev. J. R. Greene Saturday received word from Rev. H. C. Swearingen, pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, Allegheny, stating he would be in the city on March 9, and would deliver the dedicatory sermon in the Second United Presbyterian church. It was expected Rev. Dr. Meliken, of Sewickley, would preach on March 8, but he found it to be impossible. Rev. R. L. Hoy, of New Brighton, will speak on the evening of March 17.

Waiting on Weather.

Work upon the upper road leading into Pennsylvania avenue at the school house will be commenced when the weather permits.

Mr. Welch, who has charge of the work, stated to a reporter last evening that not less than five weeks' time would be required to complete the road after the work was thoroughly started. The road will be 60 feet wide and there is sufficient money now in the old appropriation to pay for it.

Distributed Groceries.

What might have been a serious accident occurred in Helana Saturday afternoon. A horse attached to a wagon owned by W. A. Finley and driven by John Finley, became frightened and ran off. The wagon contained a lot of groceries and during the flight of the horse the contents were scattered about the road. The wagon was slightly damaged, but the horse was uninjured.

Failed to Materialize.

The motormen held their regular monthly meeting in their hall Saturday night. It was largely attended, but nothing but routine business was transacted. It was said Saturday afternoon that it was probable an important question would be presented for discussion, but it failed to materialize. The next meeting will be held March 24.

Good Results.

The services at the Episcopal mission yesterday afternoon was well attended. It is said the mission will be a permanent feature of the church in the city, and as long as it is attended by a sufficient number of people it will receive the support of St. Stephen's church. So far the venture has been all that could be asked.

Mrs. Bell Recovering.

Mrs. John Bell, who fell while hanging a curtain in her home last Wednesday, is improving rapidly. Her injuries were not serious.

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Goodballet, of Helana, is seriously ill, suffering with pneumonia.

Settled the Claim.

The street railway company Saturday settled the claim of George Anderson. It will be remembered that a car of the company struck and killed a horse owned by Mr. Anderson two weeks ago last Saturday and seriously injured the rider, William Lewellen.

Have Some Money.

The building fund of the Second U. P. church has reached the $5,500 mark. The church cost $6,500. It is said that a portion of the amount will be collected before the church is dedicated, and possibly all of it.

RIVER FALLING

Sunday Boats Had Unusually Big Cargoes.

The marks at the wharf this morning registered 12 feet and falling.

The Keystone State, Kanawha and Ben Hur passed up yesterday, and all had as much freight on board as it was possible to carry. The Keystone had a large cargo of nails.

The Ben Hur and Keystone State will be down tonight and the Kanawha will be down tomorrow night. The Queen City will be up tomorrow afternoon.

Business at the wharf is increasing, and much freight is now being handled.

Will Come Up For Its Second Reading Tomorrow.

The ordinance prohibiting the saloonkeepers from putting screens at their windows at any time on Sunday will be up on its second reading at the meeting of council tomorrow evening.

It is probable no attempt will be made to pass it under a suspension of rules, but when it reaches its third reading the ordinance will probably pass without much opposition.

MRS. HUTCHISON'S FUNERAL.

Services Were Held at the Methodist Protestant Church.

The funeral of Mrs. W. E. Hutchison, nee Miss Fanchon E. Bennett, took place yesterday afternoon from the Methodist Protestant church, and was very largely attended. The funeral address was made by Rev. R. B. Whitehead, and Rev. C. F. Swift delivered a few remarks. The music was very beautiful. The remains were interred in Riverview cemetery.

MASHED HIS HAND.

John Short Suffered an Accident at the McNicol Pottery.

John Short, who is employed as packer at the D. E. McNicol pottery, met with a painful accident. He had his right hand caught between a cask and a post, mashing it very severely. The injury was dressed by a physician, but it will be several days before Mr. Short is again able to be at work.

Daniel R. Ryan Tonight.

The Daniel R. Ryan company will present "Thou Shalt Not" for the first time in East Liverpool at the Grand Opera House tonight. The play belongs to a romantic melo-dramatic school and is certainly one of the very best of its class. The character of Jack Diamond is said to be Mr. Ryan's happiest characterization, and Miss Fuller will be seen to advantage as Annie Dennison. The Ryan company have never given an unsatisfactory performance and they deserve the success they are achieving.

THE CRUSHING OF COPRA

The Philippines May Furnish a New Industrial Opening.

EXTRACTING OIL FROM COCOANUTS

Possible Transfer to the United States of an Industry Now Carried on Almost Exclusively in France. Raw Product Comes From Philippine Islands.

Robert P. Skinner, the United States consul at Marseilles, France, makes the following report:

"The occupation of the Philippine Islands by the United States suggests the possibility of a transfer to the United States of an industry which is now almost exclusively confined to the city of Marseilles. The crushing of oleaginous seeds and cocoanuts for the extraction of the oil they contain has for many years given employment to hundreds of women, and the skillful use of blended oils in the manufacture of soap gave to this city its worldwide reputation for the latter. In more recent times the American cottonseed oil has to a large extent replaced the copra or coconut oil, at the same time severely crippling the seed crushing business. A soap manufacturer advises me that the cotton oil cannot, however, entirely supplant the coconut oil, as the former, if used alone, produces a soap too soft to be acceptable to commerce, and the latter, if unmixed with cotton or peanut oil, makes a soap as much too hard. I am informed that a mixture of about half and half produces the best results, and that the failure of Marseilles manufacturers to maintain these proportions has been followed by a distinct falling off in the quality of some famous brands of Marseilles soaps.

"The copra or cocoanuts crushed in Marseilles come almost exclusively from the Philippine Islands. In the year 1897 the imports amounted to 686,120 metric quintals, (1 quintal equals 220.46 pounds), in addition to which 31,910 metric quintals were imported from the French colonies. The highest price paid at Marseilles during 1897 was $6.94 and the lowest $5.31. The nuts fall from the trees and lie on the ground until the hard shell separates from the kernel and decays. The kernel appears to lose none of its useful qualities, though permitted to remain on the ground for a year or more. When a favorable opportunity occurs, the copra is gathered, dumped into some small coasting boat and eventually reaches Marseilles. At the present time the price is uncertain and almost double the average figure because of a complete suspension of arrivals from Manila. On Jan. 11 the total stock of copra in the docks and warehouses was only 1,530 quintals, and the fear now prevails that the troubles among the natives will prevent the shipment of any considerable quantity for some time to come.

TAGALS AND VISAYAS.

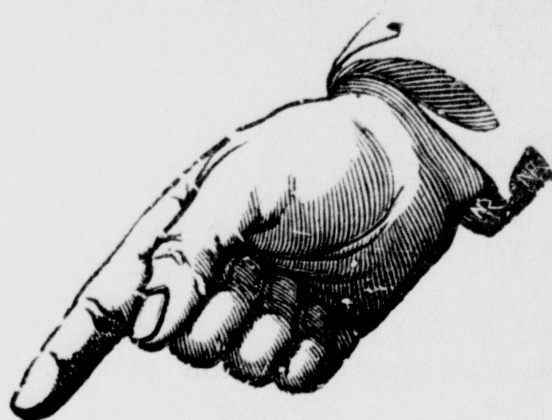

Two Important Tribes of the Inhabitants of the Philippines.

Only a small part of the 8,000,000 inhabitants of the Philippines rebelled against the rule of Spain, and a still smaller part is now opposing our army. The portions of the archipelago inhabited by the Tagals and the Visayas are by far the most important of the ten groups into which the islands are divided. Aguinaldo and his coterie have large influence over a great many of the Tagals, but whether his party is able to control the whole of their people has not yet appeared. At any rate we have no reason as yet to suppose that our army is opposed by any of the Philippine peoples except the Tagals.

The Tagals number about 1,500,000 people. Their domain comprises all the central parts of Luzon, on which Manila stands, and they have been slowly encroaching upon the other populations of the island. They have also gained the upper hand in the neighboring islands of Mindoro and Marinduque. They are met everywhere along the seaboard of these islands. Most of the native population of Manila is Tagal, and the most civilized factor among the islanders is the Tagal people.

The Visayas, however, are still more numerous, comprising about 2,500,000 people, and they occupy a larger area of the islands. They have given their name to the central group of islands, and Iloilo and Zebu, the two largest ports after Manila, are in their territory. They have also occupied the northeastern part of the great southern island of Mindanao. The missionary work of the Spanish clergy has been chiefly among these two peoples, and as they have come into relations with the foreign traders and the enterprising Chinese, who are a large factor in the business, particularly of Luzon, they have made greater advance in civilization than the other half of the natives.

VOTE EXPECTED TODAY.

Depends Upon How Long Gorman and Others Fight the Army Bill.
Likely to Pass Finally.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The week opened with the compromise army bill still before the senate, but it is impossible to say how long it may continue to demand the attention of that body. The best opinion is to the effect that a vote will be secured today, but this depends largely upon the temper of Mr. Gorman and his friends, who insist upon the amendment of the army bill so as to further curtail the size of the army in 1901. It is not, however, believed that they will press their opposition to the point of entering into an extended controversy over the merits of the measure, and the friends of the bill count confidently on a vote before adjournment today. Mr. Gorman disclaimed any intention to force delay, but said he would press his amendment as long as there is any chance of success.

If the debate should be continued to any considerable length the nation would be generally accepted as indicating a purpose to force an extra session, as all admit that with as many appropriation bills as are pending it is impracticable to give very much more time to the army bill and still pass the supply bills before the 4th inst. There is yet no danger of failure on either the army bill or the appropriation bills. No senator can be found who avows himself desirous of forcing a called session. Hence the general belief that all these measures will become laws, and that when congress adjourns for the session next Saturday legislation will be in such shape as to permit the legislators to remain at their homes until next December. There was no doubt of the passage of the army bill by a large majority when the vote is taken.

CORNISH MAY TESTIFY AGAIN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—If the inquest into the death of Mrs. Kate J. Adams is not completed by tomorrow night Coroner Hart will demand that further hearing be adjourned until he can dispose of some outstanding cases.

Cornish is to have another session on the stand, several members and employees of the Knickerbocker Athletic club are to be called and then the police of the detective bureau and the handwriting experts will tell what they know and what they suspect.

The college is one of the oldest in the United States and has not closed its doors for 150 years.

DEFENSE OF CERVERA.

Blamed the Government For the Defeat.
Said He Was Sent Against His Will.

MADRID, Feb. 27.—The newspapers are urging the government to maintain its precautions against Carlist activity, especially on the frontier, where attempts are being made to smuggle arms and ammunition into the country with a view to an early Carlist rising.

El Correspondencia Militar estimates that 440,000,000 pesetas will be required to cover the cost of the last two wars in Cuba.

The committee of the senate for the verification of credentials has examined Admiral Cervera, who had contended that he was entitled to sit in the senate inasmuch as criminal proceedings had not been taken against him. The admiral declared that if the loss of his squadron were a crime it must be attributed to the government, which sent him to the Antilles against his will. He told the committee that he wept on receiving congratulations upon his safe arrival at Santiago de Cuba for he had foreseen disaster.

REGIMENT TO BE MUSTERED OUT

How the Boys Are Spending Their Last Days as Volunteers in Camp McKenzie, Ga.—Minnesota Soldiers Wanted Revenge For the Death of a Comrade.

CAMP MCKENZIE, AUGUSTA, GA., Feb. 24.—After a season of the coldest weather the people of this part of the country probably ever knew, the sun has come again, and there is much joy in consequence. The cold was intense while it lasted, although, like many other disagreeable things, the average soldier began to take it as a matter of course. The good news has come at last. Orders were received during the week for the muster out of the Eighth and Thirtieth Pennsylvania and the First Maryland. March 4 was the date set for the important ceremony for the Thirtieth, but the books and accounts of some companies were not in proper condition, and the time was changed to March 11. The troops will all be discharged from service here, and provided with transportation money to place of enlistment. They can go home as they please.

Drills have been abolished, and nothing but a little monotonous guard duty occupies our time. A division review early in the week gave the boys one more good taste of the glories of military life and brought a great crowd of people from Augusta to see the soldiers parade.

In spite of the air of gladness which seems to make its presence felt everywhere we have had our share of excitement recently. It all came about by the shooting of a member of the Fifteenth Minnesota. He was instantly killed by a citizen. The act enraged his comrades, among whom he was popular, and many soldiers of the regiment decided to take the matter in their own hands. Breaking into the commissary they secured ammunition and took up the march to the city, seeking revenge. They were not far from the town when they were halted by the cavalry and provost marshal's guard, and an end speedily put to the trouble. The leaders were promptly put under arrest, and General Sumner announced that their punishment would be severe. The remainder were returned to camp, and for several days no soldier was permitted outside the guard line except on detail. It was an exciting episode, and gave a topic for general discussion. Sickness in camp continues an annoyance, but there is not much of it now. The principal thing which seems to trouble the boys is the fact that they cannot be mustered out sooner.

FOR COUNCIL.

A Number of Well Known Men Were Announced This Morning.

A number of candidates for council are announced today, among them being some names that will surprise the public.

F. M. Albright, of the French China company, is the first for the First ward, while Willard Morris, who was a candidate for the same position two years ago, is also announced.

Thomas S. Collins is a candidate from the Third ward.

In the Fourth ward the name of William Outhbert is given as a positive candidate, and the friends of John Stamm, of the Union pottery, are endeavoring to have him make the race.

FOUR HUNDRED

Will Be Added to the City's Population by Extension.

The extension of the corporate limits which was decided upon Saturday by the county commissioners will add almost 400 people to the population of the city.

The councilmen are well satisfied with the decision of the commissioners as they will now have a chance when the roads are improved to assess a portion of the cost against the property owners.

WALL TORN DOWN.

Frost Caused Trouble at the Salem Pottery.

The Salem Herald of Saturday says: "This morning the brick wall on the south side of the new pottery was found to be out of plumb and it was necessary to tear it down. The cold weather had some effect on it undoubtedly. The work was only finished to the first story and it will not take much time to rebuild the part torn down. The wall on the east side of the building is in good shape."

Gunners' Patron Saint.

Why was St. Barbara chosen to be the patron saintess of all gunners? It is one of those things which are to be known and which one ought to know, but does not. Meanwhile there is the fact that she does intercede for all gunners by land or sea. In the old French navy the Ste. Barbe was the gun-room, and the name may be found with that meaning attached to it in all dictionaries. Moreover, in France she is the saint not only of gunners, but of all fire brigades. The sapeurs pompiers, who, for some mysterious reason, are a regular chopping block for jokes, hold their holiday on the day of her feast.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

SUBSTITUTE FOR RUBBER.

New Process For Oxidizing Vegetable Oils Said to Be Successful.

A new industry which has just been established upon an apparently firm basis in England uses for its raw material linseed oil or any of the other vegetable oils of similar properties. It promises to become of wide importance because its products partake of many of the qualities of india rubber and gutta percha, the supplies of which show a constant tendency to fall below the growing demands. That oils of this sort have in them qualities of high usefulness was discovered ages ago, when they were first used for paints, and the new industry takes advantage of the same quality of hardening by oxidation.

Linseed oil has been used for paints and varnishes for generations. It is well known that when the oil is spread out in a thin layer exposed to the air it absorbs oxygen and becomes very hard. When the oil is left in bulk exposed to the air, it gradually becomes "fatty," as it is called technically, or of a gummy consistency. Exposures of different periods will give any grade of hardness between these two. Other vegetable oils act in the same way, and many attempts have been made to take commercial advantage of these qualities. Some, like the manufacture of oilcloths and linoleum, have been very successful. The difficulty experienced heretofore in attempting to use the oxidized oils for other purposes has been the fact that it was mechanically impossible to accomplish the perfect and graded combination of the oxygen with the oil, as might be needed for the different purposes.

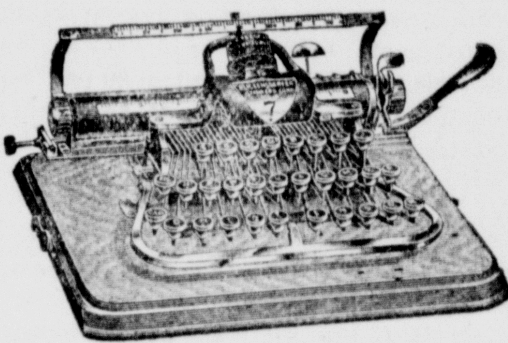

The general method adopted was to allow the oil to drip from the top to the bottom of a wide, suspended sheet of scrim, an open meshed textile fabric, while a current of air was driven upon it. By this method the surface of the oil was solidified, but the action did not extend all through it, and there was therefore a portion of unaffected oil held within, which was fatal to many of the uses which it was known might be made of a more perfect product.

Mr. Charles Grist of England has perfected a system by which it is asserted that this trouble is entirely overcome, and a large factory has been built where many articles are manufactured from the oils solidified by his process.

BATTLE BETWEEN ANTS.

One Army Invades a School to Attack Another Living in the Walls.

A missionary who is in charge of the Catholic school at Mpala, on Lake Tanganyika, Africa, tells of an extraordinary battle between ants in his schoolroom, which the pupils and their teacher were compelled to abandon in haste when the invading foe appeared on the scene. The deserted room became the theater of a hotly contested battle between ants that had homes in the cracks of the stone walls and another species which advanced to the fight from the fields. The thousands of ants living in the walls are known to the natives as masumbolo. They are very large and black, and as it is almost impossible to get rid of them, and they have the excellent quantity of letting human beings alone, little attention is paid to them. The invading ants were not more than a third as large as the other species. They are called siafou and are nomads and thieves by nature. When they discovered the home of the peaceful black insects they felt certain that a rich booty of larvae awaited them and lost no time in advancing to the attack.

Their squadrons moved forward in close files. They clambered up the door steps and into the room, moving very rapidly and began the fiercest sort of an attack upon the enemy, whom they surprised at home engaged in their peaceful occupations. Though the masumbolo are so much larger than their fierce little enemies, they could not stand against these formidable aggressors, who are most effectively armed with the sharpest and hottest of pinchers. So the attacked insects made scarcely any resistance, but gathered up as much of their larvae as they could carry and fled at the top of their speed. They fairly carpeted the floor as they moved toward the doors, while their conquerors lost no time in further attack upon the unresisting fugitives, but began to pillage the city that had been so suddenly abandoned.

A few minutes later, however, the siafou paid very dearly for the raid they had made. Dozens of the school children applied wisps of burning straw to the cracks which the conquering ants had entered and burned them at the very place of their victory.

Anglo-American Dowries.

According to an estimate that has been made of the Anglo-American marriages during the past few years no fewer than 152 American women have married European noblemen. The dowries they have brought amount in the aggregate to rather more than £3,330,000, which would give an average fortune of some £20,000 to each of them.—London Chronicle.

High Prices in the Klondike.

According to a letter sent to a close friend by Manuel Freeney, who left his home in Philadelphia last fall for the Klondike, says The Press, they know how to charge for things in that way below zero land. A prospector is charged $10 for a miner's license, which entitles him to cut timber in his immediate vicinity, and then he receives a bill of $20 from the timber agent when he exercises the prerogative of his license. The government, furthermore, compels each miner to pay a tribute of 10 per cent on all gold taken out in a season amounting to more than $500. Fifteen dollars must be paid to a recorder of claims. Each letter sent the Klondiker costs him $3. Cigars, of doubtful quality, range in price from 25 to 50 cents each, 10 cigarettes cost 50 cents, and smoking tobacco brings $4 a pound. A like amount of chewing tobacco in only 50 cents less, while a small window net its seller $20, and a Seattle newspaper, no matter what the date, can't be purchased for less than $2 per copy.

Memorial to Yeoman Henry Ellis.

Senator Chandler of New Hampshire wants to commemorate the memory of Henry Ellis, a yeoman on the cruiser Brooklyn, who was the only man in the north Atlantic fleet who lost his life during the naval battle off Santiago, when Cervera's fleet was destroyed. He introduced a resolution recently authorizing the secretary of the navy to erect a monument to the sailor's memory at some suitable place. Five thousand dollars is appropriated to defray the expenses of this project.—Chicago Tribune.

News comes from Madrid that the situation at Manila is serious. Had it come from any other source it might be believed.

RUDYARD KIPLING is making a plucky fight for life, and the thousands of Americans who have learned to know him sincerely hope he will be victorious.

If the Filipinos think they can

THE RIGHT MAN.

The public affairs of the average municipality are not a matter for much consideration on the part of citizens who are directly interested. Each man who asks a responsible position at the hands of the people should be known, and if he can be trusted to carry out the promises candidates so often make there is no reason why he should not win.
 But see that the man for whom you vote is the right man.

MR. HANNA'S VICTORY.

If Hon. Mark Hanna is the man to recognize a triumph, he is without question in a happy frame of mind today. It has been announced in Washington that the committee on privileges and elections of the senate have acquitted him of the charge of bribery in securing his election, while in Cleveland
 Hon. V. H. Burke, one of his accusers, has been disbarred from the practice of his profession because of irregularities.
 The public can draw its conclusion from the facts given.

CONGRESSMAN JOHNSON.

The Hon. Mr. Johnson, of Indiana, is better known today than when a misguided but enthusiastic constituency elevated him to a seat in the house of representatives, but it must not be understood that Mr. Johnson has won fame. Instead he has simply become notorious. Had he given to the world something by which humanity would have been uplifted, performed some deed of valor, or even accomplished
 some feat that would not live longer than his life, he might have some claim on distinction. But Mr. Johnson has done none of these. He has only abused
 and maligned the President of the United States. He has sought to build for himself a place in the annals of his country by adopting as his foundation
 the most contemptible course known to public men. He has not made history.
 He has, with all his studied metaphors
 of malignity, accomplished nothing more than the creation of public astonishment. If Mr. Johnson has in preparation another vicious attack on the President or if he has a score of them,
 the result will doubtless be the same.
 Long after he has gathered home to his fathers and the cause which he pretends
 to champion, but which he possibly uses
 as a cloak while he works out some fancied injury, has ceased to be a memory, the name of William McKinley will be remembered as that of a true American. Men like Mr. Johnson build nothing but tottering, temporary structures.

Another Story of a Sewer Pipe
 Trust Is Afloat.

OHIO VALLEY PLANTS ARE IN

While the Akron District Is Well Represented—Fifteen or Twenty Companies
 Are Credited With Being Back of the Movement—Ninety Per Cent Controlled.

The question of a sewer pipe trust has come to the surface again, this time
 from a source where they do not issue trust charters or make the material in question. It is a dispatch from Washington which says:

"Reliable information comes tonight
 from a gentleman interested in the project that a combination of sewer pipe manufacturers is about to be accomplished. The promoters of the plan have been working for its consummation
 in New York City for more than a week, and their efforts are about to prove successful. Options by all the concerns to be included in the combination have just been submitted to the organization committee, and now all that remains to be done is to equalize the distribution of capital stock among the interested parties.

"Between 15 and 20 sewer pipe companies will make up the combination when it is completed, and many of these will be Ohio concerns. Among them can be mentioned the following: The National Sewer Pipe company, Barberton; the Akron Sewer Pipe company,
 Robinson Bros. & Co., Whitmore,
 Robinson & Co., the Summit Sewer
 Pipe company and the Buckeye Sewer Pipe company, all of Akron. There are nearly a dozen other manufacturers of pipe who are located in the Ohio valley who are also on the list, and one concern in Huntingdon, Pa. The new company will have an aggregate capitalization of between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000, and will control 90 per cent
 States."

ANOTHER STORY.

An Akron Man Has a Few Words on the Combination.

E. H. Gibbs, secretary of the Summit Sewer Pipe company, of Akron is quoted as saying that the prospectus of the new combination would be issued today or Tuesday. "The new company will be known as the American Sewer Pipe company," he said, "and will have headquarters either in Pittsburg or Cleveland. It will be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, and will have a capital stock of $25,000,000. Half of this will be cumulative preferred stock and half common stock. Of this capital $20,000,000 will be used in purchasing the 51 plants, on which the new company has options. Thirty-one of them are located in the Ohio district,
 three are at Uhrichsville, three in Michigan, three in Indiana, three in New York and eight in the Akron district.
 All of these plants have been satisfactorily appraised. The combine will have a working capital of $5,000,000."

SPAIN VICTORIOUS

Would Have Been the Result
 Had She Been Right Said
 Rev. Mr. Whitehead.

Services at the First Presbyterian church last evening were largely attended and Doctor Lee delivered an eloquent sermon upon "Some sensible excuses for not being a Christian and what they do for us." The choir rendered very pleasing selections while the male quartet sang two numbers. A short after meeting was held after the close of the regular services.

Prof. O. S. Reed yesterday occupied the pulpit of the Christian church, and was greeted by large audiences, in the evening the house being so crowded
 that many people were unable to obtain seats. The subject of his discourse was
 "What Would Jesus Do?" and the sermon was a very eloquent one, receiving the marked attention of the entire audience.

Rev. C. F. Swift yesterday morning at the Methodist Protestant church preached the annual sermon to the Ladies' Missionary society of that church. The service was well attended.
 Last night Reverend Whitehead, pastor
 of the First Methodist Protestant church, Southside, Pittsburg, preached to a large congregation. During his discourse the speaker said: "God is always on the right side. If Spain had been right, even though a weak nation, and the United States wrong, and a strong nation, the result of the various battles would have been different from what they were."

Doctor Weir, president of Scio college, yesterday occupied the pulpit of the First M. E. church and delivered two very eloquent addresses. Doctor Crawford, pastor of the church, was able to be present at the evening service for the first time in many weeks and made a few remarks.

The revival services now being conducted by the Free Methodists in the chapel are productive of good results.
 The meetings held yesterday resulted in six conversions.

NINE WERE IN JAIL.

City Prison Well Filled With Offenders.

Nine persons spent yesterday in jail,
 the largest number who have been kept in custody over Sunday for several weeks. Mayor Bough did not appear at city hall during the morning, and no hearings were held until late this afternoon.

Saturday Thompson Hineman, Chester, and Edward Hunselman and Charles Nelson were put in jail, with charges of suspicion against them. Orders were given by Chief Johnson to let no one see the men, and at noon today the charge had not been changed. Chief Johnson would not say any thing about the men, but it was learned that charges of burglary would be made. The officers have been calling upon the persons who have been robbed recently, but with what result is not made known. The men will be heard this evening.

The charge of intoxication against James Mullen will probably be changed
 When he was being put in jail he said to the officer that he "supposed it was about the goods." The remark led to investigation and the authorities now have in their possession some dry goods, for which they would like to find an owner.

A man named Davidson, who claimed to be a Wellsville Democrat, was locked up Saturday night on a charge of intoxication. He was given a ride in the patrol in charge of Officer Mahony.

William Rigby was drunk in Seventh street Saturday night and was enjoying himself when Officers McCullough and O'Donnell gathered him in and took him to jail in the wagon. He is charged with being drunk.

Charles Carraher, who was fined $9 60
 Friday, and Ben Scott who was assessed a similar amount Thursday, are still in custody. What disposition will be made of them cannot be learned.

DOS PASSOS IS PAYING

For Clerical Work Done In This Place.

It Is Sent by Haskins & Sells, But the Receipt Is Made Out For the Big Man of the American Potteries Company--Mention of the "Potteries Committee."

Now that the work in connection with the appraisal of local potteries for the American Potteries company is completed, the men who toiled day and night at the Thompson House are receiving their pay.

It will be remembered that the force of accountants sent from New York were assisted by a large number of local men acquainted with the clerical part of the business. Their accounts were recently sent to the firm of Haskins & Sells, and yesterday they received express money orders for the amounts given. At the bottom of each letter was a blank receipt made out to John R. Dos Passos, showing that he is paying for the work. The receipts say the work was done in connection with the "Potteries Committee."

NO DEFINITE TIME

As to When the Trust Will Begin Operations, Says John R. Dos Passos.

The last news concerning the American Potteries company was being discussed today, and since it comes from John R. Dos Passos is interesting.

It seems that a well known manufacturer wired Mr. Dos Passos Saturday and asked him when the trust would take charge. He received an answer which said for him to proceed with his business as usual, but no definite time could be given when the company would take charge of the business.

M'NICOL COMPANY ROBBED

Matter Reported to the Police, But No Arrests Yet Made.

The decorating department of the D. R. McNicol Pottery company was entered by thieves early Saturday morning, and material to the amount of about $25 was taken.

The matter was reported to the police, but as yet no arrests have been made in the case, and Chief Johnson refuses absolutely to talk of the matter. At the office of the company it was stated that no money was taken as was reported, and nothing but material has been missing up to the present time.

Old Sewer Pipe Trust Interested.

LISBON, Feb. 27.—[Special]—The old Phoenix National bank, of Medina, has filed action against Alvin M. Winsper and the Central Sewer Pipe company.

The bank claims that Winsper is indebted to it in the sum of $1731.72 on two notes and secured by mortgage on lot 1226 in Leetonia. It also asks to be reimbursed to the extent of $89.70 for taxes it has paid. The Central Sewer Pipe company has claims to the property which it is asked to set up. The plaintiff asks for foreclosure.

Entered Suit For Tickets.

George F. Knowles & Co., this morning in the court of Squire Manley entered suit against William R. McCord, to recover $1.50, the cost of two seats to a performance given for the benefit of the hospital fund. The case is set for hearing March 6, at 4 o'clock.

Geo. F. Knowles this morning settled the bill of a local paper by paying 80 cents and the costs.

TWO FROZEN FEET MENTIONED

They Belong to the Young Man Who Took the Animal From His Father's Stable and Brought It to This Place Where It Was Found.

Several days ago a horse was left at the stable of Jack Allison, and as he did not know its owner the animal was turned over to Constable Miller who had about made up his mind to sell it when an owner appeared.

Saturday night a man named Landers, who resides in the northern part of the county, appeared and stated that the horse belonged to him, having been taken from his stable by his son, James Landers, who rode it to this city and sold it to F. D. Mosher, giving him a note stating that he had sold the horse to him. Mosher in turn traded the animal to John McLaughlin for $1.45, a watch and several other articles, but how the horse got to the stable of Allison is not known.

Landers had no trouble in proving that he owned the horse, but Allison refused to give it up unless he was paid $4 for feed. An effort was made to raise the money, and finally one of the parties went security for the amount and Landers started for his home with the horse.

While the boy was making his way to this city he had his feet frozen, and after selling the horse returned home where he is now suffering severely, and an effort was made to raise money to send him to the hospital, but it was not successful.

John McLaughlin received what he paid to Mosher for the horse, and the only persons who seemed to have lost by the transaction are Mosher and Landers.

Of cotton looms the state has 182,183 wool cards, 1,898 sets, worsted combs, 412, wooden looms 20,518 and silk looms, 843. It will be seen that Massachusetts has over 40 per cent of the entire cotton spindleage of the country. It has 22 per cent of all the wool cards, and shows an increase of 61 sets within two years. Of the 1,373 worsted combs in the country Massachusetts has 412, or about 33 per cent while New England has nearly 60 per cent of the total. The number of silk looms in Massachusetts has increased about 200 within the last two years but the increase in the number of looms which are working on cotton and silk or wool and silk must be much larger. —Boston Transcript

Will Be Filed In the W. E. Morrow Case.

LEAVE GRANTED BY JUDGE SMITH

Saturday Afternoon at Wellsville--The Matter Will Be Argued In the Near Future--It Reopens the Matter For Further Consideration.

The attorneys for W. E. Morrow were Saturday granted leave to file a petition in error in the case in which he was found guilty by Mayor Bough for permitting gambling on his premises.

The motion was argued one day last week before Judge Smith, and on Saturday afternoon Solicitor McGarry and Attorney Cook appeared before the judge at his office in Wellsville and he stated that he had decided to grant the request to file a petition in error. The motion will be heard on its merits sometime next week.

This does not necessarily mean that the court will reverse the decision of Mayor Bough in finding Mr. Morrow guilty, but it does mean that there is some doubt in regard to the decision and the case may be remanded back for a new trial or the city may be ordered to refund the fine of $50.

Should Judge Smith decide that the decision of the mayor was sustained by the evidence then the attorneys for Morrow can take the case to circuit court, and on to supreme court if they see fit to do so.

The question of whether Mayor Bough should have granted a change of venue in the case will in all probability not be taken into consideration in the decision rendered by Judge Smith, as he stated Saturday that he had been unable to find any statute covering the matter.

THE OZAR'S SINOERE FRIENDSHIP

"On the Day We Need Aid in the Far East Russia Will Be Found Ready to Assist Us—The Great Siberian Railway."

Ethan Allen Hitchcock, recently United States ambassador to the court of the czar of the Russians, has returned to this country to assume the duties of his new post as secretary of the interior. He appeared to regard with complacency the change from the palace on the Newski Prospect to the dingy little whitewashed room in the patent office at Washington.

"What was the sentiment in Russia regarding our war with Spain?" was asked by a reporter of the New York World upon his arrival on the Tonic. "In official circles the victory of the United States was regarded as a foregone conclusion. The great masses of the Russian people knew little about the conflict. Newspapers are not read in Russia to any great extent. Information travels slowly. The feeling of steadfast friendship for the American people that is found everywhere is inexpressible, but it could not be shaken by any diplomatic influence that any European power could exert. 'Toujours fidele' is the phrase that every citizen

"Is she averse to our encroachments in the east?"

"Not in the slightest. She has her own plans regarding China, but they are commercial rather than imperial. She will not express joy or annoyance regarding the annexation of the Philippines, but she will stand ready to endorse our course at the time moral support is needed. The people of the United States never should forget for a single instant that, expressed or unexpressed, the friendship of the Russian czar has been and is with them. To doubt the undemonstrative fidelity of the czar and the imperial cabinet is unjust and thoughtless. Russia will be with us on that great day in which we shall need her help in the far east."

"Tell me about the czar's peace programme?" was the first suggestion.

"It is sincere and is so accepted by diplomatists who represent nations unfriendly to Russia," said Mr. Hitchcock. "I had my last audience with the czar three weeks ago at Moscow, and he expressed informally the utmost hopefulness regarding the outcome of the commission. Even though it should fail a vast amount of information will have been gathered as to the temper of the various powers, the views of their rulers and cabinets. That peace conference will be an epoch making assemblage. If the United States is to become the world power that is now clearly indicated, the work of that conference will be of vital interest to every citizen of this land."

"Tell us about the Siberian railway's progress?" was suggested.

"It is one of the greatest commercial enterprises of the century. The minister who is building it told me a month ago that trains would be running from Irkutsk to Vladivostok in 1902. He told me the earth then could be circumnavigated in 40 days. This is four years earlier than was originally expected, but the importance of the road has become so manifest that the utmost urgency has been enforced. It is wholly surveyed, and the rails are going down as fast as they can be got to their places. It is quite possible to travel by rail now from Nijni-Novgorod on the Volga to Irkutsk—made familiar to the civilized world by Jules Verne in 'Michael Strogoff.'"

"What will be the final terminus on the Pacific?"

"It hasn't been officially promulgated, but you can say that it will be Tientsin, a fine harbor in Manchuria, little known, which will be made absolutely Russian. Port Arthur wouldn't suit, though a branch line of railway will be run to that place."

"What is the traffic?"

"Passengers rather than freight. Where they originally intended to run one train a day each way they are now running six. The towns among the Siberian steppes are quite populous. The rates of fare in Russia are much lower than in any other part of the world. It is the intention of the Russian govern-

"Was it very cold at St. Petersburg when you left?"

"Not as we understand cold. Of course the Neva was frozen solid and teams were crossing it. Evergreens are set out in the ice to mark the continuation of streets across the water and present a very pretty picture. The opera, the theaters and the cafes are aglow with life in the coldest weather."

NOVEL SAVINGS INSTITUTE.

How Germany Encourages Thrift Among the Laboring Classes.

Walter Schumann, our consul at Mainz, Germany, describes in his report to the state department a novel savings institution. He says:

A few years ago the City Savings bank inaugurated a novel method for inducing people, especially the laboring class and small shopkeepers, to save their money. Instead of obliging the people to bring their savings to the bank, the bank undertook to collect from its depositors certain fixed sums weekly. The following is the method pursued: The application of the new depositor is made either in person or by letter, and must state the address at which the weekly deposit is to be collected and the amount. This amount may be either 50 pfennigs or 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 or 10 marks (1 mark equals 23.8 cents). The amount to be collected may be changed at any time.

On payment of the first deposit the depositor is furnished with a passbook, in which the amount of the first deposit and the date are entered. The following weekly deposits are not entered when collected, but only on presentation of the pass book at the bank when a withdrawal of money is made or at the end of the year to balance the account. The weekly amount is collected by employees of the institution, and as a receipt the depositor is given a printed coupon showing the amount collected, the date and the number of the pass book.

In order to insure prompt payment a coupon is presented by the collector. If a coupon which has been returned to the bank by the collector as unpaid is not paid within eight days, the institution reserves the right to close the depositor's account. All deposits made during one year draw interest from the 1st of January of the following year. The rate of interest is the same as paid by the savings bank on its ordinary accounts—at present 3½ per cent. Deposits may be withdrawn at any time on presentation of the passbook and the coupon for the last payment.

Following are the statistics of the savings banks at Mainz for the years 1896 and 1897: Collections for the year 1896 amounted to $165,392; in 1897 they were $176,170; number of depositors for these years was 5,263 and 5,485 respectively; the amounts withdrawn, $141,656 and $154,622; the balance due, $121,663 and $137,030. In 1898 the most popular sum for deposits was 2 marks (47.6 cents); number of depositors in this class was 1,730; the 50 pfennig class numbered 244 and the 10 mark class 357.

The Mainz branch has not been started by the savings bank as an institution of profit, but merely as an incentive for the poorer classes to save their earnings, and so far has met with great success.

BUFF EGGS THE FASHION.

A Farmers' Club Claims the Four Hundred Won't Eat White Ones.

If you want to be in the fashion in New York, you must eat eggs with buff colored shells. That fact leaked out at the monthly meeting of the Farmers' club the other afternoon in New York, where there was an egg exhibit.

The information about buff colored eggs being the most fashionable came from the Hampton farm, Poughkeepsie, which sent three platefuls of eggs to prove its case. The darkest colored, which are those eaten by the Four Hundred, are laid by Barred Plymouth Rocks. The product of other birds is barred by aristocrats who know the ropes.

"In England," said the farmer who brought the eggs down from Poughkeepsie, "it is the pure white eggs that are most in vogue, like that plateful laid by a white Leghorn. In the United States we don't eat the shells, and even if a white shell looks prettier we don't prefer it. The brown eggs have the best flavor. For once a society fad is justified by the facts."

In England it is customary for the egg eater to delve directly into the egg with a spoon and transfer the contents to the interior of the face. He can tell exactly the color of the shell he is getting, for it sits there in the egg cup. In the United States, where many citizens hire a waiter to pour the egg into a glass before he brings it to the table, they are not protected against eggs of unfashionable color unless they insist on the shells being escorted into the room with the egg meat. Even in that case a treacherous waiter might get a couple of bug colored shells and serve them with every egg order indefinitely. The practice of dyeing white eggs into a fashionable tint is condemned unanimously by the Farmers' club.—New York Journal.

DEATH OF COLONEL CONGER.

Former Ohio National Committeeman Expired Suddenly at Des Moines.

DES MOINES, Feb. 27.—Colonel A. L. Conger died from a stroke of paralysis. He came here about a year ago from Akron, O., and established a college of osteopathy. He was for eight years a member of the Republican national committee from Ohio.

Mr. Conger was born at Boston, Summit county, O., on Feb. 19, 1838. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in the One Hundred and Fifteenth Ohio volunteer infantry. His legal acumen and fearless discharge of perilous duties soon gained for him promotion. At the close of the war he returned to Ohio and taught school at Peninsula. The Republicans of Summit county elected him treasurer in 1866 and re-elected him in 1868. In 1871 he removed to Akron and became a salesman for the Whitman & Mills Manufacturing company.

He became a stockholder, then a director and finally secured a consolidation with the George Barnes works of Syracuse, becoming the corporation's president and general manager. He gradually became interested in a large number of commercial enterprises in Akron and other cities. In 1883 President Arthur appointed him director of the Union Pacific railroad. He was also vice president of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company.

In 1864 he married Emily Volney, and to them there were born four sons.

AGAINST SEATING POLYGAMISTS.

The D. A. R. Congress Passed a Resolution at the Meeting in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Mrs. McLean, at a session of the D. A. R. here, offered the following resolution:

"Whereas, This house has abiding confidence in the honor of the congress of the United States.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Daughters of the American Revolution, assembled in congress of 1899, that the nation's law makers should, by the passage of suitable laws, make impossible the election of a polygamist to public office."

After having read the resolution, Mrs. McLean walked to the platform.

Mrs. Peak of Iowa moved that the resolution be tabled. Several speakers who favored Mrs. McLean's resolution followed in rapid succession.

MONNETT AFTER RAILROADS.

Filed Suits Against Panhandle and C. & H. D., Alleging They Are in a Trust.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 27.—On the ground that it was a trust, Attorney General Monnett attacked the Central Passenger association. He filed two suits in the supreme court to test the question, one against the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the other against the Panhandle.

He selected these two from the list of 33 roads composing the Central Passenger Association, the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton to represent the Ohio corporations belonging to the association, the Pittsburg, Columbus, Cincinnati and St. Louis to represent the foreign corporations among its members.

A large number of commercial travelers requested the attorney general to institute these proceedings, but the Commercial Travelers' association is not officially concerned in the suits, nor is it backing the attack against the Central Passenger association. One chief point of attack, however, in the petitions filed is the interchangeable mileage ticket, with its $10 deposit feature.

BODIES PLACED ON A SHIP.

Dead Soldiers From Porto Rico to Be Brought Home.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The funeral ship Roumania, which is engaged in the sacred mission of bringing home the remains of the brave soldiers who lost their lives in Porto Rico and in Cuba completed its work so far as Porto Rico is concerned. The number of American dead on the island was comparatively small and their disinterment and removal to the transport occupied only about a week's time.

A telegram received by Colonel Moore of the quartermaster general's office says that the Roumania left Ponce Saturday for Santiago, where the principal work of the expedition will be done.

Funeral of Hon. B. J. Haywood.

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 27.—The funeral of Hon. B. J. Haywood Saturday afternoon was largely attended by state officials and prominent men. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, among them being designs from Richard Quay, J. S. Fruit and Henry F. Walton of Philadelphia. The remains were conveyed to the Presbyterian church. Hundreds of people were unable to gain admittance. The body was in a handsome massive casket. The name plate bore the simple inscription, "B. J. Haywood, 1849-1899," and while lying in state at the Carver house was viewed by hundreds of people.

Salisbury Rides a Wheel.

A London cablegram says that Lord Salisbury has become a cyclist. He learned the art of wheeling in the privacy of a riding school attached to his historic residence in Hatfield and now ventures on the paths through his park. He rides a bicycle specially constructed for him, his weight being 240 pounds.

Arthur Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, still cycles, but wheeling is no longer a fashionable craze in England.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others? The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

All members of the R. C. N. P. A. can show this card Ask for it when making your purchases.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

The Journeyman Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE HATS.

This Label is about an inch and a half square, and is printed on buff-colored paper. It is placed on every union made hat before it leaves the workman's hands. If a dealer takes a label from one hat and places it in another, or has any detached labels in his store, do not buy from him, as his labels may be the product of scab or non-union labor.

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

LOST IN ALASKA WILDS.

Experience of Lieutenant Castner and Two Men.

BATTLING WITH HUNGER AND COLD

The Party Set Out to Locate an American Trail to Circle City. Lost Their Pack Mules and Got Out of Food.

Edwin F. Glenn of the Twenty-fifth infantry, who is now in Washington, has received a long letter from Second Lieutenant Joseph C. Castner of the Fourth infantry about the experiences of himself and two enlisted men in the Klondike country. Lieutenant Castner was given up for lost. He left Captain Glenn on Aug. 3, 1898, at Camp Separation, on the Delta river, starting with Privates Blitch and McGregor of the Fourteenth infantry to locate an all-American trail to Circle City. The three men had several narrow escapes from death. They had a thrilling experience in crossing the Tanana river, nearly losing their lives and barely getting their two pack mules to the other side. A few days later it became necessary to abandon one of the mules. To make matters worse it was discovered that extra provisions, supposed to have been brought along, were not in the packs. Leaving the river the party traveled through five swamps in one day and made only nine and a half miles. On the following day they again came to the river, and in attempting to cross Lieutenant Castner was carried off his feet by the swift current and was badly handicapped by having a sketched case in one hand and an ax in the other. He was thrown against a timber jam and stunned, but managed to reach the shore a mile below. He lost the ax owned by the party. A raft was made by Blitch and McGregor and Lieutenant Castner was safely carried across the stream. Matters became serious. Lieutenant Castner's shoes were almost gone, and all were weak through lack of enough food. The only hope was to get to Blitch creek, where Lieutenant Castner hoped to find miners. No open country could be seen. Hills from 2,000 to 5,000 feet high, with snowcapped peaks, were everywhere.

On Sept. 10 the party set out toward the northeast. Bread was only had every third day. The feet of the men were in a terrible condition, with great sores on them. The trail became more difficult, and as they had no ax they were compelled to break a way with their hands. On Sept. 11 Jack, the other mule, fell and deliberately let himself roll into the icy river. Jack was killed, and his body furnished the party with 40 pounds of meat. Shouldering their provisions, the men set out up stream through a heavy rain. Jack's flesh was diseased, but hunger drove away their scruples.

On Sept. 13 Lieutenant Castner ordered the abandonment of blankets and everything except firearms and food. The clothing of the men was in shreds, and Lieutenant Castner's feet were wrapped in canvas, his shoes having given out days before. A small slice of bacon, with coffee, formed the breakfast, everything else being gone. With the hope of seeing the tributaries of the Yukon, a mountain 3,500 feet high was scaled. No open country was found, and, with no strength to climb and no provisions, the party turned back, hoping to get some game.

On Sept. 17 an old wolf and three young ones were encountered. Private Blitch killed one of the younger ones. The animals were at first thought to be Indian dogs. The wolf meat was found to be excellent, tasting very much like mutton. A raft was built on Sept. 18, and on the 19th the party started down the river. Rounding a sharp turn, the raft was thrown with great force under a huge timber jam. Private Blitch and Lieutenant Castner were caught in the timbers. McGregor could not swim and was ordered to get off the raft on to the jam, while Lieutenant Castner and Blitch up to their shoulders in the swift current, tried to rescue the guns and provisions. They gave up the effort and had to help each other to reach the shore. Everything was lost.

Ten miles below were the remnants of a dead mule. Lieutenant Castner made the distance in his stocking feet. The mule's body was found to be badly decomposed, and little of it had been left by ravens and wolves. On the morning of Sept. 20 the three men, with some of the mule meat, set out for an Indian village 65 miles away. With their feet bleeding at every step and almost mad from hunger, the men pushed on. Here and there they found a handful of berries and occasionally roots, which they eagerly gnawed. Finally on Sept. 25 they staggered into a little Indian village and asked for food and shelter. They were hospitably received and every possible attention given them.

Two days later Lieutenant Castner, Blitch and McGregor started down the river in birch bark canoes with the Indians and reached the mouth of the Chena river on Sept. 30. Blitch and McGregor could go no farther and were left at an Indian camp. Lieutenant Castner proceeded up the Chena river 85 miles, where he found a steamboat and white men. He purchased at enormous prices a boat and provisions and returned to the camp where the soldiers had been left. He reached there on Oct. 6 and a few days later the three men managed to get to Weara, Alaska. At the time his letter was written Lieutenant Castner was still unable to get his shoes on. He could not then walk over a mile a day in moccasins.

TELEPHONES IN HAWAII.

They Form an Important Factor in the Business of the Islands.

Nowhere in the world perhaps is the telephone a greater factor in life than in Hawaii, says a Honolulu correspondent of the Chicago Record. In the islands there are about 2,000 telephones to a population of 110,000, or one telephone to every 52 inhabitants. On the island of Oahu, on which Honolulu is situated, there are 1,000 telephones to a population of about 45,000, or about one to each 41 of the population.

The telephone was introduced here in the latter part of 1880 and soon became an established part of the business, social and political life of the country. It may sound strange to use the word "political" in this connection, but it is true in a sober and literal sense, for in every revolution that has been planned or attempted the seizure and control of the central telephone office has always been one of the first strategic moves thought of.

The telephone is much more of a public institution here than it is in most places. Isolated as the islands are, the arrival of a steamship from a foreign land is of personal interest to almost every individual. The government maintains a lookout station on Diamond Head, from which approaching vessels in any direction can be sighted while still from 20 to 40 miles distant, depending on the state of the atmosphere. As soon as a steamer is sighted "central" is notified. "Central" then notifies the pilot office, the port physician, the board of health, the custom house, the postoffice, the newspaper offices and a few other persons who have a particular interest in getting early information of this character. Then the electric light company is notified, and it gives two long whistles if the steamer is from America and three if it is from any other part of the world. For two minutes after these whistles are blown no telephone connections are made, but the force at "central" keeps repeating the name of the steamer and its location, as "Australia off Koko Head," or "China off Waialanae," so that all any individual needs to do is to go to the nearest telephone, put the receiver to his ear and listen and he will know what steamer it is, where it is, and if he has lived here any length of time he can form an accurate judgment as to how long it will be before the steamer will be at the wharf.

If the steamer brings any striking piece of news of general interest, "central" gives it to everybody who calls up for a connection. In this way the destruction of the Maine was known all over this island within ten minutes after the Zealandia, which brought the news, was at the wharf.

If an important personage dies, the news is distributed in the same way, and "central" can always be depended on to give the hour and place of a funeral as soon as the hour has been fixed. In New York and Chicago, if you want to make an inquiry, you ask a policeman. In Honolulu you ask "central."

The meat markets have a list of their regular customers at "central," and at about 6 o'clock each evening "central" calls them all up in order and takes their orders for the next morning's breakfast.

Cruel and Chastise.

A Ballville (O.) schoolteacher has been asked to resign because he punished his scholars by making them hold their noses in a small ring which he had drawn on the blackboard. The punishment came under the head of "cruel and unusual."

Old and New Guard of the Tomb of Washington.

SURVEY FOR BIG RAILWAY LINE

Commission Appointed Ten Years Ago Makes Its Report as to the Feasibility of the Argentine Route. Mr. Cassatt's Report.

Few of the millions of people who have visited Mount Vernon during the last half century, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record, could have overlooked the picturesque and stalwart figure of Uncle Edmund Parker, the old colored man who reverently guarded the tomb of Washington. His courtly and dignified manners, his deeply marked face and the respectful courtesy with which he answered questions made an impression upon every one. He was tall of stature, but his shoulders were slightly bent with age and his beard and hair of late years became sprinkled with gray.

The old man died with the old year and is greatly missed by all the habitués of that sacred place, for he had been there since 1841, with occasional intervals of absence during the war. He was born in 1827 at Blakely farm, near Charleston, W. Va., a slave of Mrs. John Augustine Washington, and came with her to Mount Vernon.

Uncle Edmund was the father of 19 children, nine of whom are still living and visited him during his illness. He "disremembered" the date, but was very proud of the fact that he was married in the library of Mount Vernon mansion by Parson Libbey in the presence of the Washington family and was the only slave who ever had that honor. In olden times in the south masters used to perform the marriage ceremony, but on the occasion of Edmund's wedding Augustine Washington was ill, and Parson Libbey who was a member of the family circle, was called upon to officiate.

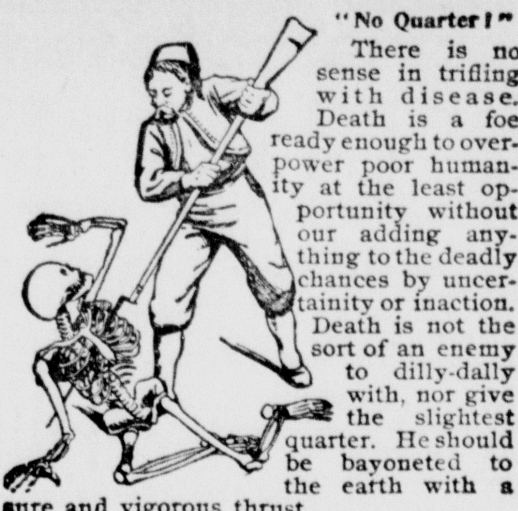

Uncle Edmund's successor as guard of the tomb of Washington is Thomas Bushrod, another venerable negro, who for the last eight years has been sexton at Pohick church, in Fairfax county, Va., with which Washington was so closely identified. Washington served on the committee that selected the site and superintended its construction and was a vestryman and warden of the parish for many years.

Thomas Bushrod was born in 1825 near Warrenton, Fairfax county. He was a slave of the Fitz-Hugh family from 1847, when his home was changed to a plantation near Pohick church, in Fairfax county, where he has since lived.

One of the most important acts of the pan-American conference which met in Washington in 1889 was to arrange for a survey of an intercontinental railway line, as proposed by Hinton R. Helper many years ago, from the terminus of the Mexican Southern system on the isthmus of Tehuantepec to the northern terminus of the Argentine system at Jujuy, in the province of Salta, near the boundary of Bolivia. It is just ten years since the action of the conference was taken, and the reports of the commission which was appointed to supervise the survey are now handed to the president in printed form. They consist of four volumes of text and three volumes of maps and profiles. The first volume is devoted to a general account of the project and a description of the country through which the line is proposed to pass. The second volume is devoted to the work of the surveying parties in Central America, the third to Colombia and Ecuador and the fourth to Peru and Bolivia.

Mr. Alexander J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad was the chairman of the commission and had the general direction of the survey. The Central American party was in charge of Lieutenant McComb of the United States army. William F. Shunk of Pennsylvania was in command of the second party and J. Imbre Miller of the third. Their descriptions and notes are profusely illustrated with maps and engravings, and are exceedingly interesting. It was not intended to make a definite location, nor even a definite preliminary survey, but to ascertain the practicability of constructing a trunk line along the backbone of the hemisphere.

Exports of breadstuffs for January footed up $25,630,440, which is a slight advance on the same month last year. For the seven months ending Jan. 31 the export trade in breadstuffs was $168,296,561, which is $15,222,040 less than for the same period of last year. The falling off was entirely due to the war. The export trade in July and August fell about $3,000,000 below that of the two preceding months. It is worth noting that the exports of breadstuffs for the three months from Nov. 1 to Feb. 1 largely exceeded the foreign shipments for the whole year of 1895 during the Cleveland administration. The exports of provisions for January were only a few hundreds of thousands greater than for January 1898, the great foreign movement coming from good crops and high prices for breadstuffs.

"No Quarter!" There is no sense in trifling with disease. Death is a foe ready enough to overpower poor humanity at the least opportunity, without our adding anything to the deadly chances by uncertainty or inaction. Death is not the sort of an enemy to dilly-dally with, nor give the slightest quarter. He should be bayoneted to the earth with a sure and vigorous thrust.

There is just one medicine which can be counted on with absolute certainty to overcome the deadly assault of wasting disease, and restore the rugged, masterly power of perfect health. The "Golden Medical Discovery" of Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., creates that keen digestive and nutritive capacity, which makes healthy, nourishing red blood, and keeps it pure and alive with bounding vitality. It nourishes, vitalizes and builds up every organ and tissue in the body; tones the liver, heals the lungs; strengthens the heart, and restores complete energy and cheerfulness.

"I had been troubled for several years with spells of liver complaint," writes H. N. Draughfield, Esq., of Sweetsprings, Monroe Co., W. Va., "and about two years ago my health gave way. I tried Sarsaparilla. I was getting worse all the time. I had a weakness in my left side and limbs, palpitation of the heart at times, cramping pains in the stomach after eating; nerves weak, and no energy for anything. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and began to mend from the start. I soon felt like a new person. I am now enjoying splendid health and have a splendid appetite, good digestion, and also a peaceful, quiet mind."

Dr. Pierce's thousand-page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser" contains over two hundred reliable prescriptions, with directions for self treatment of all such diseases as are curable without a physician. Anatomy, physiology and the laws of reproduction are explained, with over seven hundred illustrations. One copy, paper-covered, sent absolutely free for one-cent stamps, to pay cost of mailing only. Senator Gray of Delaware is known as the prompter of the senate, says the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Post Dispatch. When a speaker gets stuck in the course of his argument and is uncertain about a date, figures or a legal point, Senator Gray always comes to the rescue. He is a veritable encyclopedia of general information. One of the ablest lawyers in the senate, he is well versed on supreme court decisions of the past and present decades and his knowledge of parliamentary and criminal law is wonderful.

VOTE EXPECTED TODAY.

Depends Upon How Long Gorman and Others Fight the Army Bill. Likely to Pass Finally.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The week opened with the compromise army bill still before the senate, but it is impossible to say how long it may continue to demand the attention of that body. The best opinion is to the effect that a vote will be secured today, but this depends largely upon the temper of Mr. Gorman and his friends, who insist upon the amendment of the army bill so as to further curtail the size of the army in 1901. It is not, however, believed that they will press their opposition to the point of entering into an extended controversy over the merits of the measure, and the friends of the bill count confidently on a vote before adjournment today. Mr. Gorman disclaimed any intention to force delay, but said he would press his amendment as long as there is any chance of success.

If the debate should be continued to any considerable length the nation would be generally accepted as indicating a purpose to force an extra session, as all admit that with as many appropriation bills as are pending it is impracticable to give very much more time to the army bill and still pass the supply bills before the 4th inst. There is yet no danger of failure on either the army bill or the appropriation bills. No senator can be found who avows himself desirous of forcing a called session. Hence the general belief that all these measures will become laws, and that when congress adjourns for the session next Saturday legislation will be in such shape as to permit the legislators to remain at their homes until next December. There was no doubt of the passage of the army bill by a large majority when the vote is taken.

CORNISH MAY TESTIFY AGAIN.

Coroner Hart Demanded That Poison Inquiry Be Hastened.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—If the inquest into the death of Mrs. Kate J. Adams is not completed by tomorrow night Coroner Hart will demand that further hearing be adjourned until he can dispose of some outstanding cases.

Coroner Hart said that Assistant District Attorney Osborne told him he expected to finish the Adams case before the end of the ensuing week. Cornish is to have another session on the stand, several members and employees of the Knickerbocker Athletic club are to be called and then the police of the detective bureau and the handwriting experts will tell what they know and what they suspect.

The college is one of the oldest in the United States and has not closed its doors for 150 years.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The senate committee on privileges and elections decided that there was no case made in the protest against the election of Senator Hanna of Ohio, and ordered such a report made to the senate. DEFENSE OF CERVERA.

Blamed the Government For the Defeat. Said He Was Sent Against His Will.

MADRID, Feb. 27.—The newspapers are urging the government to maintain its precautions against Carlist activity, especially on the frontier, where attempts are being made to smuggle arms and ammunition into the country with a view to an early Carlist rising. El Correspondencia Militar estimates that 400,000,000 pesetas will be required to cover the cost of the last two wars in Cuba.

The committee of the senate for the verification of credentials has examined Admiral Cervera, who had contended that he was entitled to sit in the senate inasmuch as criminal proceedings had not been taken against him. The admiral declared that if the loss of his squadron were a crime it must be attributed to the government, which sent him to the Antilles against his will. He told the committee that he wept on receiving congratulations upon his safe arrival at Santiago de Cuba for he had foreseen disaster.
